DR. GORGAS SAYS GOETHALS' ORDERS HANDICAPPED HIM

Surgeon-General, Who Cleaned Up Havana, Holds Chairman of Panama Commission Responsible for Failure to Eradicate Malaria From Canal Zone.

DECLARES WORK WAS TAKEN OUT OF HIS HAN

Charges Made by Noted Sanitary Expert in His Address in Dedication Exercises of Washington University Medical School.

Dr. William Crawford Gorgas, surgeon-general of the United States Army, noted for his sanitary work in Cuba and Panama, speaking this afternoon at the Washington University Medical School dedication exercises, declared that Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, was to blame for the failure of the Canal Zone's sanitary authorities to do away with malaria there.

He indicated his belief that, if Col. Goethals had been in full control in the three years before 1907, as he was after that time, the sanitary authorities might not have succeeded in doing away with yellow fever.

Col. Goethals was not mentioned by name in Dr. Gorgas' address, but the reference to his office was explicit. Dr. Gorgas told of his success, in Havana, in abolishing first yellow fever and then malaria, and said that in May, 1904, he began use of the same methods in Panama. In the fall of 1905, he said, the last case of yellow fever occurred in Panama, and from 1906 to 1907, the reduction of the malarial rate began. It continued to decrease, he said, but the disease did not disappear, as it had done in Havana. Then he stated his reasons for blaming Col. Goethals for the partial failure in regard to malaria.

Disappointed in Panama.

"I was much disappointed," he said, "that we did not get rid of malaria on the Isthmus of Panama as we did at Havana. I had fully expected to do so, and when we went to the Isthmus we put into effect the same anti-malarial measures that had been so successful at Havana. These measures were vigorously pushed for the first four years. At the end of our four years of work, May, 1908, small towns, such as Ancon, had been completely freed of malaria as had been Havana. The malarial rate had been reduced from 821 per thousand to 282 in 1908.

"In 1907 a new commission was placed by the President in control of the isthmus, and in 1908, all power on the isthmus was concentrated in the hands of a single man, the chairman of the commission. This officer thought it advisable to make radical changes in the methods of sanitation. These changes, ordered by the chairman, took execution of the anti-malarial work out of the hands of the sanitary authorities and placed them in the hands of men who had no special knowledge of anti-malarial work.

"I argued against these changes as forcibly as I could, but to no avail.

"Looking back over my 15 years of experience in tropical sanitation, I believe that if I could have continued at Panama the same methods that I had used previous to 1908, the results would have been the same as at Havana, and the canal workers would have been as entirely free from malaria as were the citizens of Havana. And I feel equally convinced that if our chairman of 1908 had been able to put into effect in 1904 the methods he forced upon me in 1908, we could not have accomplished the sanitary success at Panama which we had accomplished prior to the year 1908."

Col. Goethals was appointed chairman of the Canal Commission in 1907 by President Roosevelt and continued as chairman, chief engineer and Governor of the Canal Zone until the completion of the work.

A book by Col. Goethals on "Government of the Canal Zone," published by the Princeton University Press, appeared the last week. Dr. Gorgas' name is not mentioned in this book and the statement is made that the sanitary work done on the isthmus involved no new departure and merely followed the methods used by Sir Ronald Ross in Egypt and India and those used in Cuba, under rules formulated by "Reed, Lazear and Carroll."

Dr. Gorgas' announced topic was "Sanitary work at Panama in its Relation to the Development of Tropical Countries." He said the anti-mosquito work done on the isthmus cost about one cent a day per capita for the total population. "This is a very moderate sum," he said, "and can be afforded by any community."

When the knowledge of the means of protection against malaria and yellow fever becomes general, he said, the tendency will be for the white man to leave the temperate zones, which he now inhabits, and seek the rich tropical regions, where wealth will be returned to his labor in an amount four or five fold

STARKLOFF SAYS ZOO IS MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Many of Animals and Birds Have Died From Tuberculosis, He Reports, and Says Disease Is Easily Transmitted.

A report that the zoo in Forest Park, under present conditions, is a menace to the health of all persons who visit it because of the danger of contracting tuberculosis from the animals, was made today by Health Commissioner Starkloff to Mayor Kiel.

Dr. Starkloff told the Mayor that 35 animals and birds have died in the zoo during the past two years of tuberculosis, that it is probable that many other animals have the disease and that tuberculosis can be transmitted from animals to persons. He recommends that all animals and birds be subjected to the tubercular test and that, if it is deemed advisable, the public be excluded from the zoo until conditions improve.

Dr. Starkloff first presented the subject in a conference yesterday with Nelson Cunliff, who will become Park Commissioner Monday. He said that post mortem examinations have showed that the following deaths among animals and birds in the St. Louis Zoo were due to tuberculosis: an aoudad, two elk, two buffalo, two Virginia deer, a mule deer, a coyote, a llama, three white swans, a crane and 21 monkeys.

Disease Is Transmitted.

The only animals which have died within two years from other causes, he said, were an ostrich, a camel, two lions and a llama.

Dr. Starkloff said the great number of deaths among the animals from tuberculosis indicated the disease was transmitted from one to another, and that visitors to the zoo could just as well contract it from the animals as other animals could.

He said that an animal with tuberculosis frequently rubs its nose against the wires of the fence or cage which confines it, and that pretty soon some person rubs his hand against the fence, or a small child presses its face against the fence.

He described a llama suffering from tuberculosis as being probably the greatest menace of any of the animals because of its habit of sneezing.

Condition Not a New One.

Dr. Starkloff said the condition in the St. Louis Zoo was not a new one, and that Denver now is isolating all animals suffering from tuberculosis, and moving the healthy animals into new quarters, leaving the afflicted to die in the old quarters.

His recommendation to the Mayor was that if the animals now in the zoo are found to be suffering from the disease, the healthy ones be separated from the others and moved to new quarters, and if the condition is found to be very bad, to prevent the public from visiting the zoo until conditions improve.

After receiving Dr. Starkloff's report, the Mayor said he would consult the other members of the Zoological Board regarding the matter. He said Dr. Starkloff had told him that it would be a mistake to build a new animal house and place tubercular animals in it with healthy animals.

The plans for a new animal house will not be carried out until the subject has been thoroughly considered by the board, the Mayor, said.

Dr. Starkloff is considered an expert on tuberculosis. Twenty years ago he attempted to have adopted an ordinance requiring the registration of persons suffering from tuberculosis, and providing for special treatment on the theory that the disease was communicable. His ordinance failed because of the opposition of physicians, who had not yet accepted that theory. Since that time nearly all cities have adopted the views then expressed by Dr. Starkloff.

GRASS WIDOWS ARE BARRED FROM OBTAINING PENSIONS

Of 160 Beneficiaries in Madison County, Ill., Nearly All Are Separated From Husbands.

Grass widows will be barred from receiving widows' pensions in Madison County, Ill., by a ruling today of Joseph Hermann, widow's Pension Examiner. In future, pensions will be paid only to women whose husbands are dead.

An investigation by Hermann has disclosed that nearly all of the 160 women receiving money in Madison County under the Illinois widows' pension law are either separated from their husbands or are divorced.

Hermann recently investigated an application for a pension by a woman in Glen Carbon who said she needed the pension to support her 13-year-old son. She gave her age as 60. Hermann's investigation of the case showed that her husband recently died at the age of 93.

PRESIDENT LEAVES TONIGHT FOR CHRISTENING OF HIS GRANDSON

Miss Margaret Wilson Will Accompany Him; to Return to Washington Monday.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The itinerary of President Wilson's trip to Williamstown, Mass., to attend the christening of his grandson, Francis Sayre, was made public today.

He will leave here tonight, going by way of New York and Albany, and arrive at Williamstown at 4 p. m. Saturday. He will leave Williamstown at 4 p. m. Sunday, arriving here at 9 a. m. Monday.

The President will be accompanied by Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aid; Miss Margaret Wilson, his daughter, and Miss Helen Woodrow Bone, his cousin. The christening will take place Sunday.

$200 REWARD PAID TO WOMAN

CARTHAGE, Mo., April 30.—Reward money to the amount of $1800 for the capture of the three men who robbed the State Bank of Duenweg, Mo., on Feb. 17, was distributed today among seven claimants, including a woman, Mrs. W. H. Brookshire. The robbers, now in the penitentiary, were captured three hours after they had locked the cashier in the safe and fled with $2000.

Mrs. Brookshire drove a motorcar within a few hundred feet of the fleeing robbers, notwithstanding the fact that they fired at her several times. She was given $200, while Frank and Earl Elliott, brothers, who actually caught the robbers, got $1025. The remainder of the money was divided among others who aided in the chase. The money was paid by the Missouri Bankers' Association.

CABLE FROM ENGLAND TO RUSSIA

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 30.—It has become known that a direct cable has been laid between England and Russia for governmental purposes. Starting at Peterhead, a seaport on the most easterly side of Abderdeenshire in Scotland, it runs across the North Sea, along the coast of Norway, around the North Cape and into Alexandrovsk in the White Sea.

The cable is said to be longer than the Atlantic cable between England and America, and it is said to have been completely laid in 11 days.

CIRCUIT ATTORNEY FINDS NO FELONY IN ROWE CHARGES

Harvey Says if There Was Any Offense in Reedy Home, It Was Common Assault.

GIRL REPEATS HER STORY

Reedy Explains Occurrences in His Home When He Says Rowe Became Enraged.

The complaint of Lelia Willoughby, 16-year-old maid in the home of William Marion Reedy, editor of the Mirror, 3805 West Pine boulevard, who accused Henry Rowe, lawyer, 3736 Delmar boulevard, of attacking her in the Reedy home, Tuesday night, was presented to Circuit Attorney Harvey this morning. After questioning the girl and getting the reports of physicians who examined her at the city hospital yesterday, the Circuit Attorney said there was no evidence that a felony had been committed.

If there was any offense at all, he said, it was common assault. There was nothing to prove a burglary of the Reedy home, as a window was open and nothing was stolen, so that anybody who did enter was guilty only of trespass. He advised the police to take the case up with Prosecuting Attorney Sidener.

Conflict as to What Girl Said.

The Circuit Attorney said he asked Miss Willoughby when she had first mentioned Rowe's name in connection with her story of the attack by a mysterious assailant. She said it was to policemen. Asked if his name had been suggested by the police, she replied that an officer had said to her: "If it was Henry Rowe, tell the truth, and you'll be protected."

Police Capt. Johnson of the Laclede Avenue Police Station, denied this. He said the girl had first volunteered the statement that she was attacked by Rowe. Capt. Johnson said he would take the ase up with Sidener in the afternoon.

Capt. Johnson, who was sued yesterday for $20,000 for causing the arrest of Rowe, declared today he expected to be able to disprove an alibi in behalf of the lawyer.

Members of the Rowe family, especially the father, Thomas J. Rowe, also a lawyer, assert Henry Rowe was at home in bed at 11 o'clock last Tuesday night when the girl says she was attacked in the Reedy home.

Patrolman William D. Jones, 6115 Ella street, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he was talking with a police sergeant at Grand avenue and Olive street between 10:40 and 11 o'clock Tuesday night when Harry Rowe and his brother, Thomas Rowe, and another man passed them. He said he knew both the Rowes and that he greeted Thomas. Capt. Johnson said he expected two other witnesses to corroborate the patrolman's story.

Capt. Johnson said he was not in any way deterred by the damage suit from pursuing the inquiry. He said he would ask for a warrant charging Rowe with a crime.

Before she was taken to the Circuit Attorney's office, Miss Willoughby again related her experiences to a Post-Dispatch reporter in the matron's room at police headquarters. Chief of Police Young was present at the interview, an unusual proceeding, which the Chief explained was due to the damage suit filed against Capt. Johnson. The authorities were taking extraordinary precautions to supervise all visits to the girl before she had seen the Circuit Attorney. A detective was sent with

MRS. BURKHAM SHAKES FIST AT LAWYER OTTOFY

Makes Gesture in Court Toward Representative of Campbell Will Contestants.

PHYSICIAN AIDS ATTORNEY

Dr. L. C. McElwee Acts as Coach in Questioning Nurse Who Attended Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Lois Ann Burkham, whose parentage is at issue in the James Campbell will contest, broke down and sobbed in Judge Kinsey's court today when Mrs. Graham Frost, a witness for the defense, was telling about the delight which Campbell took in the hour which he reserved at the end of each day for association with Lois.

A little later Mrs. Campbell, under a bitter attack of L. Frank Ottofy, attorney for the contestants, also lost control of herself and sobbed so violently that she had to be assisted from the courtroom.

Earlier in the day, when Attorney Ottofy was cross-questioning Miss Martha Alice Alexander, the nurse who attended Mrs. Campbell at the Grand Hotel in March, 1898, Mrs. Burkham, in another mood, doubled her fist and shook it in the general direction of Ottofy as she turned to make a comment to her mother.

Campbell's Love for Lois.

Mrs. Frost, who is the widow of Congressman Frost, lives at Ferguson. She has sat with the Campbell party in the courtroom throughout the trial. She testified that for 16 years she had been on intimate terms with Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Lois. She had never, she said, seen anybody so affectionate as Campbell was to Lois. She had never known anyone to have such joy in the presence of another. When she entered a room where he was, his "face lighted us as an electric bulb is when the current is turned on."

When Mrs. Burkham Broke Down.

She was telling about the hour toward evening which he reserved for Lois and which he had spoken of as "the sweetest hour in the day to him," when Mrs Burkham covered her face with her hands and wept. Sobs, heard throughout the courtroom, shook her body and it was several moments before those gathered about her could comfort her. After she had regained a measure of composure she broke down again and wept, but became calm presently, and did not leave the room.

Ottofy, in beginning the cross-examination, asked Mrs. Frost if she were not Mrs. Campbell's secretary. Mrs. Frost denied it, but said she had taken several trips with Mrs. Campbell and repeated that she had been on very intimate terms with the family.

Ottofy suddenly asked her if it was not a fact that Willard Taylor, son of Mrs. Campbell by her first marriage, was an imbecile and in charge of a keeper in 1892.

Motive for a Daughter.

Ottofy retorted that Jourdan had introduced the deed by which Campbell had adopted the boy and he had a right to ask the question because he charged that the motive for the pretended birth of a daughter to Mrs. Campbell was that the boy, the heir of the family, had become unbalanced and it was necessary for her to have another heir to the Campbell millions. The fact that her son had become an imbecile, Ottofy declared, made Mrs. Campbell afraid to have another child and this had led to the pretense of the birth of a daughter.

Jourdan, as soon as Ottofy had ceased his speaking, protested that the remarks were outside of the license allowable to an attorney and asked that Ottofy be rebuked.

Mrs. Campbell, who had been listening in a tense attitude to the angry colloquy of the attorneys, suddenly crumpled in her chair and gave way to violent weeping. Still sobbing loudly, she was assisted from the courtroom.

After further argument the objection to Ottofy's question was sustained.

Mrs. Robert Alexander, who lives seven miles from Belleville, a sister of Miss Martha Alice Alexander, the nurse, who attended Mrs. Campbell at the Grand Hotel in New York in March, 1892, testified she was living in New York at that time and called at the hotel several times to see her sister, and saw Mrs. Campbell and the baby.

When the cross-examination of Miss When the cross-examination of Miss Alexander, the nurse, was resumed this morning by Ottofy he had sitting at his elbow Dr. L. C. McElwee of 1221 North Grand avenue. Dr. McElwee coached him through a minute inquiry into the condition of Mrs. Campbell when she came under Miss Alexander's care about three days after the purported birth of a child.

The persistence of the attorney caused Mrs. Burkham to turn to Mrs. Campbell and shake her fist in Ottofy's direction.

Miss Alexander, in answer to Ottofy's questions, reiterated that the child had not been nursed by Mrs. Campbell. The question of nursing had been settled before Miss Alexander's services were called upon and she was not informed what the reason was.

She testified that she took the usual

BOATMAN FOUND DEAD IN LAGOON NEAR ART HILL

Body of Walter Worden, 26, Discovered After Seining Water for About 2 Hours.

The body of Walter A. Wordin, 26 years old, an employe of a boathouse in Forest Park, was found in the lagoon at the foot of Art Hill in the park at 11 o'clock today.

Wordin was employed by Fred Zimmermann of 5712 Prescott avenue, who has charge of the boathouse. He slept in the building at night and Zimmermann says he left him there at 11 o'clock last night.

When Zimmermann reached the house at about 8 o'clock he found the door open and Wordin gone. He noticed an overturned canoe about 75 feet out in the lagoon and at a point where the water is seven feet deep. In another boat he saw Wordin's hat.

Zimmermann notified the police and a party, headed by Phillip Kopplin, superintendent at Forest Park for the Missouri State Fish Commission, began seining the lagoon. After about two hours the body was recovered.

Zimmermann said Wordin rowed about the lagoon every morning looking for boats which might have slipped their ropes in the night, and he thought Wordin's boat might have overturned when he was doing this.

Wordin formerly boarded at 2204 Chouteau avenue. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Mora of Washington, D. C., and an aunt, Mrs. Lucy Brewer of 2101 Chouteau avenue.

PRESIDENT WILL SPEND MOST OF SUMMER IN WASHINGTON

Will Take Only Brief Trips to Cornish and Keep in Touch With Big Questions.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Wilson plans not to establish an office at Cornish, N. H., but to spend most of his time in Washington. He will make several brief trips to Cornish and short cruises on the yacht Mayflower.

It was said at the White House today that those plans were made not because the President looks upon the European situation as especially critical, but because he thinks it his duty to keep in close touch with public questions.

The President has found it necessary to decline invitations to speak in New York and Philadelphia this month.

BRITISH GENERAL IS KI

Grandson of Charles Darwin Also Falls in Battle.

LONDON, April 30.—Included in the latest list of officers killed at the front are the names of Brigadier-General Riddell, commander of the Northumberland Fusiliers' Brigade; Second Lieutenant Darwin, a grandson of Charles R. Darwin, the famous naturalist, and Second Lieutenant Rhodes Moorehouse, who died Tuesday of wounds suffered when dropping bombs on Courtrai the previous day.

EFFICIENCY BOARD QUESTIONS 'NUTTY,' THE MAYOR THINKS

Declares Only a 'Nut' Could Answer Some of Them; Displeased With Methods.

Mayor Kiel announced today that he was dissatisfied with the methods of the Efficiency Board, established under the new charter to examine applicants for city positions, and that he would call the board to his office within a few days for a conference. His remarks indicated that the board, at this conference, would find itself "on the carpet."

The Mayor was displeased with the announcement that the board intended to employ a detective, to visit the neighborhoods where applicants reside, and look up their personal standing. He said he failed to see the propriety of such a course. He also declared that, in his opinion, the man who could answer some of the questions asked in the board's examination papers would be "a nut."

Dislikes Wooden Methods.

The Mayor said he was one of the advocates of the Efficiency Board plan, when the new charter was before the voters for adoption, and that he frequently assured voters that the Efficiency Board would apply tests which would determine actual fitness, and that it would not follow the so-called wooden methods sometimes used in the past by United States Civil Service Commissions.

But when he looked over the Board's list of questions in its examination for deputy assessor, he said, he began to fear he had been mistaken. He cited a few of these questions, to show the ground of his objection.

One of the questions, he said, was as follows:

"What approximate value would you give on the following: (a) Gas holder, per cubic foot; (b) engines, per horsepower; (c) boilers, brick setting installed, per horsepower; (d) coal gas plant, per million cubic feet capacity per day?"

"Any man who would carry all that information around in his head," remarked the Mayor, "would be a nut."

Thomas H. Rogers Chairman.

The Mayor is also known to have been displeased with the result of the board's examination for the position of medical examiner for the board. In this examination the high percentages were won by recent graduates in medicine, and experienced physicians made comparatively low percentages. One of those who failed to get a high percentage was Dr. Gus Wichmann, an experienced medical examiner, who served in that capacity for years in connection with the Fire Department. Dr. Wichmann is a brother of Dr. H. L. Wichmann, who was formerly the Mayor's brother-in-law.

Thomas H. Rogers is chairman of the Efficiency Board, and the other members are Patrick F. Cook and Harry G. Clymer. Rogers was formerly the Mayor's private secretary.

GERMAN ADVANCE INTO RUSSIAN PROVINCES ON BALTIC BEGUN

Twenty Persons Killed by German Shells in Dunkirk —British Deny German Ships Bombarded City.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, April 30.—A general German offensive movement once more is under way along the entire Russian border from Tilsit to the Vistula River. The German advance this time evidently is aimed at the Baltic provinces which are rich in crops and other food supplies.

From Polangen, in Courland, it was reported today than an increased number of German cruisers were preparing to assist the contemplated advance of the land forces. Thus far the offensive has consisted mainly of heavy artillery fire and rapid cavalry advances without infantry support.

PARIS, April 30.—German warships have been seen off the Belgian coast, according to an official statement given out in Paris today.

Nineteen heavy shells have been thrown into Dunkirk, which is the northernmost town on the French coast and a strongly fortified place with a population of more than 60,000.

The statement issued by the War Office says:

"Dunkirk yesterday received 19 shells of large caliber. Twenty persons were killed and 45 wounded. Some houses were destroyed."

BERLIN, April 30, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The report from German army headquarters today says:

"The fortress at Dunkirk was shelled yesterday by German artillery.

"Aviators have been active on the coast; at Ostend houses were damaged."

There have been several dispatches in the last week indicating that German warships were at large in the North Sea, evidently having evaded the British men-of-war which for many months have been doing patrol duty in front of the German naval bases on the eastern side of the North Sea.

The latest report along this line was brought in by Capt. Scott of a Swedish steamer, who declared that he had seen in the North Sea a German fleet numbering no less than 68 vessels of all classes from battleships to torpedo boats.

Dunkirk is on the northern coast of France within a few miles of the Belgian frontier. It is at the northern entrance of the English Channel and is to the east of Dover and to the west of Ostend.

GERMANS GET 100 MILES INTO RUSSIA

Advance Guards Reach Railroad Running From Dueiraburg to Libau.

BERLIN, April 30.—Today's statement from the War Office speaks of the offensive begun on the East Prussian border as follows:

"In the eastern arena of the war the vanguards of the German forces advancing into Northwestern Russia reached yesterday the railroad running from Duenaburg to Libau. The Russian forces did not offer serious resistance. Fighting is now going on near Szawle and Kalwarya (in Russian Poland, north of Suwalki).

(Duenaburg is about 225 miles to the east of Libau. It is an important manufacturing city and it is described as a great depot for the Russian artillery. The railroad line between these points runs east and west through the Province of Kovno and it is, roughly speaking, 150 miles to the north of the boundary line between Kovno and East Prussia.)

"Strong Russian attacks on our positions failed with heavy losses. German troops took prisoner five officers and 700 unwounded Russian soldiers.

FRENCH DRIVEN OFF BY TURKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.—An official statement issued here today says the allied forces (French troops) which landed on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles have been cleared away; that a large part of the troops which invaded Gallipoli Peninsula has been driven off and that several warships and transports of the allies have been damaged. The statement is as follows:

"No enemy forces remain on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles. Hostile forces at Gaba Tepe (west coast of the Gallipoli Peninsula, near the tip) are obstinately maintaining their positions under the protection of ships.

"From the other parts of Gallipoli the enemy has been driven off.

FORTS SHELLED BY 40 WARSHIPS

Town of Gallipoli Reported Captured by Allies, Menacing Turkish Lines.

LONDON, April 30.—An official statement from Berlin, received here by wireless, says 40 allied warships have bombarded the Turkish fortifications at the entrance to the Dardanelles on the European side. A dispatch from the Chronicle's correspondent near the Dardanelles says serious damage to the Turkish fortifications have resulted from the bombardment by an allied fleet, which was carried out simultaneouly with the landing of troops Monday.

The official statement issued at Berlin, Wednesday night, said:

"Reports from the Dardanelles pay tribute to the bravery and enthusiasm of the Turkish troops. In the first battle at Kum Kale the Turks did not fire a shot, but repulsed the enemy with the bayonet.

Forty warships bombarded Seddul Bahr. While this battle was in progress the Turks captured a large quantity of rifles and ammunition.

Significant is the official report from Berlin that fighting has occurred at the town of Gallipoli. This town lies on the straits at the entrance to the sea of Marmora. This statement tends to confirm the report that the British had pushed their way across the peninsula at this point. Such a line, if held, would cut off the Turkish defenders of the peninsula from assistance in the way of supplies and reinforcements from Constantinople.

A dispatch from Athens to the Havas Agency at Paris says that the city of Gallipoli, on the European side of the Dardanelles, near the entrance to the Sea of Marmora, has been captured by the allies. It also is said that the Turkish fort at Nagara, on the Asiatic side of the straits, has been bombarded heavily.

Official quarters in London remain reticent concerning the military operations on the Dardanelles, but the London papers this morning contain a number of special dispatches from that region in which the claims are made that the allies are steadily advancing under cover of the fire of the fleet, but not without meeting an opposition which is causing them heavy losses.

The Chronicle correspondent thus describes the attack on the Dardanelles:

"The bombardment grew terrific about midday. British and French ships were clearly visible from the entrance to the straits. The largest warships lay at the entrance near the European side, with others in Erenkeui Bay, firing heavily on Kalid Bahr and the mountains beyond. In the distance several small ships directed the fire of the large units on the Chanak and Kilid Bahr forts.

"The noise of the guns was continuous, the discharges frequently reaching 20 a minute.

"Away to the left stretched the line of transports which effected landings late in the afternoon on the coasts opposite and on the peninsula. The effect of the naval bombardment evidently was severe. Tall columns of smoke and fire were seen on the heights above Seddul Bahr, Kephez Point and Chanak. By 3 o'clock the Seddul Bahr fort seemed utterly knocked to pieces and the battleships moved further in, indicating that all serious opposition on the shores up to the narrows had been definitely battered down. The Turks made little attempt to reply to the warships.

"Shortly after 6 o'clock the Turks provided a diversion at Cape Helles, where the allies had landed a battery early in the morning. A Turkish battery came into sight, moving into the position to attack this landing force, but before the Turks could open fire one of the warships turned its attention to them and found the range at the first shot, burying the battery in a cloud of dust. The second shell burst in the midst of the gunners. Nevertheless, the Turks stood by their guns and managed to fire three ineffective shots before seven successive bombs dropped by airships wiped them out.

Battleship Close to Shore.

"A fierce artillery duel took place at 7 o'clock between forces which had landed and Turks posted on the heights beyond Eski Hisarlik. A great British battleship came in close to shore to assist the batteries of the landing force and silenced those of the Turks.

"The net result of the operations is that the allies are in complete possession of the tip of the Gallopoli peninsula and the flat shore of Suvla Bay, 10 miles from the narrows on the opposite side of the peninsula. Good progress also has been made towards the reduction of the forts in the narrows."

BOMBS DROPPED ON IPSWICH

Small Damage Done by Airship There, Though Fires Are Started in Nearby Town.

IPSWICH, England, April 30.—Excited residents of this historic town spent the early hours of the morning taking stock of the damage done by the bombs dropped from the German airship, generally believed to have been a Zeppelin, which appeared shortly after midnight. So far as can be learned, no one was injured, although there were several narrow escapes and the property damage was small. Bombs fell harmlessly in Waterloo street, which is the most densely populated district.

E. Livingstone, whose home in Brockhall road was struck by a bomb and virtually destroyed, said:

"I was awakened just after midnight by a loud buzzing noise, followed by a bang which shattered the windows in our house. I started up, rushed my wife out into the street and returned for our little son, who was sleeping in a back bedroom through which a bomb fell. The missile wrecked the furniture completely and when I entered the room flames were commencing to dart up through the hole which it had made. My boy, awakened by the noise, rushed into my arms and I took him out safely."

Ipswich is 66 miles northeast of London.

BURY SAINT EDMUNDS, England, April 30.—Shells dropped by an airship here shortly after 1 a. m. today caused four fires. While there was no loss of life, the property damage was considerable. The aerial raider disappeared in the direction of the coast. This town is 24 miles northwest of Ipswich.

SUBMARINES SINK TWO BRITISH SHIPS

Trawler and Coal Steamer Torpedoed—Their Crews Are Picked Up.

LONDON, April 30.—The trawler Lily Dale has been sunk by a German submarine in the North Sea, 75 miles of the mouth of the River Tyne. A patrol boat picked up the crew of the trawler and then went in chase of the submarine, which, however, escaped.

The British steamship which was reported last night to have been sunk by a German submarine off the Isle of Lewis, North Scotland, was identified today as the British steamer Mobile, carrying a cargo of coal.

The Mobile's crew of 23 men was landed today. The officers said that the sinking of the Mobile occurred Wednesday. The crew was given 10 minutes to take to the boats. They drifted about for nine hours before they reached land.

British Cruiser Captures German Liner Which Escaped From Las Palmas.

LONDON, April 30.—The British Admiralty made the following statement today:

"The German steamship Macedonia, which escaped from Las Palmas, Canary Islands, a few weeks ago, has ben captured by one of our cruisers."

French Admiral and 52 Sailors Lost on Gambetta Buried.

PARIS, April 30.—An official statement issued by the ministry of Marine says:

"One hundred and ten survivors of the French armored cruiser Leon Gambetta (which was sunk by the Austrian submarine U5) have been taken to Syracuse, and 25 others are at Brindisi. The bodies of Admiral Senes and of 52 sailors have been buried at Cape Leuca.

"The circumstances of the loss of the cruiser have not yet exactly been made known. There is no confirmation that she previously had been hailed by a ship, and no credit should be attached to reports and commentaries based on information from foreign sources."

Fighting Centers at Steenstraete; Rheims Shelled Violently.

LONDON, April 30.—The fighting in the western arena of hostilities sill centers around Steenstraete. This position occupied by the Germans, forms an irritating wedge in the allied line.

The Belgian headquarters announces that Wednesday night a German attack delivered from Steenstraete was repulsed. April 29 the German artillery bombarded at intervals various parts of the Belgian line. The Belgians occupied a farm to the south of Plauvoetbreg.

The French War Office reports that the French made progress yesterday in the region of Steenstraete.

Rheims received 500 shells, of which many were of an incendiary nature. These missiles started several fires, which were put out quickly. In the Champagne district the Germans shelled an ambulance, wounded a doctor, says the statement.

War to Make Butter Cheaper.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The European war will result in makig the price of butter cheaper to the American consumer, according to J. A. Walker, who addressed the Illinois Creamery Butter Manufacturers' Association yesterday. He said Denmark, New Zealand and Siberia are sending their butter to America.

precautions to prevent possible complications on account of Mrs. Campbell not nursing the child.

The nurse admitted that one of the conditions mentioned in her direct testimony as indicating recent childbirth might have resulted from a previous childbirth.

In spite of the presence of the physician as prompter to the cross-examiner, Miss Alexander's poise was not impaired.

Once, when there was a dispute between Ottofy and attorneys on the other side as to whether a particular line of inquiry had been taken up yesterday, Judge Kinsey turned to Miss Alexander and asked if such questions had been asked. She said she thought they had.

Objects to Judge's Course.

Ottofy took exception, with considerable warmth, to the action of the Judge in turning to the witness for information, contending that it tended to prejudice him in the eyes of the jury. Judge Kinsey explained that he had only turned to Miss Alexander because the lawyers were not agreed as to what questions had been asked her.

The layette which was ordered by Mrs. Campbell in the early part of 1893 cost $353.92, accordin gto the testimony of Sister Ludovine Doherty, Superior of St. Philomena's School at Cabanne avenue and Union boulevard She produced a ledger, all the pages of which had been sealed except the one bearing the Campbell account. This showed that a bill was sent to Mrs. Campbell on April 1, 1893, for the above amount, and that the bill was paid in July.

Witnesses for the Defense.

The determination of the defense to leave nothing undone that will tend to prove that Mrs. Burkham is the daughter of James and Florence Campbell was shown yesterday when two witnesses from New York City, two from Wisconsin and one from Pennsylvania were placed on the stand.

The New York and Pennsylvania witnesses had been kept here for weeks at the expense of the defense. The two from Wisconsin were brought here to testify to details which Ottofy deemed of such slight importance that he declined to cross-examine and moved to exclude the testimony on the ground that it was immaterial. The motion was denied.

No Limit on Expenses.

Mrs. Marie Meakim O'Reilly of New York testified that she and her mother, Mrs. Ellen V. Meakim, had been at the Planters Hotel at the expense of the defense since March 20 and that no limit was placed on the amount that she could draw for expenses, except such limit as she chose to impose herself.

Mrs. O'Reilly is the widow of Daniel O'Reilly, the New York lawyer who figured in the Thaw murder trial and who afterward was sent to prison for receiving stolen property. Attorney Ottofy wanted to go into this, but objections to his questions were sustained.

Mrs. O'Reilly's testimony was along much the same lines as that of her mother. She told of friendly relations between herself and the Campbells and mentioned that she slept at the Campbells' hotel apartments on a couch in the parlor on March 16, 1893, the night before the child is alleged to have been born.

She did not see the baby until it was 6 days old. Asked why she had not called sooner, she said it was not good form to cal in such cases until the eighth or ninth day.

Diary Affords Amusement.

Considerable entertainment for the courtroom crowd was provided by Ottofy's cross-examination of Mrs. O'Reilly concerning her diary, to which she had referred for dates. There was an entry, "Mrs. Campbell left," under date of April 11, 1893. Ottofy tried to make her admit that this meant Mrs. Campbell left New York on that date. She insisted that there was no connection between the name and the word "left," which had a personal and private significance. It meant, she said, that a young man who was to have called for her on that date did not appear and the "left" referred to herself.

what is now the return in the temperate regions.

"This will mark a great era in the history of mankind—such as was caused by the discovery of America—and it will mean that an area of fertile country has been thrown open to the use of the white man, greater than that at present occupied by him," Dr. Gorgas said.

Fertility of the Tropics.

He spoke of the fertility of the tropics, and the much greater results possible from agricultural labor in tropical countries, as compared to temperate regions. The reason why white men have not thickly populated the valleys of the Amazon and Congo, he said, was to be found in their unhealthy state, which science is now removing, so that in future these lands may become the seat of great industry and wealth.

Dr. George Dock of the Washington University medical faculty was the other speaker of the afternoon.

Today, the second and final day of the dedication of the $1,200,000 school, was alumni day, and many physicians, graduates of the university medical school and of the earlier institutions from which it was organized, gathered at the new buildings, Euclid avenue and Knig's highway. All the speakers of the day were medical men.

Tonight the scene of the observance will shift from the medical buildings to the university proper, and there will be gatherings in the Graham Memorial Chapel and in the School of Fine Arts. An academic procession will form in Ridgley Library, on the university campus, at 8 p. m., and march to the chapel.

Addresses by Alumni.

Three alumni addresses were delivered this morning. Dr. William Towsend Porter, professor of comparative physiology in Harvard University, spoke in behalf of the alumni of the St. Louis Medical College; Dr. Robert James Terry of the Washington University medical faculty spoke for the alumni of the Missouri Medical College, and Dr. Fred Towsley Murphy, professor of surgery in the Washington University Medical School, spoke in behalf of the alumni of that school. A visit to the library and laboratories, with students as guides, was followed by a luncheon.

David Franklin Houston, chancellor of Washington University and Secretary of Agriculture, arrived in time for yesterday's exercises, but took no active part in the program.

At last night's banquet at the St. Louis club, Robert S. Brookings, president of the university corporation and giver of $1,000,000 to the medical school was toastmaster, and the speakers were President Hill of the University of Missouri; Dr. Abraham Jacobi, member of the Columbia University medical faculty; David R. Francis, trustee of Washington University and curator of Missouri University, and Prof. William Henry Howell of Johns Hopkins.

GERMAN AIRMEN DROP BOMBS ON AMERICAN MERCHANT SHIP

Cushing Reports Attack in North Sea on Its Arrival at Rotterdam.

LONDON, April 30.—The Reuter Telegram Co., has received a dispatch from its cirrespondent at Rotterdam saying that the American steamer Cushing from Philadelphia arrived at Rotterdam today and reports having been attacked by German airmen in the North Sea last Wednesday.

The airmen dropped two bombs but no damage was done.

The Cushing was flying the American flag at the time this attack and her name was displayed on her sides in huge letters.

The steamer Cushing left Philadelphia April 11 for Rotterdam via Deal. She is of 4329 tons net register and is 427 feet long.

FEW CONCESSIONS EXPECTED IN REPLY OF CHINA TO JAPAN

Pekin Statesmen Will Meet Tokio Plenipotentiaries Tomorrow.

PEKIN, April 30.—The Chinese statesmen will meet the Japanese plenipotentiaries tomorrow, when they will present China's reply to the last list of demands submitted by the Tokio Government.

There is reason to believe the Chinese reply will contain only a limited number of further concessions.

Japanese Ambassador Has Another Long Conference With Bryan.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Viscount Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador, had another long conference today with Secretary Bryan, presumably on the Japanese-Chinese negotiations being conducted in Pekin. Both officials adhered rigidly to the policy of secrecy, but it was assumed the conference related to the revised demands presented to the Chinese foreign office early this week.

The revised list is known to amplify the original 21 articles with three more added to it. When the original 21 were communicated to the Pekin Government only 21 were given to the United States and the European Powers, as the basis of the negotiations, and such correspondence as ensued between the Washington Government and Japan discussed these alone, the remaining demands being considered as waived.

The reappearance of all the original demands in modified form, it is thought, is bringing about explanations from the Japanese authorities. With the departure from Tokio, on leave, of American Ambassador Guthrie, the entire subject probably will be handled in Washington between Secretary Bryan and Viscount Chinda.

While no inkling has been given of the course to be followed by the United States with respect to the new demands, those familiar with the previous course of American policy believe some further modification may be urged before the demands can be construed as not affecting the administrative independence of China. It is believed that one of the subjects being considered is Japan's demand for the right to propagate Buddhism in China. The article lately presented to China asks only for the recognition of that right, leaving to discussion at a future date the manner of its introduction in China, under Japanese influences. American missionaries are interested in that feature, seeing a possible conflict with their own work and some common ground of understanding, it is believed, is now being sought by Secretary Bryan.

NEW PAWNSHOP DETECTIVES NAMED BY CHIEF ALLENDER

Other Changes Also Made in the Hope of Getting More Zealous Work, He Says.

Chief of Detectives Allender today announced several changes in the organization directed by him.

The pawnshop squad was made over completely. Detectives John Schmidt and John Dotzman were ordered to do night duty and Detectives Edward Flynn, the dean of the squad, and William Henry were transferred to Union Station territory. The new squad comprises Detectives Dennis Garvey, Michael Flavin, Patrick Murphy and Stanislaus Wardenski.

Among the detective teams that were split were Callahan and Aylward, Doyle and Murphy, Schenk and Finan and Boyle and Blake. Chief Allender said the changes were ordered in the hope of getting more zest into the work of the men.

JITNEY AND AUTO COLLIDE

Each Was Trying to Aid Other—Occupants of One Thrown Out.

Two automobiles, one a jitney, responding to a call for help from the owner of a disabled machine, collided in front of 3801 Washington avenue today. The jitney driver, G. O. Kelly of 2814 Lincoln avenue, and his passenger, Henry A. Jamison, a real estate dealer, living at the American Annex, were thrown out and bruised.

The other machine in the collision belonged to the Megue Rubber Co. of 3454 Lindell avenue. It was driven by Thomas Hawkins, a negro.

The prisoner said he was William caught him.

Workmen Share in Copper Raise.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 30.—Increased price of copper will raise the wages next month of 6000 men employed in the smelters here and the mines at Bisbee, according to the new wage schedules posted today. The average increase will amount to 8 per cent and is due to a sliding scale involving the system of profit-sharing. Other mines and smelters in the State are expected to follow suit.

Donkeys Loaded With Dummy Guns Distract Turks While Allies Land

LONDON, April 30.

ONE THOUSAND donkeys, loaded with dummy baggage and guns, played an important part in aiding in the landing of British forces in the Dardanelles, says a Tenedos dispatch to the Daily News, under date of Thursday. A point on the [illegible] was selected for the disembarkation of the newest type of "cavalry," which was viciously attacked by the Turks, who were under the impression that it constituted the advance guard of the invading forces. While the attention of the defenders of the peninsula was thus distracted, the English troops went ashore almost unmolested at a point some distance above the coast.

The use by the British of donkeys first was announced by the Athens newspaper, Chronos, which received a telegram from its correspondent at Lemnos stating that the animals, loaded with ignited petrol tins, caused a panic among the Turks when they were driven into the trenches.

Police Attack Alibi of Rowe in Reedy Case

Girl Repeats Her Story.

Miss Willoughby's story followed in the main the outlines of her versions in yesterday's Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Reedy went away before 10 a. m. that day, the girl said, returning about 6 p. m., when after a dinner alone, she began dressing to go to a theater and a supper party afterwards. Reedy came in shortly afterward and the two departed. At 8:30 Miss Willoughby called on a maid at the house next door, returning a half hour later. After hiding Mrs. Reedy's jewelry in a medicine cabinet in the bathroom, the girl said, she lay down, fully dressed on her bed, and began to read.

At about 11 o'clock, she said, she heard a noise downstairs. She went to a rear stairway, and in the light from her bedroom saw a man ascending. She declared she recognized him as Henry Rowe and that she fainted. The next she remembered was when the Reedys revived her, after they had found her bound, gagged and unconscious in the bathroom.

When the Reedys began questioning her, she said, she was afraid at first to mention Rowe's name because of previous incidents connected with him that had happened in the Reedy household. When she was alone with Mrs. Reedy Tuesday night, she said, she asked, "Could it have been Henry Rowe?" and Mrs. Reedy replied, "It couldn't have been Henry, for I was with him all day in the park and he was sober as a Judge."

The girl reiterated her account of previous annoyances by Rowe when, she says, he tried to give her money, pulled her on his lap and kissed her and once choked her until she had to call for the police.

Reedy Tells of Rowe's Visits.

Mr. and Mrs. Reedy both discussed reports that there had been frequent trouble with Rowe and that once he and Reedy fought in the Reedy home. The editor said that Rowe was an old friend of both his wife and himself and that he had frequently established a sort of protectorate over the young man. "It was I he loved," declared Mr. Reedy, "and I used to put up with a great deal from him, for he would sometimes get obnoxious when he was drinking."

He never had Rowe arrested for disturnbances, Reedy declared, because of his personal regard for the young man's father. The editor related one instance when young Rowe became greatly enraged after Mrs. Reedy had told him he would find a drink on a sideboard and he found the bottle contained vinegar.

At the time of the alleged fight, Reedy said Rowe came to the house intoxicated and, when ordered to leave, got into a "scuffle" with the editor. Rowe fell, he said, and he dropped his glasses. Mrs. Reedy ran in while they were "scuffling" and got hit, but it was purely accidental.

Reedy said he had asked patrolmen on the beat to watch for young Rowe and that on Tuesday one of them told him Rowe had been sober and behaving himself for some time.

Rowe Not Accused at First.

He declared that Miss Willoughby didn't mention Rowe's name in connection with the attack until several names had been mentioned to her and she finally said, "Could it have been Henry Rowe?"

Mrs. Reedy denied she had ever seen Rowe offer money to Miss Willoughby, or that she rebuked him for it, as the girl had stated. She said that so far as she knew, Rowe had never manifested affection for the girl. Mrs. Reedy began to weep as she talked and finally left the room because of her emotion.

When a reporter called at Rowe's home today, his father said the young man was not well and could not be seen.

RIVAL INTERESTS TRY IN COURT TO GET BIG BUILDING

Receiver Asked for Rents of Title Guarantee Trust Structure, Seventh and Chestnut.

MANY OF FLOORS VACANT

Conflicting Claims Made by Missouri-Lincoln Trust and Williams & Montgomery.

Two petitions for the appointment of a receiver to collect the rents of the Title Guaranty Trust Building at Seventh and Chestnut streets were filed in Judge Taylor's court today by opposing interests which are seeking to gain possession of the building.

In one suit the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. is plaintiff and the defendants named are the Title Guaranty Trust Co., George L. Williams, H. B. Montgomery, Joseph Gahan, T. J. Ronayne and Simon Lederer.

The greater portion of the 12-story building formerly was occupied by the general offices of the Wabash Railroad, now in the Railway Exchange Building.

Several months ago the building owners made application for injunctions against the Wabash Railroad to restrain it from moving out of the building and into the Railway Exchange Building, and one against the management of the Railway Exchange Building from receiving the railroad company as tenant. The applications were denied.

Basis of Missouri-Lincoln Claim.

In its petition for a trusteee or receiver, the Missouri-Lincoln Co. states that it became trustee of the property under a mortgage dated April 1, 1905, by the Lincoln Real Estate and Building Co., and that it acquired an interest as lessee of the building, subject to a prior mortgage of $300,000 secured by mortgage bonds which will mature April 1, 1923. There also was an issue of $550,000 consolidated mortgage bonds to mature April 1, 1935. Of these consolidated bonds, the petition says, $170,000 worth are still outstanding and $150,000 of these are held by the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co.

The Lincoln Trust and Title Co. made an assignment of the leasehold to the Title Guaranty Co. Oct. 12, 1909. The Title Guaranty Trust Co. Jan. 29 last assigned the lease to Gahan and Ronayne, who later transferred it to Williams and Montgomery.

The petition alleges that the general taxes on the building for 1914, amounting to $13,000, have not been paid, and that the lease rental has not been paid since March 1. It is also alleged there has been a default in the payment of $3000 interest on the first mortgage bonds, due April 1, and a default of $4250 interest on the consolidated bonds.

Where Profits Have Gone.

It is asserted in the petition that the Title Guaranty Trust Co. and the assignees of the lease since 1914 have applied the profits of the leasehold to their own use in disregard of the rights of the bondholders.

The allegation also is made that Montgomery and Williams acquired title to the leasehold purely as a speculative venture and that they have failed to keep the building in proper repair and that because of improper management a greater portion of the building is now vacant.

It is asked that a trustee or receiver be appointed to collect the rents and turn them over to the bondholders.

Williams and Montgomery, in their suit, allege they have owned the leasehold of the building since April 5 and that the Missouri-Lincoln Trust Co. has instructed the tenants not to pay rent to them. In addition to asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the rents they ask that the Missouri-Lincoln company be restrained from making an "illegal invasion of the property."

The consolidation of the American Trust Co. and the Guardian Trust Co several months ago and the removal of the American Trust Co. from the Title Guaranty Building, left a vacancy on the ground floor which has never been filled. This, with the removal of the Wabash offices, has seriously reduced the building's leasehold revenues.

Woman Who First Placed Infant in Campbell's Arms Brings Some Homely Wisdom Into Trial

Marguerite Martyn Describes Court Scenes

Millionaire "Looked Tickled to Death, I Want to Tell You," Mrs. Meakim Testified—Women Spectators Find Case More Entertaining Than Theater.

By Marguerite Martyn.

INTO a trial which has involved such vast affairs as those of church, science, high finance and with such sentimental affairs as the parentage of a beautiful young woman, the feelings of injured and neglected relatives, the matrimonial history of a sad-eyed widow—was brought some homely wisdom that seems to have gone farther than anybody else's toward straightening out the whole muddle of the Campbell case.

Mrs. Ellen V. Meakim was the witness who qualified as an expert in "motherology"—if there were such a word—and supplied the one sort of evidence needed to establish what the defense has to prove—namely, that a baby really was born to Mrs. Campbell on March 17, 1893.

Mrs. Meakim wasn't present at the actual event, but she got to the Grand Union Hotel in New York, where it took place, within two hours.

If she did not impress a masculine jury with the details she recalled—details too intimate to be repeated here—at least all women who ever have participated in or officiated at the birth of an infant would have been convinced that Mrs. Meakim was really there.

First Woman to Hold Baby in Her Arms.

"I WAS the first person, except the doctor, to hold Lois Campbell in my arms," she testified—an impressive experience, be the baby heiress to millions or a waif, and the bit of boastfulness that crept into her assertion was not to be simulated.

"I was the one who placed his baby in James Campbell's arms for the first time," she continued. "'There,' I said, take it. I want to see how you look walking around the room with it.' And she added gratuitously, 'He looked tickled to death, I want to tell you."

The widow of a Police Captain, used to good living apparently, yet not a learned woman, is Mrs. Meakim. But what she lacks in scientific knowledge perhaps she makes up in spiritual faith and reverence. She tried to establish that the Campbell heir was a direct answer to prayer and that her connection with little Lois began long before her birth.

"At Hot Springs, in September, 1892, where I first met Mrs. Campbell," she testified, "I advised her to make a novena." She explained that in her religion this was a nine days' prayer, a custom commonly resorted to by women with the wish for maternity. And she added: "I said the prayers with her and—well, I helped that much, anyway."

This bit of evidence was stricken off the records as irrelevant. As I have said, with a jury of married women, Mrs. Meakim's testimony would have weight. But we don't have women juries. And self-possessed as she was while re-enacting vividly the scene at Mrs. Campbell's bedside upon the night of that particular St. Patrick's day, in the hands of the skilled cross-examiner Mrs. Meakim became woefully mixed, according to masculine logic.

Friends in Crowd Smile Friendly to Mrs. Burkham.

IN the courtroom yesterday, outside the railing, it was gratifying to see a few friendly faces familiar to the women of the warring factions. Some few had shared the hospitality of the Campbells in happier times. Among these Miss Miriam Benoist and Miss Zoe Schotten smiled frequently and cast friendly glances upon young Mrs. Burkham. One likes to dwell upon the elements of sweet homeliness and sentiment introduced into a case so sordid on the one side, so full of pathos on the other. But it must be confessed that in courtroom No. 5 the sordid and material predominate these days.

One woman whom one sees frequently at near-society gatherings who is a boarder at a West End hotel, was the center of a group who brought their lunch. One gathered from their readiness to laugh upon every possible occasion they found this human drama even more entertaining than their usual Wednesday matinee. There were women of all ages and conditions of life, judging by outward appearances; but, after all, of one stripe, when it came to morbid curiosity. This was evidenced when, for instance, the former New York hotel clerk, painfully punctilious, came to a point in his testimony where it was announced that what he was about to say might be "indelicate."

A profound hush came over the courtroom. The giggling and talking in the far corner ceased, mouths opened breathlessly and ears were cocked with one accord, for a better hearing. And then he wasn't permitted to say it! Too bad!

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Burkham, as if to deny the conjecture that they had dressed alike to accentuate their likeness, were dressed as differently as deep mourning would allow them to be, at this session. Mrs. Burkham wore a new straw sailor, no veil, a thin black blouse with handkerchief linen collar, beneath her black suit, and her string of real pearls, while Mrs. Campbell was clad in dull satin, wore a long crepe veil and was without her necklace.

The widow, who, by consenting to break the will, could have enriched herself many fold and who submits to the painful ordeal of the trial, solely, it would seem, to establish Mrs. Burkham as her rightful daughter before a gossipy world, was to me a picture of agony and dignity. Her eyes were suffused with tears, while her mouth smiled.

Two Women Bear a Strong Resemblance.

IF the decision in the case might rest upon a trick of likeness, the jury would need look no farther than the eyes of these two women. The same large, round iris, with upward cast, the same drooping lower lids, allowing Lois more fullness and fewer wrinkles above the eyes for youth, and they are identical. And that queer, small pouting mouth, with the petulant lower lip that is neither Campbell nor Mrs. Campbell, and which nobody has been able to account for in Lois—well, look at Mrs. Harrison. In my sketches, covering the upper parts of both faces, I cannot tell which mouth, which small, determined chin and which long throat line I intended for Mrs. Harrison, which for Mrs. Burkham. Mrs. Burkham's nose is long, like her mother's, but at its tip it is shaped like Mrs. Harrison's. If a composite photograph of Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Harrison could be made, I believe the result would be a picture of Mrs Burkham. Mrs. Harrison is the dominant one among the women contestants, if the manner in which the others defer to her instructions is any indication. Would it not be amusing as retributive justice if some skilled physiognomist were able to trace the chins and mouths of these cousins of the same generation to a common ancestor?

PARDON ASKED FOR WOMAN WHO AIDS DAUGHTERS FROM PRISON

Kansas Women Contend Mrs. Mollie Stewart Is Innocent of Murder.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 30.—Mrs. Laura B. Harpster and several other leading women of Kansas City, Kan., are pressing Gov. Capper for a pardon or a parole for Mrs. Mollie Stewart, now serving a life sentence on a charge of murder. She was sent from Franklin County in 1907, together with Frank Schneck, who was sentenced to hang on the charge of killing Mrs. Schneck and two of the young Schneck children.

It is contended by Mrs. Harpster and her associates that Mrs. Stewart is innocent. One of Mrs. Stewart's daughters is in high school at Lawrence and the other in Kansas University. The two girls are educating themselves. The mother is trying to support them from her prison home. She makes fancy work and sells it in the East at good prices. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth is one of her customers. Many society women in New York City buy from her.

No effort is being made to get a pardon or parole for Schneck.

GERMANS IN CANADA ACCUSED OF CELEBRATING A VICTORY

Alleged Action at Vancouver After News of Defeat of Canadian Troops at Ypres.

VANCOUVER, April 30.—Four German residents of Vancouver have been arrested, charged with taking part last Sunday night, with a number of other Germans, in a celebration of the German victory over Canadian troops at Ypres. The men detained are Paul Koop, capitalist; Baron von Luttowitz, said to be a relative and intimate friend of Emperor William; Dr. Otto Grunert and Frederick Stritzel.

A long list of Vancouver men killed and wounded reached here Sunday night and news of the celebration caused popular indignation. Those arrested declare they were merely having a party at the home of one of their number.

TESTIFIES BARNES OBJECTED TO TOO MUCH LIMELIGHT

T. R. Witness Says That Was Position of "Boss" on Primary Bills in New York.

BIPARTISAN ALIGNMENT

By Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 30.—That William Barnes, in giving his reasons for opposing direct primaries legislation, had said he believed such elections would give too much publicity to candidates for office, as they would be forced to go through two campaigns, was the sworn testimony given in the Supreme Court here today in the trial of the libel suit of Barnes against Col. Roosevelt, by L. W. France, chairman of a committee of the Young Republican Club of Brooklyn.

France said under oath that Barnes had told him the reputation of any man could be ruined by turning the limelight on him and that he could vote the riffraff of Democrats in Albany in the Republican primaries and so disgust the people that they would demand a repeal of the bill.

Counsel for the Colonel unsuccessfully endeavored during the day to get from H. H. Vreeland, former president of the Metropolitan Securities Company, the holding company for the New York Street Railways Company, testimony that he had contributed to both the Democratic and Republican organizations in 1903, when Barnes was chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee.

Senatorial Election in 1911.

The first witness was Harvey D. Hinman. He said he rememebered what went on in the Senate in 1911 when a United States Senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew was chosen.

Counsel for Col. Roosevelt then read what purported to be a record of the votes candidates received. All the candidates were Democrats except Depew, Hinman said.

Early votes read showed that William F. Sheehan and Depew were the closest contestants. In a later vote the name of James A. O'Gorman appeared. Justice O'Gorman was victorious.

Hinman testified to introducing in 1910 the Hinman-Green direct primaries bill in the State Senate and read a record of the vote which defeated the measure. It was defeated by the vote of 13 Republicans and 12 Democrats. The witness added that the Meade-Phillips direct primaries bill, favored by the organization, was passed, 14 Democrats and 14 Republicans voting for it.

The idea in offering this evidence, Counsel for Col. Roosevelt said, during an argument over an objection, was to show a bipartisan alignment against the Hinman-Green bill and in favor of the Meade-Phillips bill.

Bill Opposed by Hughes.

Hinman was shown Gov. Hughes' message to the Legislature of May 26, 1910. In it the Governor expressed objection to the Meade-Phillips bill. Hinman then went on to tell of the action of the special session of the Legislature called to consider direct primaries.

"I think," said Justice Andrew, "that you are trying to convey to the jury the idea that because Gov. Hughes opposed a bill it necessarily must be a bad one."

"Oh, no," replied Van Benschoten of Col. Roosevelt's legal staff, "we want to show later on that the plaintiff said he would defeat the Hinman-Green bill and that the organization Democrats and Republicans combined to do so."

Hinman told of the Senate receiving, on the night of June 30, 1910, 10 days after convening, a concurrent resolution from the Assembly providing for an adjournment of the special session. Only 23 Republican Senators voted against adjournment.

"Too Much Publicity."

L. W. France of Port Washington, the next witness, said: "Mr. Barnes had sent a message to me saying he wanted to discuss with me direct primaries. He said our attitude was wrong on the Hinman-Green bill. He said he could show the whole idea was wrong. He said he could get the riff-raff of the Democrats and vote them in the Republican primaries and vice versa and nominate such rotten men that the public would soon become disgusted with direct primaries.

"He also told me direct nomination gave too much publicity to the candidate and it forced him to go through two campaigns. Barnes said he could ruin the reputation of any man living by throwing too much limelight on him.

"I told him that because of such views we disagreed with him and that we believed there were men who could stand the limelight."

Agreement Between Counsel.

H. H. Vreeland, formerly president of the Metropolitan Securities Company, which owned the New York City Railways, was the next witness. He was asked if he had contributed in 1908 to both the Democratic and Republican campaign funds, but objection was sustained and, after Vreeland was permitted to testify that he had contributed $20,000 to the Republican campaign fund of last year, he was excused.

John A. Hennessy of Brooklyn, former Gov. Sulzer's investigator, testified that he made an examination of the bills and accounts of the state architect's office.

Van Benschoten read into the record a stipulation that it was agreed between counsel that in 1912, 1913 and 1914 there were gross abuses in the state government, there were scandals in the various state departments, that public offices were bartered for, contractors were blackmailed and that civil service was debauched.

Denies Wiring to Whitman.

William M. Ivins today denied that he had telegraphed Gov Whitman last night requesting him to appear as a witness later in the trial of the suit. An aid to Ivins previously had declared, however, that an answer had been expected from the Governor before night, but that none had been received.

Summary of Yesterday's Developments in Case.

Barnes spent the greater part of yesterday in taking notes upon a pad of paper. After the Colonel was excused from the stand he read a magazine for a while, but when William Loeb and George B. Agnew, former State Senator, were on the stand, the defendant paid close attention to everything they said. Agnew gave testimony concerning voting in the Senate upon race track legislation and the manner in which he said Senator Grattan defeated the bill after he had been advised by Barnes how to cast his deciding vote.

Justice Andrews, in a statement made to counsel during arguments and while the jury was out of the room, asserted that no evidence had been produced connecting Barnes with any "corrupt connivance," in so far as the municipal government of Albany was concerned. Then he added:

"Where the libel charges a man with being a thief, it is not enough to say simply that the charge is true, but one must set up in the answer the facts from which the inference is made.

"Here the charge is that Mr. Barnes was corrupt in one way or another. You are bound not simply to say that 'the charges are true.' You are bound to set forth the facts, which, if true, would constitute justification; they have got to be set forth so that, if the facts are true, they would show corruption.

"That you have failed utterly to do with respect to the Albany Lincoln League and gambling conditions, but I am inclined to think you have done it with respect to the printing charges."

Justice Andrews said: "There might have been gambling in Albany and the plaintiff might not have opposed it, yet he might have had pertectly good reasons for so doing. In the existence of vice there was nothing offered that connected Mr. Barnes with any corrupt connivance."

"I Would Write the Same Now," Says Gov. Whitman.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—Gov. Whitman today declared that the letter written by him and introduced at the Roosevelt-Barnes libel trial was given out by him last July. "That letter expressed my sentiments then," he said, "and I would write the same now."

While the Governor declined to discuss the possibility of his going to Syracuse, it was declared by an authoritative source that he had received neither a subpena nor a telegram from Ivins or anyone else asking him to testify.

Park Commissioner Tells What New Parkway Will Be Like

Will Include Recreation Grounds

DETAILED explantion of the proposed treatment of the Central Parkway, which will be voted upon June 8, when the question of the ratification of the ordinance for the appointment of commissioners to assess benefits and damages will be submitted, was given last night at the third annual banquet of the Central Civic Council at Lippe's restaurant, by Nelson Cunliff, who will succeed Dwight F. Davis as Park Commissioner, Monday.

Cunliff had a large drawing, showing that the Parkway, instead of being memerly grass and trees from Twelfth street to Grand avenue, will include recreation grounds, swimming pools and athletic field.

Cunliff said the parkway would afford to the residents of the densely populated central portion of the city nearly all the recreation features Forest Park affords to West End residents, and, in addition, will have many features Forest Park lacks.

He showed that from Twelfth street to Leffingwell avenue there will be broad drives with plenty of trees and flowers and that beginning at Leffingwell avenue and thence westward the recreational features will begin. It is proposed to have statues placed in the parkway at Leffingwell avenue.

The block between Leffingwell and Ewing avenues will be devoted to a children's playground, with many devices for the entertainment of small children, including a sand court and a wading pool. There will be plenty of grass and shade trees in this and in all other blocks.

Between Ewing and Garrison avenues, it is proposed to have an open air swimming pool almost as large as the one at Fairground Park. It will have a daily capacity of 25,000 bathers. In the same block will be a large bath house.

The block between Garrison and Cardinal avenues will be devoted entirely to tennis courts. Between Cardinal and Compton avenues will be two outdoor gymnasiums, one for men and one for women. In this block also will be a social center house, with a hall large enough for civic meetings.

An athletic field will be between Compton and Channing avenues, with space for a running track, and many other kinds of athletic games.

Space for Concert Court.

The space from Channing avenue to Theresa avenue will be a concert court, with permanent stands for bands and orchestra, and permanent seats. There will be many trees and walks through this block, which will form a beautiful park in a grove.

From Theresa avenue to Grand avenue, where the parkway will broaden into two blocks, the plans provide for a large park, with a fountain in the center with broad walks leading to it, and through a grove of trees.

Each of the blocks east of Leffingwell avenue will be a small park with trees, grass walks and plenty of seats.

In explaining the plan, Cunliff said that the district which the parkway would serve with park facilities covers one-seventh the area of the city and in it resides 21 per cent of the city's population.

Mayor Kiel explained that the adoption of the parkway ordinance does not bind the city to the construction of the parkway, but that it only opens the way for determining what the cost would be. He again pledged himself to see that the project was abandoned if it should be found that the cost would exceed $10,000,000.

3 REALTY CASES UNDER INQUIRY BY GRAND JURY

Nicholls-Ritter, Wilmering & Schaeffer and Daniel Company Under Investigation.

The grand jury this afternoon continued its investigation into the affairs of the defunct Nichols-Ritter Realty and Financial Co., and of Wilmering & Schaeffer, a North St. Louis real estate firm.

The witnesses subpenaed to testify in the Nichols-Ritter investigation are William Borders, William H. Humes, Martin M. Wolff and F. W. Lovett, all real estate dealers. A written statement in behalf of Nichols was submitted to Circuit Attorney Harvey by an attorney.

The witnesses called to testify in the Wilmering & Schaeffer investigation are Augusta Burke, 2201 Menard street, John C. Greulich, 3131 North Grand avenue, Henry Wehde, Brevator, Mo., and John H. Wortman.

The grand jury has one more witness to hear in the investigation of the Daniel Realty Co., which sold several deeds of trust to Dr. William Brantner Temm, a dentist.

Richard H. Goodnow, who pleaded guilty last week to irregularities in real estate transactions and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, visited the Circuit Attorney's office today. He formerly was employed by the Nichols-Ritter Co., and later became a partner. It was said that Harvey wished to confer with him relative to certain transactions of that firm.

Charles C. Nicholls, former president of the Nicholls-Ritter-Goodnow Realty Co., yesterday gave out a written statement to the newspapers in which he explained the transaction with J. B. Westermayer, which is being investigated by the grand jury.

Nicholls Explans Westermayer Deal.

In this statement Nicholls said that Westermayer for a long time was a customer of the Nicholls-Ritter Co. and the Nicholls-Ritter-Goodnow company. In the early part of 1913, according to Nicholls' statement, Westermayer knew that the Nicholls-Ritter-Goodnow company had made a building loan of $850 on property in Nina place, secured by a deed of trust on a lot and an apartment building to be erected on it.

Westermayer had a loan of $4500 which he had purchased from the company Nicholls said, and he made a proposition to the company that he would purchase the $8500 loan if the company would accept the $4500 loan as part payment. This was agreed to and the payment was made. The company paid Westermayer a commission for purchasing the loan and gave him a bond guaranteeing that the apartment house would be built and that there would be no lien against it, Nicholls said.

After the Nicholls-Ritter-Goodnow company had expended about $1700 on the property, Nicholls said, financial reverses came. The company's business was closed by a Constable and it was impossible to expend any more money on the building project, although at the time the company had in contemplation deals which would have netted it $35,000. These deals fell through, among them being a project to build a hotel at Twelfth and Olive streets.

Nicholls denied published statements that the Ashdown Realty Co. was a subsidiary of the Nicholls-Ritter company. It was his impression, he said, that R. F. Goodnow held one share in it.

As to the books of the Nicholls-Ritter-Goodnow company, Nicholls said, they were well kept and that expert examination of them would show what became of the company's money. He said he expected to remain in business in St. Louis and if able personally pay off the obligations of the company, although he is not legally liable for the company's debts.

SHH! LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN YOUR FADED GRAY HAIR—USE SAGE TEA

Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Luster to Hair—Just Comb or Brush It in the Hair.

Why suffer the handicap of looking old. Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all knew the advantages of a youthful appearance.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just a few applications of Soge Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use; but listen, avoid preparations put up by druggists, as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly—you moisten a sponge or soft brush, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.—ADV.

AUTO DRIVEN INTO THE CURB TO AVOID COLLISION WITH CAR

Six Occupants, Including Two Pugilists and One Woman, Thrown Out; None Badly Hurt.

A touring car, occupied by six persons, was run into the curb at Seventh and Chestnut streets about 5 o'clock this morning by its owner and driver, E. W. Chase of 523 Chestnut street, to avoid hitting a northbound Cass car. The machine turned on its side and the occupants were thrown into the street. They were bruised and cut, but none seriously injured.

Two of the occupants were Larry English and Johnnie King, prize fighters, of 523 Market street. They said the others were two men and a woman, whose names the police did not learn.

COLLEGE GIRLS WED FOR LOVE, DEAN DECLARES

Some Aphorisms by the Dean of Barnard

COLLEGE education gives to girls a better balance, a better sense of proportion, and a surer attitude toward life.

We try to encourage discussion. We want to train our girls to think for themselves.

Are men afraid to marry college girls? I know very little about men, but I would not wish to cast that reflection upon them.

When a college girl marries, it is apt to be only for love, and not from any lesser motive.

Her college course has helped her to attain a poise that is of value in selecting a husband.

Women sometimes forget that domesticity and motherhood is a profession and entitled to rank as such.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Barnard College celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary yesterday. Has it justified its existence? That question was put to the head of the college. Her answer was emphatically that it had.

Miss Virginia Crocheron Gildersleeve, A. M., Ph. D., Dean of Barnard College and graduate of that same institution in the class of '99, is a daughter of former Supreme Court Justice Henry A. Gildersleeve; is tall and dignified, but her figure is almost girlishly slender and her voice is "ever soft, gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman."

Helps Girls to Find Themselves.

"There have been accusations from time to time," she said to a reporter, "that college education for girls is not a success, for the reason that it does not prepare them to cope with the hard realties of life. But I have been unable to acquire that view. On the contrary, I think that our women's colleges are doing more and more admirable work in helping girls to find themselves.

"The great value of a college education for girls, to my mind, lies in just this: That it gives a better balance, a more rounded outlook and a truer appreciation of life's values. And even in the severely practical view, I think even a good cook may be a better cook for a knowledge of Greek.

"Certainly if to live and grow is an indication of wholesome life—a sign that we are fulfilling our mission—we can feel encouraged at Barnard. I graduated in a class of 20; now we have classes of several hundred each year.

Not Too Terribly Intellectual.

"Am I afraid that men will be afraid to marry college girls for fear of their supposed terrible intellectuality? Why, I have so little experience with men that I could scarcely pass an opinion, but I surely would not wish to cast any such reflection upon them. But why assume that a college girl is necessarily terribly intellectual? You might as well say that all college men are intellectual, when you very well know they are not.

"Possibly college girls do not marry quite so frequently in proportion to their numbers as girls in the same station in life who have not been to college, although, I believe, if such a difference exists it must be a very slight one. But, granting that it does exist, isn't it possible to account for it by the assumption that the college-trained girl has learned to discriminate, that she uses her intelligence, and is sure that she is right when she makes up her mind to marry?

Check on Divorces.

"On the other hand, I am sure the statistics will bear me out when I say that in the same station in life there are considerably fewer divorces among women who are college graduates than among those who are not. And I think that this is due to two reasons. In the first place, the college graduate feels herself entirely capable of making her own career for herself. Consequently, when she marries it is apt to be purely for love and not for an occupation or a home or anything like that. There she has a great advantage at the start.

"The economic independence of women? That, I am afraid, is a subject on which it is dangerous to generalize. Individual cases must be decided on their own merits. But I do think that women sometimes forget that domesticity and motherhood is really a profession, and a very important profession, in itself."

Miss Gildersleeve's views on suffrage? Well, she favors it, but, she confesses, only "conservatively."

KING GUSTAVE IS ILL AGAIN

Swedish Ruler Once Operated On, but Stomach Ailment Returns.

LONDON, April 30.—A dispatch to the Central News from Stockholm says that King Gustave is ill, apparently with a recurrence of the stomach trouble for which he underwent an operation a year ago. The correspondent says the ailment is of a somewhat serious character.

King Gustave was operated on early last April for ulceration of the stomach, by Prof. John Wilhelm Berg, the celebrated Swedish surgeon. The operation lasted 75 minutes. It was said that the ulcer was more or less superficial in nature and showed no signs of being malignant. The King, after he had sufficiently recovered, went to Carlsbad to recuperate.

NEW YORK RAILROAD ENGINEER, 70, ENDS 54 YEARS OF SERVICE

"Ma" Just Couldn't Bear to See Him Leave Cab "an Old Man;" Never Had an Accident.

NEW YORK, April 30.—More than 200 men cheered Engineer "Gray" Higgins as he brought his engine into Harmon, N. Y., last evening. It was his last trip. He had worked for the New York Central 54 years.

His son helped him down and friends crowded about to shake his hand. But, barely heeding them, he cast anxious glances about the crowd. "Where's ma?" he asked. "She said she'd be here." Later ma at their home explained her absence to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"I just couldn't be there!" she said. "I saw him start on his first job—that was before we were married—50-odd years ago. And somehow I couldn't see him leave off—an old man."

"And your old work, won't you miss it?" the reporter asked the old engineer.

"Perhaps," he answered, "but I'm going to take it nice and easy now."

"'Gray'—I gave him that nickname when he was a boy," said ma, "because of a cute gray suit he used to wear—was 70 on April 9."

"Gray" Higgins has never had an accident and never worked outside of New York State. Now he wants to learn to run an automobile.

WAR ENDS HER ROMANCE

Nurse's Soldier-Sweetheart Dies in Her Arms in France.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Miss Louisa Victoria Biet was the only cabin passenger on the Fabre liner Madonna in from Marseilles and Providence, R. I. Miss Biet, who is 23 years old and pretty, is on her way to Montreal. Several French army officers bade her good-by at Marseilles and attended to her baggage.

When the war started she was in Buenos Ayres where she became engaged, it was said, to an officer of the French army stationed there. When he was called to the colors she followed him to France and was stationed as a nurse in a hospital at Pau. One of the first cases that came under her care was that of her fiance and he died in her arms.

GERMANS CHECKED WHEN WITHIN TWO MILES OF YPRES

British Eyewitness Tells of Bayonet Charges in the Open Country.

BOTH SIDES LOSE HEAVILY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 30.—The British official "eye witness," in a narrative of the battle of Ypres, says the Germans had prepared to attack the allied line on the twentieth, but the wind not being favorable "for their use of asphyxiating gases," they postponed it until the twenty-second.

The gas, the narrative says, was distributed along the German front line in front of the French position and the wind being from the north it was blown directly on the French. The German plan, according to the eye witness, "was to make a sudden onslaught westward which, is successful, would enable the Germans to gain crossing of the canal south of Bixschoote and place them well behind the British line and in a position to threaten Ypres."

"Allowing time for the vapors to take full effect on the troops facing them," says the eye witness, "the Germans charged forward over the practically unresisting enemy in their immediate front and penetrating through the gap thus created pressed on silently and swiftly to the south and west. By their sudden irruption they were able to overrun and surprise a large proportion of the French troops billetted behind the front line in this area and to bring some of the French guns as well as our own under a hot rifle fire at close range.

British Had to Retire.

"Our flank, being thus exposed, the troops were ordered to retire on St. Julien with their flank parallel to, but to the west of, the high road. The splendid resistance of these troops, who saved the situation, already has been mentioned by the Commander in Chief.

"Meanwhile, apparently waiting until their infantry penetrated well behind the allies' line, the Germans opened a hot artillery fire upon various tactical points to the north of Ypres, the bombardment being carried out with the ordinary high explosive shells and shrapnel and also with projectiles containing asphyxiating gas."

The "eye witness" then tells how a battery of field artillery which the Germans had virtually surrounded, fired upon the Germans at point blank range, checked their rush and did not lose a gun. The infantry meantime had withdrawn to St. Julien. Reinforcements finally were brought up by officers on their own initiative to meet the Germans, who by this time, were barely two miles from Ypres.

German Colonel Captured.

"These battalions," the narrative continues, "attacked the Germans with the bayonet and then ensued a melee, in which our men more than held their own, both sides losing heavily. One German battalion seems to have been particularly severely handled, its Colonel being captured among several other prisoners.

"Other reinforcements were thrown in. As they came up when night fell, the fighting was continued by moonlight, our troops driving back the enemy by repeated bayonet charges, in the course of which our heavy guns were recaptured. By then the situation was somewhat restored in the area immediately north of Ypres. Farther to the west, however, the enemy had forced their way over the canal, occupying Steenstrate, and, crossing at Het Sas, had established themselves at various points on the west bank.

"In the early morning of Friday we delivered a strong counter attack northward in co-operation with the French. Our advance progressed for some little distance, reaching the edge of the wood, about a half mile west of St. Julien and penetrating it.

"Here our men got into the Germans with the bayonet, and the latter suffered heavily. The losses also were severe on our side, for the advance had to be carried out across the open. But in spite of this, nothing could exceed the dash with which it was conducted.

Fought With Trench Tool.

"One man, and his case was typical of the spirit shown by the troops, who had his rifle smashed by a bullet, continued to fight with an entrenching tool.

"About 11 a. m., not being able to progress farther, our troops dug themselves in.

"Broadly speaking, on the section of the front then occupied by us, the result of the operations had been to remove to some extent the wedge which the Germans had driven into the allied line and immediate danger was over. During the afternoon our counter attack made further progress south of Pilkem, thus straightening the line still more."

The writer then tells how the Germans, bringing up strong reinforcements, "and again using gas," captured St. Julien and managed to throw several brigades across the canal. The British made a stronger counter attack Sunday and, while they gained some ground, it stopped in front of the village of St. Julien.

The Germans, the narrative adds, made repeated attacks against the British near Broodseinde, backed by a tremendous artillery bombardment and gas, but they all were driven off "with greater slaughter to the enemy."

HIGHER LIQUOR TAX PUT INTO EFFECT IN GREAT BRITAIN

Opposition Shown When Provisional Resolution Is Voted; Modifications Expected.

LIGHTER BEER IS LIKELY

Proposed Measure Doubles Duty on Spirits, Taxes Beer to Reduce Alcohol in It.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 30.—The proposals introduced in the House of Commons yesterday by David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to double the duty on spirits and quadruple the duties on wines, to institute an increase by graduated tax on beer—to encourage the use of lighter beers—were strongly opposed, and it is generally believed that the new taxes will have to be moderated before Parliament will accept them.

The O'Brienites, as a protest against an additional taxation on Irish whiskies and beers, brought about the first division in the House since the outbreak of the war, by taking the unusual course of voting against the provisional resolutions bringing the taxes into force at once to prevent withdrawals from bond while Parliament is dealing with the matter. The resolution relating to spirits was passed by a vote of 89 to 5, the minority being composed of O'Brienites.

Nationalists Also Protest.

The Nationalists also protested against the measure but did not vote. The Unionists, who withheld criticism until all the facts could be placed before them, also abstained from voting.

Usually these provisional resolutions are carried without division, for, should Parliament refuse to sanction the taxes, they are refunded to those who may have paid.

The Laborites promised to reply to the Chancellor's charges that a minority of the workmen, lured away by drink, were not putting their best efforts into the work of producing material which is so badly needed by the soldiers at the front.

The extra taxes will be included in the budget which Chancellor Lloyd-George will introduce in the House of Commons on Tuesday next, and the bill, which is an amendment of the defense of the Realm Act, will be proposed for the second reading at a later date, when the debate on it will take place. Before that time, the Chancellor has promised to place in the hands of the members, a series of reports of independent investigators, on whose findings the government decided to take the action it has.

Wine Taxes Opposed.

Besides the Irish opposition to the spirit duties, many members oppose the new wine taxes on the ground that they strike at France, Australia and South Africa. The proposed appointment of a board of control and the proposal to take over for the canteen purposes the saloons in the munitions of war areas and to compensate all interests are generally approved by the members.

The general opinion of liquor wholesalers is that the new tax will not affect the retail price of beer, but will compel all brewers to brew below the specific gravity of 43, at which the surtax begins. This gravity is equivalent to containing seven per cent of alcohol. Most London beers now range from 43 to 58.

The new whisky tax, which amounts to five shillings ($1.25) a bottle, will result in a virtual doubling of the retail price. Most wines will increase about two shillings a bottle at retail, while liquors will rise four shillings. The price of bottled rum and gin will be doubled.

Won't Swear Off Altogether.

The clergy comprising the Lower House of the Convocation of Canterbury are willing to set the nation an example in the matter of temperance, but they are not willing to abstain entirely from alcohol.

This was the sense of the meeting yesterday of the Lower House, which passed a resolution "inviting the clergy and laity of the Church of England to set an example of self-sacrifice" in the matter of alcoholic liquors.

Several members voted only after being assured that total abstinence was not expected of them. The Dean of Canterbury said flatly he refused to swear off altogether. He had tried it before, he said, and found it a failure in that it impaired his health.

HISTORY OF THE WAR TAUGHT TO FRENCH SCHOOL CHILDREN

National Patriotic Day, Belgian Day, Servian Day and 3-inch Gun Day Observed.

PARIS, April 30.—The history of the war is being taught to the children of France as it goes on. By order of the Minister of Public Instruction, the schools have observed a patriotic day. Every teacher talked about the war and brought out the patriotic character of the conflict from the French standpoint.

There followed a Belgian day devoted to King Albert's heroic attitude; a Servian day and a day consecrated to the praises of the celebrated 3-inch field gun.

Instead of distracting the minds of the children from school work, the war has been made to heighten its interest and the attendance was normal throughout the winter.

The details of instruction in matters pertaining to the war are left to the discretion of the teachers. Some of them read and comment upon the official communiques. Others read the exploits of officers and men and many letters sent from the front by soldiers of the vicinity are read. It is often the soldier in person who tells the little ones of his experience, for many teachers, disabled for further service in the army, have returned to their school duties. Sometimes it is a soldier who has never been a teacher who relates his experiences.

How to Beautify the Hair

A Simple and Inexpensive Home Method.

The hair is like a flower—a little care and proper nourishment does wonders. Just as a plant without air and water withers and dies, so will the hair go if not given proper nourishment. The scalp must be perfectly healthy and free from dandruff, as the scalp is to the hair what good soil is to plants and flowers.

If your hair is not pretty; if it is losing color, too dry, matted, falling out, or if the scalp itches and burns, you can easily overcome all of these conditions by using Parisian Sage, which supplies every hair need. It soaks right into the hair roots, stimulating them and furnishing the nourishment that is needed for the hair to grow not only long and heavy, but fluffy, soft, lustrous and gloriously radiant.

You can get a bottle of this inexpensive, yet delightful and helpful hair tonic from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., or any drug counter. Improvement begins with the very first application. Besides stopping the scalp irritation it removes every bit of dandruff. The use of this unequaled tonic will surely give your hair new life and beauty.—ADV.

SCORES OF GERMAN WRITERS FIGHTING WITH GUN OR PEN

Number of Them Have Been Decorated—Several Bring Out Books on Experiences.

BERLIN, April 30.—According to lists published here nearly 200 German writers are engaged directly in the fighting, doing work with the hospital and other adjunct corps or pursuing their calling behind the front as newspaper men.

Some of them are well-known outside of Germany—men like Ernst von Wolsogen, who visited the United States several years ago and wrote a book about his American observations; Dr. Walter Bloehm, whose novel, "Das Eisenge Jahr," (The Iron Year), referring to 1870, has reached more than 100,000 copies in its sales; Rudolf Hertzog, whose dramas and novels have come into great popularity within 10 years; Richard Dehmel, the poet, who was beyond the age-limit, but volunteered when the war began; Fedor von Zobeltitz, author of many society novels—and scores of less well-known names. Some of the men here mentioned, as well as many other writers, have been decorated with the Iron Cross.

Distinctions have been conferred on other writers, who, though not in the war themselves, have given moral support to Germany's armies by means of their pens. Thus Gerhard Hauptmann and Ernst Lissauer, author of the famous "Song of Hate Against England," have received the red eagle order of the fourth class. The same decoration was given to Ludwig Ganghofer, Bavarian novelist. Some of the writers at the front have brought out books about their experiences in camp and battle.

RHINOCEROS KILLS FOUR SCOUTS

Animal Attacks and Overturns Auto Carrying Men in East Africa.

CAPETOWN, April 30.—Four soldiers of a small scouting contingent recently sent out against the Germans on the East African front were killed by an infuriated rhinoceros, according to the Weekly Cape Times.

The scouts had gone out in motor cars, and the leading car was attacked without warning by the animal, which overturned the automobile. It took 50 men with knives to overcome the intruder, which put another car out of action before it was killed.

CAUGHT SAWING INTO KEYHOLE

Man at Back Door of Saloon at 2 A. M. Was Recently Paroled.

Two policemen, trying doors in the neighborhood of Jefferson avenue and Olive street, at 2 o'clock this morning, saw a man sawing the keyhole in the back door of the saloon of John J. Jordan, 304 North Jefferson avenue.

As the policemen approached, the man drew a knife and raised it above his head. One policeman knocked him down with a nightstick. After having a scalp wound treated at the dispensary, the prisoner said he was George Salker, 24 years old, of 2017 Olive street. He admitted having been recently paroled from the reformatory at Mansfield, O.

In a grip which Salker carried, the police found a glass cutter, chisel, keyhole saw and brace and bit. The tools were wrapped in an apron.

Goethels Coming to Washington.

PANAMA, April 30.—Major-General Goethals, Governor of the canal zone, will leave Colon Saturday for Washington to report to Secretary Garrison concerning the altered conditions of the Panama Canal and discuss the charging of rent for the housing of the employes which the labor unions have protested.

ST. LOUIS B. M. L. OPENS MISSOURI WEEK AT THE FAIR

For Six Days State Will Be Chief Feature of San Francisco's Exposition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 30.—The Business Men's League party to the Panama Exposition arrived in San Francisco last night and was officially greeted by President Charles C. Moore of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

The special train of the league, arriving at 5:45, was met by a large committee from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, as well as by the Missouri State Exposition Committee. The delegates went to the Palace and St. Francis hotels.

For three days San Francisco and the exposition will be in the undisputed possession of Missouri. Today is being devoted to the league. The official ceremonies will take place in the Court of the Four Seasons, after a military parade from the Missouri building. T. W. Van is chairman of the day. Edward Hidden, president of the league, will accept a medal presented by the exposition.

St. Louis is the first of the large eastern cities to claim a day at the exposition. The celebration of St. Louis day will take place tomorrow at the Missouri "home." Thousands of former Missourians and members of the Missouri Society of California will take part. Representative men of both St. Louis and San Francisco will make addresses and the day will end with a dance and motion picture entertainment.

Gov. Major will arrive in San Francisco on Sunday evening at 8:30. He and his party will be escorted to the St. Francis Hotel, where the Govenor will make his headquarters for the six days. On Monday morning the ceremonies of Missouri Day will begin with a procession of the military, fraternal organizations, the Missouri Society of California and the Missouri delegation. At the Missouri home the exposition will present a bronze medal and Gov. Major will plant the Missouri tree. This is to be a custom followed by all of the states participating in the exposition and Missouri is the first one to carry it out. The evening will be given over to a ball and reception to which 1000 invitations have been issued.

Tuesday will be sightseeing day, there being no special program arranged. On Wednesday, the Missouri State Exposition Commission will give its banquet, the official closing function for Missouri week.

The Champion Movie Fan.

BUILDING GOES ON IN BERLIN

Municipality Is Constructing Subway and New Schools.

BERLIN, April 30.—Foreigners who come to Berlin now are astonished to find how much new construction, notwithstanding the war, is going on in and under the streets. The municipality is building a subway under the principal north and south street of the city, and in carrying out this scheme it has just torn away the chief bridge over the Spree. It is also putting a four-track tunnel under the famous street Unter den Linden, so that it shall no longer be impaired in appearance by the sight of street cars crossing it. Further to the east another subway is in course of construction through very crowded business sections; one of the two great electrical companies is building it. It will connect suburbs in the north and northeast with those in the southeast.

Another important improvement has been undertaken by the Prussian railway authorities—the enlargement of the Friedrich Strasse station, the principal railway station in the heart of the city. Here the enormous arched roof has been torn away in order to double the size of the building. The city is excavating a great harbor for canal barges on the western side of the city, after having opened a new one to the east of the city only about a year ago. It is also building a wholesale market hall, a school of industrial art, besides about a half dozen other schools.

8 LOS ANGELES MEN INDICTED FOR $1,237,000 LOAN FRAUD

Former Investment Company Officers Also Accused of Falsely Reporting

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Charged with having illegally lent themselves $1,237,000 belonging to 18,000 stockholders scattered throughout the country, Charles A. Elder and eight other former officials of the Los Angeles Investment Co. were indicted by the county grand jury yesterday. The 16 indictments also charge that the accused men schemed in 1912 to deceive stockholders by the false statement that Andrew Carnegie, Charles M. Schwab, former Senator W. A. Clark of Montana and other millionaires were negotiating to buy land at a price which would net the investment company a profit of $8,000,000.

The new indictments supplement true bills against the accused men in October, 1913, by the Federal grand jury, which charged them with having conspired to use the mails to defraud. Trials in these cases are set for next month.

Besides Elder, the men indicted are Ernest Ingold, Charles Cassatt Davis Henry D. Rodgers, Charles F. Bagley, Archibald T. Thomson, William P. Doble, George M. Derby and Fred L. Mowder. Bail was fixed at $20,000 for each of them.

When the Federal indictments were returned the assets of the company, consisting of lands and dwellings built for sale, now estimated at $2,000,000, were turned over to a new set of officers now in control.

SWOBODA'S CAREER IS TRACED

He Is Said to Have Once Given Hamburg as Birthplace.

PARIS, April 30.—Raymond Ruff Schwind, best known as Raymond Swoboda, arrested on suspicion of having started the fire aboard the steamship La Touraine and now charged with espionage, has been identified by Maj. Wehring, it is said, as a former employe in the Russo-Chinese Bank at Shanghai. The prisoner is reported to have admitted he had been convicted at Shanghai under the name of Schwind and stated then that he was born in Hamburg, but he is said to have explained that the name and birthplace were assumed.

The prisoner has written to Maj. Julien of the Paris courtmartial protesting against his long detention, declaring the charge of arson was invented out of spite by a fellow passenger and that the charge of espionage is preposterous.

DANDRUFF SURELY DESTROYS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do, by all means, get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—ADV.

YALE SENIOR WHO ELOPED CALLS ON PAPA ANDREWS

Cleveland Man Who Failed to Prevent Marriage Won't Say He Has Forgiven Son.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Donald S. Andrews of Cleveland, the senior in the Sheffield School at Yale University, who, in spite of the extreme efforts of his parents to keep him from marrying, managed Saturday to elope with Mrs. Alma V. Hayne, wife before she divorced him of Capt. George Osborn Hayne, a British army officer, has had an interview with his father at his hotel.

Just what took place at the meeting the father, who is Matthew Andrews, a prominent citizen of Cleveland, would not reveal, nor would he say whether he had seen his new daughter-in-law or extended forgiveness.

Andrews did say, however, that he and his wife, who have been at the Hotel Vanderbilt since they came here in their efforts to block the marriage, planned to return to Cleveland without delay. Young Andrews and his bride will live in New York.

Mrs. Andrews, who had been in tears at her hotel, said she did not know where her son was and added: "I don't care to say anything about my son's marriage or his wife."

Only a week ago young Andrews was kept a prisoner in the Vanderbilt by detectives, who, acting for his parents, stole his clothes, thereby preventing his elopement then with Mrs. Hayne.

Mrs. Hayne-Andrews says she is the daughter of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria-Hungary and Marie Vetsera, thus making her 6-year-old son, born of her first marriage, she says, the real heir to the Austrian throne. She told friends she met Andrews through a letter of introduction written to her by her "dearest girl friend," who, until a week ago, was betrothed to Andrews.

IRISH M. P'S TO SEE POINCARE

They Carry Assurances of Loyalty of the Irish to the Allies.

PARIS, April 30.—A delegation of Irish members of the British Parliament, headed by T. P. Connor and Joseph Devlin, bearing addresses to President Poincare and Cardinal Amette, has arrived here and will deliver the messages tomorrow. The address to President Poincare affirms the absolute adhesion of the Irish race to the cause of the allies and expresses its firm resolution to participate in the struggle "until a regime of justice based upon the sacred rights of nations shall have been established in the world."

Devlin, on behalf of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will present to Cardinal Amette an address which is a tribute of esteem from the Catholics of Ireland to those of France.

RUNS A NEW AUTO INTO POST

Stranger Tries to Take T. A. Bell's Car From Garage, but Fails.

A well dressed man went to the Imperial Auto Co.'s garage, 1045 North Grand avenue, last night, and told a negro in charge he had called for his machine. When asked to identify himself he brushed the negro aside and got into a new car which had just been purchased a few days before by Thomas A. Bell, proprietor of the garage.

As he started to drive off, he ran the machine against a post. Then he got out and departed, telling the negro he would return in the morning. Bell told the police the man had no authority to take the machine.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS OF CHOICE SUITS AND EXTRA PANTS FOR MEN AND BOYS INCLUDED WITHOUT RESERVE IN THIS MIGHTY

HALF PRICE SALE

This rousing money-saving event was welcomed at the start this morning by the greatest throng of eager purchasers that ever crowded this store. Although we have witnessed some of the biggest crowds in the past, the one that awaited the opening this morning by far eclipses anything we have ever experienced. Never has such a bona-fide money-saving opportunity been presented to the public at the very beginning of the season.

The recent failure of J. B. Greenhut and Co., recognized as one of New York's leading mammoth department stores, left over a million dollars' worth of undelivered Spring merchandise on the hands of eastern makers. The manufacturers were forced to resort to unparalleled price concessions to convert these goods into cash.

Our president, Mr. Max Weil, made a special trip to New York which resulted in the closing out of the cream of all the undelivered Greenhut clothing orders at cash discounts that know no precedent. Every dollar spent here will now do the work of $2. When you see the goods you'll agree with us that these are by far the best clothing bargains ever offered in any sale. Be here tomorrow without fail.

WE ARE JUST FIVE YEARS OLD

It so happens that our fifth birthday occurs at the very time of this immense achievement. This purchase is so important that it has swept aside all possibility of devoting our entire time to our usual anniversary bargain celebration. We have not, however, forgotten the many thousands of patrons who have helped this store to grow and who look forward to this annual event. We have therefore selected 7 souvenir specials from this $100,000 purchase and place them on sale for Saturday only.

PROTEST AGAINST NAGEL OVERRULED IN WAGE DISPUTE

President Finds There Is No Reason for His Withdrawal as Arbitrator.

AWARD EXPECTED TODAY

64,000 Men on 98 Western Railroads Will Be Affected by Decision.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Wilson has concluded that there is no good reason for the withdrawal of Chas. Nagel, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor, from the Arbitration Board handling the wage dispute between the Western railways and their firemen and enginemen, because of the railway employes' protest that as a trustee of the Busch estate of St. Louis he is interested in railway securities.

The President came to his conclusion after conferences with Federal Judge Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation. He takes the position that the railroad employes knew Nagel was a trustee of the Busch estate when he was selected as an arbitrator and as no protest was made them he sees no reason for his withdrawal when an award is about to be made. The limit set for the arbitration proceedings expires today, but the board has power to extend it.

Arbitrators Expected to Announce Award Today.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Members of the Board of Arbitration in the Western railroad wage case, after a curtailed night's sleep, today resumed their efforts to agree on an award, the time limit for announcement of which expires at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The members of the board are Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, presiding Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, for the Fourth Circuit, chairman; Charles Nagel of St. Louis, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor; W. L. Parks, vice president of the Illinois Central; H. E. Byram, vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; Frederick A. Burgess, assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Timothy Shea, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

While it would be possible to extend still further the time to deliver the award, it was understood that every effort would be made to get together on points still under dispute by 4 o'clock.

Chief Demands of Men.

1. One hundred miles or less, five hours or less, to constitute a day's work in passenger service. Overtime pro rata. One hundred miles or less, 10 hours or less to constitute a day's work in all service except passenger and switching, with time and a half for overtime.

2. Varying advances in rate of pay, according to the weight of the engine driven, with a bonus of 10 per cent additional on grades of 8-10s per cent or more. A 5 per cent increase over present rates on narrow-gauge roads. Engineers and firemen to have rights to positions as motormen and helpers when steam power is displaced by electricity, without loss of seniority rights.

3. Enginmen on way freights to receive 10 per cent more than on through freight with overtime additional when switching work causes the overtime.

4. An advance in rate of pay in switching service, 10 hours to constitute a day's work with time and a half for overtime and guarantee of time to eat after six hours' work.

5 Pay for time spent in preparing engine for day's run.

6. Pay for time delayed at initial or final terminal in addition to all mileage or time made on trip.

7. Automatic release when arrived at terminal; if used again run to be considered a new day.

8. Pay for continuous time after 15 hours' rest while held away from home terminal at rate of last service performed.

9. Enginemen "deadheading" shall be paid the same rate as the enginemen hauling them.

10. Hostlers to be employed where there are six or more engines handled per day, engineers and firemen to have rights to these positions, with wages approximately the same as men in switching service.

Surprise Test Opposed.

11. Eliminating the surprise test.

12. Firemen to be assisted at coaling chutes.

13. Employment of two firemen on engines weighing 185,000 pounds or more on drive wheels when in freight service.

14. Firemen to be relieved of duty of cleaning locomotives, engineers to be relieved of duties of filling grease cups, cleaning headlights, setting up wedges and a number of other minor duties.

15. The weight of each engine in service to be posted where information can be available to men.

16. Engineers and firemen not to be required to throw switches, flag through block signal systems or fill water cars.

The requests are all based on a general request that the weight of an engine on its drive wheels shall be the standard of size and the size of the engine, as is now the general practice, shall determine the rate of pay. These rates, as requested, are set forth in detail, according to the weights of the various engines in service in the West, ranging from 80,000 to 400,000 pounds.

Ninety-eight railroads, with 140,000 miles of railroad and 64,000 men are involved in the case.

Auditor of Treasury Resigns.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Former Representative E. A. Andrews of Nebraska, auditor of the Treasury since 1897, has resigned, and Samuel Patterson, a banker of Arapahoe, Neb., has been selected to succeed him.

CLEAN-UP DAY FOR BACK YARDS

Vacant Lots to Be Attacked by Boy Scouts Tomorrow.

Today is Back Yard Day, according to the schedule of the Clean-up and Paint-up Committee. Tomorrow will be devoted by Boy Scouts and school children to cleaning up vacant lots. These lots are to be used as flower or vegetable gardens or playgrounds, as the children shall elect. Mrs. J. V. Cohick has received letters from many property owners offering their lots for the use of the children.

All tin cans and rubbish must be put in some sort of a receptacle so that it may be hauled away by wagons.

Fire Engine Collides With Car.

Fire engine 49, responding to an alarm from Tower Grove and Flad avenues, collided with a Park car at Thirty-ninth street and Flad avenue about 9:50 o'clock last night. Driver Joseph Graf and Engineer August Bayer were thrown from the engine. The horses were cut and bruised.

CARDINALS URGE POPE TO ABANDON HIS NEUTRALITY

Belgian and French Prelates Send Appeal to Vatican on "Injustices of War."

WOULD LAY DOWN RULES

Pontiff Asked to Issue Protest Which Would Be Epoch-Making for Papacy.

ROME, April 30.—Belgian and French Cardinals, Archbishops and Bishops have united in an appeal to Pope Benedict for the Vatican to abandon the attitude of neutrality it has maintained since the beginning of the war. They say they cannot understand how the head of a church which is founded on principles of right and justice can remain neutral without protesting at the same time against those who violated written or unwritten laws. The Pontiff is urged to assume an attitude which would be epoch-making in the history of the papacy.

Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines; Cardinel Amette, Archbishop of Paris, and other members of the Sacred College have sent memorandums to the Pope insisting that such an opportunity may never occur again for the church to show that it stands above political considerations, caring only for the moral and religious interests of the people. It is recalled that even in the Vatican Council of 1870 a petition signed by 40 Bishops was pressed demanding that the church promulgate Christian principles to regulate war and the rights of nations. Other attempts having the same object were made even before that date. In 1868 Cardinal Coullie accepted the patronage of the "Union for the Study of Rights of Nations, According to Christian Principles." Among those who joined in the movement were Cardinals Rampolla, Mercier, Bourne, Amette, Maffi and Vaszari.

Would Lay Down Principles.

The memorandums presented to the Pope say:

"Now is the moment to put into practice the result of those studies as Catholics, and even a certain number of Protestants look to the Pope, as the natural defender of Christian morality demanding guidance in matters so connected with modern civilization as the outcome of Christian teaching. The Pontiff as the supreme pastor of Catholics throughout the world has the right to lay down moral principles which should govern all Christian nations in their reciprocal relations.

"The earliest theologians condemned war altogether, but later, chiefly through the influence of St. Augustine, war sometimes was considered inevitable. St. Thomas and other authorities teach that war always is unlawful unless it is just, which justice can exist only through a just cause and a rigut intention.

"Injustice is no more morally right for a nation than for an individual and its perpetrator is condemned by all Christian principles. Theologians denounced as a pagan error an assertion that 'might is right' or that the right to wage war depends on force of arms. It is worse still when a stronger country fights from a desire for conquest or demands a great indemnity. This, after the killing of thousands, is called by St. Augustine 'brigandage,' necessitating a league of honest, peace-loving nations.

When War Is Wrong.

"Christian theologians call such wars thefts and also teach that the injustice which war seeks to redress must be certain and evident. War is morally wrong when in vindication of probable or doubtful rights.

After citing authorities who condemn the unnecessary destruction of life and property, recommending love even between enemies and ordering that noncombatants be spared, the memorandums close with this statement:

"International laws and conventions are expressions of legitimate consideration. The Hague convention of 1907 gives expression to moral principles binding on the consciences of all Christians."

Half-Price Sale of Men's and Boys' Clothing at Well's.

The Well Clothing Co. at the northwest corner of Washington avenue and Eighth street has just put on a sale of new spring and summer suits for men and boys, which members of the firm declare to be full values at half price. The sale was made possible by the purchase of $100,000 worth of spring and summer clothing from a manufacturer who had just filled a mammoth order for the J. B. Greenhut Company in New York The Greenhut company failed before the goods were delivered and Max Well of the Well Clothing Co. bought what represented to be $100,000 worth of the goods for cash, and he says he got the lot at such a bargain that the prices for St. Louisans will be one-half the actual values.

MAN STANDING ON SIDEWALK HURT WHEN TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

Bounding Machine Hits William Waddell at Sarah Street and Finney Avenue.

William Waddell, 50 years old, of 4042 Labadie avenue, standing on the sidewalk at Sarah street and Finney avenue last night when two automobiles collided in the street, was injured by one machine, which bounded onto the sidewalk. He was knocked down and suffered a fracture of the right shoulder and lacerations of the scalp.

The automobiles were driven by Ralph Wheatley, 19, of 1327 North Prairie avenue, and Russell Kruse, a negro, of 4145 Finney avenue. Wheatley and Kruse were arrested. Waddell was taken to the city hospital.

THE HAGUE, April 30.—The entire session of the International Congress of Women was devoted to the discussion and adoption of two resolutions. The first provided for democratic control in framing the campaign policies of nations. As amended and adopted, this resolution recommended the nullification of all secret treaties and the participation in the adoption of future treaties of the people at least through the legislative branches of governments.

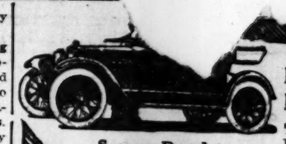

The second resolution, presented by Miss Emily Balch of Wellesley College, opposed the transfer of territory of one nation to another without the consent of the inhabitants. As amended and adopted this resolution recommended recognition of the right of peoples to self-government and demanded a democratic form of government for every nation.

Large quantities of pamphlets dealing with conditions in Poland were distributed among the delegates. This aroused some feeling on the part of some, who characterized it as anti-Russian propaganda emanating from German sources. Dr. Sofia Golinska of Munich and Emily Napieralski of Chicago made speeches in support of the movement for the freedom of the Poles. References also were made to the political position of Jews and Finns in Russia.

The Straw Hat Store Is Ready

This is THE Straw Hat Store of St. Louis & has been for years. Leadership in value giving, in the size of stocks & number of styes has been generally conceded to rest with this store for long time. This year, more than ever before, is this pre-eminently THE STRAW HAT STORE OF ST. LOUIS. All the new styles, many new ideas. Both the calendar & the thermometer have prompted this great initial showing Saturday.

Rainproof Straw Hats at $1.85 to $5

A new idea in Straw Hats. A special treatment we have had our hats subjected to just to insure their giving a little more service than other hats.

Through this new bleaching process the "gummy" feeling which other straws have when wet is eliminated. Hats will not spot so readily not take dust as quickly either, because of this process.

Newest Straws, Panamas & Bangkoks, $1.85 to $20

Every new shape that is correct is shown, every straw, sizes for men & young men. By the fineness of the braid is straw hat quality known—we invite comparison.

At $1.85

Our special value in fine or rough weave sennit, fancy sennit, split Porto Rican, Mackinaw & Milan straws in many becoming shapes.

At $3.00

At $4 and $5

Panamas, $5 to $20

Bangkoks at $5 & $10

WOMAN MAY BE SHIP SURVIVOR

Inmate of Liverpool Almshouse Traced From Empress of Ireland.

CHICAGO, April 30.—A woman supposed to be the wife of William Mounsey of Chicago, who was believed to have perished in the Empress of Ireland disaster, has been found in the almshouse in Liverpool, England, it became known today.

The woman, apparently mentally unbalanced, was picked up on the streets of Liverpool a few weeks after the Canadian Pacific liner sank in the St. Lawrence River, May 29, 1914. She could refer to no friends and was registered as "Kate Fitzpatrick," a name of which she frequently spoke. William Mounsey, the woman's husband, left New York yesterday to sail for Liverpool.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

SIGNATURES OF PATRIOTS BRING $9829 AT SALE

NEW YORK, April 30.—Autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, the last of them obtained by the late Adrian H. Joline 50 years after he began the collection, were sold from Joline's library, yesterday afternoon, in the Anderson auction rooms for a total of $9829.

The signatures that longest eluded Joline were those of Thomas Lynch Jr. of South Carolina and of Button Gwinnett of Georgia. F. W. Morris paid $1350 yesterday for the Lynch signature against a former high record of $580 paid in 1912. The same buyer paid $2375 for the Gwinnett signature. At the Danforth sale in 1912, $4600 had been paid, and in March, 1914, Herbert L. Pratt of Brooklyn paid $2800 by private purchase in Georgia.

Lynch, at about the age of 30, succeeded his father in public affairs. Ill-health deterred him from great activity, and in 1779 he was lost at sea. Joline finally found the signature written in full on the back of the frontispiece of a book from Lynch's library.

A signature of Carter Braxton, signer from Virginia, was sold yesterday to George D. Smith for $175, the next highest price having been $42 in 1914. Smith paid $125 for a two-page letter by Benjamin Franklin. A. M. Baldwin paid $535 for a letter by Joseph Hewes, signer from North Carolina, the previous record having been $450 in 1912. Smith paid $550 for a letter from William Hooper, signer from North Carolina, to his associate signer, Joseph Howes, $450 having been paid in 1912.

W. R. Benjamin paid $500 for a document with the autograph of Arthur Middleton, signer from South Carolina. A Middleton letter for $470 in 1912. Baldwin gave $200 for a one-page letter from John Penn, signer from North Carolina, against $710 paid in 1912. Smith give $210 for a letter from John Witherspoon, signer from New Jersey, March 17, 1777, giving an account of the conduct of Richard Stockton, after he had been arrested and thrown into prison by the loyalists. A Witherspoon signature had been sold in 1912 for $125, and another in 1914 for $95.

Five parts of the Joline library have brought at auction $51,107. Three or four additional parts will be offered later.

Mrs. Harriman Loses in Tax Suit.

BOISE, Idaho, April 30.—Appeal to the United States Supreme Court from the decision overruling yesterday a demurrer made by Mrs. E. H. Harriman in a suit brought against her and the Oregon Short Line Railroad to collect a transfer tax on the Harriman estate. The defense contends the State cannot collect the transfer tax because the railroad is a foreign corporation.

NEW PLAN FOR REORGANIZATION OF THE WABASH

It Contemplates New Company With a Capital Stock of $205,118,000.

$30 A SHARE ASSESSMENT

Committees Agree on Proposal to Raise $27,720,000 for Immediate Needs.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 30.—There is to be a new Wabash railroad when the stockholders pay a 30 per cent cash assessment on their stock, amounting to $27,720,000.

The plan for the reorganization of the company, which has been in the hands of a receiver since December, 1911, was announced late yesterday afternoon by Winslow S. Pierce, acting as the spokesman for the two bondholders' protective committees and the stockholders' committee, who after a long period of disagreement, came to an agreement.

The plan provides for raising $27,720,000 to meet indebtedness. It is proposed to reorganize the company through the formation of a new corporation with a capital of $205,118,000, without the disturbance of the following obligations of the old company, which will be assumed by the new:

Underlying bonds—$62,302,000.

(Being the present amount of underlying bonds exclusive of debenture mortgage bonds and about $57,000 Detroit and Chicago extensions bonds to be retired by sinking fund in 1915.)

Debenture mortgage bonds (excluding $941,000 thereof controlled by the joint reorganization committee and to be held by the new company until the entire issue shall have been retired)—$315,000.

Equipment obligations—$2,541,000.

Total undisturbed obligations—$65,158,000.

To Issue New Securities.

It is proposed to create two classes of new securities as follows:

Forty-six million two hundred thousand dollars of 5 per cent profit-sharing preferred stock, which will be distributed to holders of the old preferred and common stock upon making payment in cash of 30 per cent of the par value of their holdings and the surrender of their stock.

Forty-eight million seven hundred and twenty thousand dollars of 5 per cent convertible preferred stock B in exchange for the first refunding and extension mortgage bonds together with coupons, which are in default.

Forty-three million five hundred and forty thousand dollars of common stock to be distributed among the holders of the preferred and common stocks of the existing Wabash Company upon the payment of the assessment, and $1,500,000 of 4 per cent gold notes in pursuance of an agreement with the committee representing the extended 4½ per cent gold notes.

Charges and Interest Reduced.

The reorganization accomplishes a reduction in the fixed charges amounting to $2,511,363 a year and a reduction in the interest bearing obligations of $56,636,377, or 46 per cent. The decrease in capitalization after reorganization will be $17,201,377.

The profit sharing stock A shall receive preferential dividends up to 5 per cent before any dividend shall be paid on any other stock of the new company, but they shall not be cumulative. After payment of 5 per cent on the preferred B and the common stock, the A stock shall be entitled to an additional dividend at the same rate per cent as any further or additional dividend.

The convertible B stock may at any time after Aug. 1, 1918, be converted into preferred and common stock of the new company at the rate of $50 par value of profit sharing preferred stock and $50 par value of common stock for each $100 par value of convertible preferred stock. Both the profit sharing preferred A and the convertible preferred B shall be redeemable by the company at any time on 12 weeks' notice at 110 per cent of its par value.

The plan must be submitted to the commissions of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa and Ohio.

GEN. DEVOL TO HEAD AMERICAN RED CROSS RELIEF IN EUROPE

New Duties as General Manager Will Begin Tomorrow; to Have Three Months' Leave.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Brigadier-General Carroll A. Devol of the Quartermaster's Department of the army will tomorrow take up his new duties as general manager of the American Red Cross, a newly created post to which he has been appointed by President Wilson as head of the Red Cross. Secretary Garrison was expected to give formal approval today to a three months' leave of absence for Gen. Devol.

Gen. Devol will be active head of the Red Cross in charge of its European relief work and of the entire administration of its affairs.

Major-General George W. Davis, retired, who as chairman of the Central Committee, performed most of the duties to be undertaken by the general manager until ill health intervened, will continue as a member of the committee.

2234 LAND CASE APPEALS CUT TO 940 IN TWO YEARS

Work of Interior Department Greatly Accelerated, Secretary Lane Reports to President.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Wilson had before him today a report by Secretary Lane on the condition of Public business in the Interior Department for the quarter ended March 31. It shows great progress in disposing of public land cases. On March 31 there were only 940 appeals awaiting action, against 2234 two years ago.

Examination of and passing upon original homestead entries, the report states, now occupy approximately two and one-half months, against nearly six months two years ago, and final entry is passed upon within 30 days against three months at the beginning of 1913.

Operations in the patent office have been accelerated, notwithstanding the increase in business. Of the 18,509 applications for patents, reissues and designs, 13,150 were allowed.

Iron Worker Praises Duffy's

Here's a case of a structural iron worker who suffered severe stomach trouble, but thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey he is almost ready to resume his hazardous calling:

"For many weeks I was laid up sick in bed in the hospital with stomach trouble which gradually wore me away to a mere skeleton. This hospital treatment did not seem to improve me, so my doctor said I would not get well and told my people to take me home, as there was nothing anyone on this earth could do for me. When I reached home my doctor ordered me to be fed on a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey every two hours. After taking Duffy's for over one week, without another morsel of food entering my system, I began to have a longing for something to eat, and to my surprise found I could keep a little oatmeal gruel on my stomach, and gradually I regained my former appetite and felt better. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the cause for my present good state of health, and my doctor says I will soon be able to go back to my trade of structural iron worker. I am not afraid of the truth and hope others will benefit from the use of Duffy's the same as myself."—Thomas Satchell, 275 Tillary St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

WAKE UP, ST. LOUIS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Just returned from a stroll through Iowa, where I met commercial travelers currently soliciting trade in all of the Middle Western States. I find most of my business friends here in St. Louis still as in the winter wearing doleful faces and talking hard times. This surprises me. Some of our big manufacturing and jobbing houses, I am told, have called their travelers in off the road, have reduced payrolls here at home, and have settled down to a dull summer.

I can understand an anti-administration politician taking this attitude, born of the hope to oust the Democrats with the hard times cry in 1916. I can't understand any business man taking such an attitude, unless upon the theory that he has become intellectually torpid.

The whole North Central West is absurdly prosperous. There is no end of trade being done and to be done, in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Northern Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois—the states upon whose trade St. Louis has claims of advantage not excelled by those of any other city. The grain and stock farmers of these states had a fairly good year in 1913, and got better than fair prices for their produce. Last year they made big crops and got uncommonly big prices for them. They are loaded to the guards with ready money. They are buying anything they happen to want, or that alert salesmen bring to their notice, and they are paying cash for what they buy. Chicago, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Omaha and Kansas City houses which have kept their eyes open and gagged their pessimists are taking a fat harvest of good trade in all these states. I'm told by travelers out of the cities named that St. Louis alone is not making full use of the opportunity; that St. Louis has "turned over and gone to sleep again," as one man put it.

No doubt St. Louis had heavier commercial accounts in the temporarily hardup South than these other cities. This, however, doesn't excuse St. Louis' apparent neglect to get busier in the territory where conditions are good. One distinguished St. Louisan tells me "St. Louis is dying, like Cincinnati." I don't believe it. I believe St. Louis is at the verge of a reawakening and a period of commercial expansion based on improved team work. That, I should say, is where St. Louis commercially has been "shy." Want of team work. Civically, whatever one man or section here proposes, others promptly oppose. I'm told this discordant spirit runs through our commercial affairs, too. If so, the Business League and the newspapers have their work cut out for them; they must rise above institutional and neighborhood provincialism, pull together for definitely planned purposes, and "go get the goods."

During the past 10 days I have personally visited half a dozen scattered small specialty factories each of which was hundreds of dollars behind its orders in daily output. That's what St. Louis most needs—more small and middle-sized factories, employing 20 to 100 men apiece, making specialties. The big trusts monopolize the universal staples; small scale manufacturing, these days, in the West at any rate, expands almost solely in the production of articles conceived by home talent, financed by home capital, utilising home raw materials in large part, and sold by home energy. St. Louis has the inventive genius, the captial and the selling energy—our job is to get these factories co-ordinated and into action. St. Louis investors must cure themselves of the desire always to look for "investment bargains," calculated to produce a small, sure income, and must acquire the habit of backing new, productive, home enterprises. A dollar put into a new, small home factory, producing a specialty that has a fair chance of being popularized, is five times as powerful a city builder as a dollar put into securities of some foreign corporation. Maybe, after all, it's St. Louis' money that has gone to sleep. If so, it's up to the Business Men's League and the newspapers to jar it awake.

First of all, let's get rid of the idea that the world has come to an end, or that we need to wait until "the end of the war." Nothing of the sort. There's a fat harvest of trade all around us waiting to be taken—and our rival cities are taking it, while St. Louis broods over its ledgers muttering "hard times."

"Fair Weather" Religion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In Friday's Post-Dispatch "H. A. R." is simply deceiving himself. He does not wish to be a Christian. What he really wishes is a little religion on "easy street"—a street that true Christianity is not to be found on, although there are a very few rich Christians. The Lord Jesus said that the Son of Man had not where to lay His head, but H. A. R. is going to play safe.

DYKE WILSON, 148 Rutger street.

ACADEMIC AND OTHER FREEDOM.

Prof. Kuno Meyer, whose fair-minded utterances on the war were widely admired early in the winter as outlining a model attitude for Americans of German birth, must surely have misunderstood the circumstances under which a prize was awarded at Harvard to C. Huntington Jacobs, the author of the "Gott Mit Uns" stanzas.

President Lowell explains that the award was not made by the university. It was offered by some portion of the student body for a student poem and two faculty members assisted in determining the merits of the competition. Dr. Lowell, in fact, had not heard of the incident until his attention was called to it by Prof. Meyer's protest.

What Dr. Lowell says in his letter to Prof. Meyer on free speech is, however, so formulated as to be worthy of remembrance. It applies not only to institutions of learning, but to newspapers, individual publicists, platform speakers, all to whom a special influence in shaping opinion in America can be attributed:

> "As you are aware, the freedom of speech of neither the professors nor the students in an American university is limited, nor are they themselves subject in their utterances to the direction of the authorities. On the contrary, we have endeavored to maintain the right of all members of the university to express themselves freely without censorship or supervision by the authorities of the university, and have applied this rule impartially to those who favor Germany and those who favor the allies—to the former in the face of violent agitation for muzzling professors or alumni of the university and outsiders.
> This policy of freedom of speech we shall continue to pursue, for we believe it to be the only one which accords with the principle of academic freedom."

To this statement Prof. Meyer himself would undoubtedly give hearty indorsement. For an American university to transform itself officially and deliberately into a center of anti-German propaganda would be one thing. But to permit its students wide latitude in forming and expressing individual judgments as to the issues of the war is quite another thing. The professor must have been under the impression that something partaking of the nature of the former had taken place when he wrote his heated letter.

At any rate, a bar on recognition for the literary merit and metrical perfection of a poem which voiced ideals distasteful to a European country at war would be intolerable.

BETTER EAT SOME PEACE BREAD.

A curious reader, evidently as bellicose as curious, wants to know why some local bakery "does not give us a batch of war bread according to the formula issued by the German Government and advertise it for sale here in St. Louis." Everybody would order some, he says, out of curiosity.

Be that as it may, our idea is that peace bread would be a whole lot better for some of our curious citizens to eat just now. Just how the special brand should be made we leave to the bakers, with one suggestion that it have little or no yeast in it. In the regular bread that many of our good citizens eat there is evidently too much of the fermenting, fomenting, uprising principle. We should love to see the Germans breaking peace bread with the Irish, and the Irish breaking peace bread with the Germans.

A METROPOLIS AT LAST.

The work of the State census takers at Des Moines, Io., reached the point Wednesday afternoon when the town was shown to have 100,000 population. The moment had been expected; in fact, eagerly awaited, and as soon as it was known that Des Moines had 100,001 plus people, celebrant blasts were tooted from steam whistles and the town rejoiced until night.

Iowa accordingly is about to lose one of its most curious distinctions—that of lacking any city of considerable size. When men hardly started as yet into business life were schoolboys, it used to be said that Iowa had enormous natural wealth, river navigation, an admirable State railroad system, the highest per capita of wealth among farmers in the union, a congressional delegation of greater average intelligence than any other state's and a metropolis only a little larger than Joplin is now.

Minnesota had St. Paul and Minneapolis, Illinois had Chicago, Missouri had St. Louis and Kansas City and even Nebraska had Omaha, but Iowa, settled at the same time, or even before, the neighboring states were settled, had only Des Moines.

But evidently those rich Iowa farmers are not as successful as they used to be in keeping the boys and girls home on the farm. A Des Moines with 100,000 people is a pretty sizable town and the rush of Iowans from country to city having once begun will not end right away. Iowa lost population from 1900 to 1910, but Des Moines gained. The town's increase from 1910 to 1915 is nearly 20 per cent.

REPRESENTING PUBLIC OPINION.

A reader of the Post-Dispatch "Mirror of Public Opinion" page says that the views of editors on public questions are not truly representative. He adds:

> This is a very old and a very natural delusion. It is perfectly natural for an editor to feel that he is a great power among his readers and that they look to him to guide their thoughts. But the modern editor, in his saner moments, knows that he does not express the majority opinion but little, if any, oftener than he expresses the minority opinion. And why should he? Newspapers are business institutions and they are conducted on a business basis. The man or men who own a newspaper direct its policy, and an editor must conform his own views to this policy or lose his job. This being so, and it is so, why should the views of newspapers be any more representative than the views of grocers, or brewers, or bakers? As a matter of fact they are not. Editorials are an interesting section of any newspaper but they have no bearing whatever on public opinion.

In reputable and independent newspaper offices, editorials are not necessarily written in agreement with public opinion. They express the editor's convictions, gathered from the news of events and the careful study of their significance. Or they are written to influence the action of public officials or to inform and crystallize public opinion. The editor's opinions may be in the minority. He may attempt to change public opinion in accordance with his own views of what is right. Editorials are never dictated from the business office. They may, however, express public opinion, because editors are in direct touch with public men and events. They are in a position to know what their readers and the public are thinking. Hundreds of letters come to the editor every week, expressing the opinions of readers on all public questions. In addition to this, the editor sees in advance of the average reader, the news on important events and reads the expressions of opinion of public men and leaders. All the newspapers of the country and many foreign journals come before him and are gleaned for indications as to the trend of events and opinions.

For these reasons, while editorial expressions, such as the Mirror page of the Sunday Post-Dispatch, contains, are not final or, in a sense, authoritative, they are likely to be of the highest interest and value. When they all point in a given direction, it is fairly conclusive that public opinion is actually presented by these examples of its expression.

THE CITY'S FIGHT.

Speaking of the need of St. Louis for a successful anti-tuberculosis campaign, Dr. Simon Flexner sensibly remarked that each city must work out its own tuberculosis problem through its medical men. He added significantly that he did not think that any condition unfavorable to public health in St. Louis could long remain after the great Washington University medical school has begun its research work.

Doubtless the medical faculty and local medical men are willing to do their parts, but we are not so much in need of advice as of means. We need facilities to do what we know should be done. We need thorough inspection, visiting nurses and hospital accommodations.

Valuable as volunteer work is, the campaign cannot be made thoroughly efficient without the co-operation of the municipality. St. Louis as a city should undertake the fight against tuberculosis and provide the resources and facilities for success. This is an essential of sanitation and public welfare work.

In disease fighting as in fire fighting, economy which sacrifices efficiency is costly. In the end it means heavy losses and large expenditures. It is cheaper to prevent disease than to cure it.

A GLIMPSE OF AULD LANG SYNE.

Is the old primordial life, the pristine vigor, returning to these parts? Can the old guard "come back"?

It smacks of rejuvenation to read that John Thomas Brady is being sought by the police—or have they found him ere now? John Thomas Brady, hero of auld lang syne. How long it has been since he figured in the news save as a pacific influence and maker of salve. Such brave days they were when he used to smash a policeman for sheer love of the sport.

What vital statistics we enjoyed, what animated street scenes, what lively courtrooms, under the ancient regime, when John Thomas and Col. Abe Slupsky and men like the Bradys and Stortses were in their prime, when Harrigan was Chief of Police and Desmond Chief of Detectives—aye, when Noonan was Mayor! There was many a thrill in Kerry Patch when feuds were rife and doughty lads strove to become its "King." You had to know your neighborhood and there was a biceps on the arm of every ward boss in the days of old Ed Butler, rest his soul! You trimmed your nails carelessly with a Bowie knife and slanted your eye towards the Indians near the kerb while you stood in line at the polling places in the old dead days beyond recall—about the political birthtime of "the angel-faced boy from St. Malachi's Parish" that clave his way to boss-ship by his good right arm—days when Bill Reedy was no more than a police reporter. There was something to report then. What reporter does not recall "Bad Jack" Williams affectionately, and later even, Frank Hussey—peace to their memories! And good old Pat Carmody, and his successor as Fourth Ward committeeman, Tom Kinney—they brightened the same virile past and the pages of our extras!

It is to sigh for the almost prehistoric, pre-Folk era when we glimpse John Thomas in the morning news, and drop a tear for the old Hectors and Achilleses that are no more.

"MUDDLE-HEADED" BRIDGE-BUILDING

Philadelphia, built along the Delaware River on both sides of the Schuylkill in the vicinity of the junction of the two streams, planned some eight or 10 years ago another great bridge across the Schuylkill at the foot of Passyunk avenue, an important spoke street running well into the main business district of the city.

This bridge was completed four years or more ago. However, the public which paid for it has had no use of it, for a reason which the Record states as follows:

> It could only be made accessible by a long approach on the western side, where the ground is low and marshy. During the long years the bridge itself was in course of erection, there was no reason why work should not have been prosecuted on this approach, but nothing was done. The authorities waited until the bridge itself was completed and then spent several years dumping ashes and dirt on the difficult fill necessary.

The opening of the costly bridge, from which much benefit to real estate and business interests on both sides of the river is expected, was, in fact, delayed until last week. The Record's denunciation of the "muddle-headed manner" in which the improvement was carried into effect will be indorsed throughout the country. St. Louis especially can appreciate the public exasperation occasioned by such an example of inertia, lack of foresight, sacrifice of community welfare and obvious business loss due to heavy interest charges on a bridge investment from which no use or benefit was received. The St. Louis taxpayer extends sympathy to the Philadelphia taxpayer.

At the same time, the fact that a second American city has for years had a useless completed bridge on its skyline, has suffered humiliation from the reproach of approach blundering and has had its bridge building jeered at as typical of its general policies and public spirit is not without some secret consolation for St. Louis. And that in spite of the fact that the second city was slow-going Philadelphia,

ON THE VERGE OF WAR.

JUST A MINUTE

MR. ANTWINE ON WILL SUITS.

"IT'S a shame to pull off things like the Campbell will case without a reasonable concession to public interest," Mr. Antwine said. "There should have been a parade before the trial opened, with a brass band leading, the money carried on a truck preceded by the lawyers for the plaintiff and followed by the lawyers for the defense, the plaintiffs following in one group, the defendants in another, the nurses making another group, the dressmakers another, the hotel clerks a third, old friends another, bellhops, masseuses, dominies—and so on for a couple of blocks, making all in all one of the finest parades ever seen on a public highway.

"We are losing sight in this country of the value of the parade. Just because circus parades and minstrel parades have worn out, we seem to think there is no virtue in any sort of public procession. That's a mistake. I would have gone to St. Louis to see the Campbell will case properly paraded, and I imagine all of us would."

"I know I would," the storekeeper said. "I would like to have seen the money, if nothin' else."

TALK ABOUT WAR TAXES!

The Grafton treasury is empty, busted, bankrupt, and the city fathers have been hard put to find some way to raise funds. As all members of the Council are married men, they decided that those who enjoy luxuries should pay for them and they passed a law putting a tax of $25 on every unmarried man over 28 years of age, and a tax of $10 on every unmarried woman over 25 years. A man by proving that he has proposed to a woman in the past year and was refused will be exempt from paying the tax. A woman who can prove that no man has proposed to her during the past year will also be exempt. The law went into effect the first day of April.—Grafton (Ill.) News.

Mr. Rockefeller's announcement that he will not give money to individuals is not proving very popular. It is the only way in which money can be enjoyed.

Sorry it is too cold for Col. Gorgas to see some of our River des Peres mosquitoes. He would probably mistake them for bats.

We must explain that Barnes Hospital is not named for Boss Barnes, or Col. Roosevelt will never have anything in it.

The Sultan of Turkey says Allah is good. We don't know about that, but we do know he is good and busy.

THE MORGAN WAR PROFITS.

THAT J. P. Morgan & Co. are making more than a fair profit on their British war contracts, or that they have thrown any of those contracts to concerns in which they are interested, is too serious a charge and too little like J. P. Morgan & Co. for popular credence in the United States. We have known the company for many years, and have always found it to be extremely bashful in money matters. If it has altered the policy of 30 years and finally determined to go out after the coin, it is because with the passing of the senior Morgan the firm has fallen into the hands of someone who does not share the founder's wholly unmercenary point of view.

We are satisfied that when the charges made in Parliament are investigated, it will be found that the Morgan contracts have been handled upon that scant margin of profit which is the house's wont. We have never known it to be grasping, and it would especially surprise us to learn that it had taken an advantage. Mr. Lloyd-George says there isn't anything in it, and knowing the firm much better than he does, we are quite sure there isn't. It must be recalled that this is the same J. P. Morgan & Co. which engineered the Tennessee Coal and Iron deal and averted a panic.

Let us be fair.

"Whom do you suppose Mr. Marshall is being Vice President to please?"

"I imagine he is doing it just to please the provision of the Constitution."

It would have flattered Boss Platt had Col. Roosevelt said some of those things before the Senator died.

The Allies have resumed the attack on the price of wheat.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

J. B.—To soften hair, try rubbing in vaseline. Use brush freely.

BRIDE-TO-BE.—Crossed eyes are not hereditary except as a tendency. You can easily have your eyes straightened.

W.—Persistence is necessary in treatment to prevent loss of hair. Nature is slow. You might apply this mixture: Oil of almonds, 4 troy drams; croton oil, 12 drops. Give 5-minute massage night and morning, very gently administered with just pressure enough to make the skin faintly pink, and done with a rotary movement with the tips of the fingers. Remember that it is always the scalp that moves and not the fingers. See that you have good health and that your head gets plenty of air and sunshine.

HEALTH HINTS.

WORRIED.—Should the little lumps ever pain you, see a physician.

PANSY.—Have a talk with the woman physician at evening dispensary for women, 15th near Locust.

SNEEZE.—It looks as if it is the powder that causes your sneezing. If otherwise, and you find it troublesome, consult a nose and throat specialist.

E. O.—"A case of appendicitis should be operated on as soon as ever the diagnosis is made—within the first 12 hours if possible," said Dr. Edmund Owen, addressing the Medical Society of London. "The patient will then not only get well almost for certain, but will get well very quickly." This was the summing up of a paper on the necessity for immediate operation in all cases of appendicitis. A long debate followed, in which surgeons and physicians from all parts of England took part, and the remarkable feature of it was that there was not one dissentient voice. However, some physicians still believe they can cure appendicitis without operation, but Dr. Owen insists that such a cure is only temporary, if it succeeds at all, and that in the vast majority of cases in which it fails an early operation would have prevented serious trouble and danger of death. (Roger W. Babson says that in looking up appendicitis cases he learned that in 17 per cent of the operations for that disease the postmortem examinations showed that the appendix was in perfect condition.)

LAW POINTS.

L. F.—If paper hanger is working for another not the landlord, look to his employer to make good the damage.

X. Y. Z.—The deed you received would decide your rights. If vendor did not reserve the mineral, the rights under the lease to such passes to you.

B. F.—If the head of a family, your $250 stock of goods will be exempt, together with ordinary amount of household furniture about $500 in value. The bank account may be attached.

POOR MAN.—If plaintiff in divorce case files petition on publication and defendant in meantime turns up and files answer and plaintiff has the case dismissed, the costs are only a few dollars less.

B. E. J.—We have not heard of the concern and cannot say as to safety of your investment. The proper way is to record your contract of purchase and before going further have title investigated and have someone compare papers that knows.

OLD SUB.—You have recourse against the agent in not carrying out his agreement. If you cannot afford to hire an attorney, see Legal Aid Bureau (Board of Education Building). They may take the matter up for you, though its purpose is not for cases of this kind.

F. P.—To be certain you have good title to the land, have the same investigated by some abstract or title company. The County Treasurer you refer to may send you a list of such to whom you can write as to their charges. When writing inclose self-addressed stamped envelope to assure reply.

TESS.—You need not provide for nor raise your stepchild, and there is no law to compel you to do so. The child being his, he is the one to properly clothe and support it and the law will look to him, not to you. Just because you have some money of your own is no reason why you should support another's child.

ANXIOUS.—Whatever contract you have with agent would govern; if no contract, and agent is not the procuring cause, in that event he could not claim commission. If agent has commission rightfully coming, be honest and pay him and let him close the deal; we do not care to suggest a way whereby you may prevent his collecting it, in view of it possibly being justly due him. Remember the Golden Rule.

MABEL.—Length of time is immaterial to establish a common-law marriage; having agreed to live as man and wife, and so holding and introducing to others that you are such is sufficient and binding, and to avoid possible complications upon separation, a divorce is advisable. Having children by a former legal marriage and none by this (common law) marriage, he could not claim any right or title in any real estate you own at the time of your death and you could will such as you please, but if any child be born of this (common law) marriage an estate by curtesy would exist and he could claim the income of same during his life. As to personal property he could claim a child's share regardless whether any child be his own and besides certain other minor things. No responsibility whatever rests upon you to raise or support his children of a former marriage; the same applies to his as to your own children of former marriage.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A.—Height cannot be increased half an inch in a short time.

DALY.—Fred Busse's term as Republican Mayor of Chicago expired in 1911.

P. M.—At beginning of the war Germany had 39 or more submarines, Italy 20.

O'CONNOR.—Texas area 265,780 square miles. Germany in Europe, 208,860; Germany in Africa, 931,680.

UNANSWERED.—Gabrilowitsch, gabril-o-vich; accent o. A distinguished Russian pianist who is the husband of Clara Clemens, well-known singer, daughter of Mark Twain.

PEACE.—The American League to Limit Armaments, 43 Cedar street New York City, offers to send gratis to school pupils, superintendents, principals and teachers its printed matter especially prepared for debating upon the increase of America's military forces. Other material useful in the preparation of essays and orations on this subject is also offered by the same organization, without charge.

G. E. B.—A solution of copperas dissolved in water at the rate of 1½ pounds salt to each gallon water, and applied to lawn with spray pump so as to wet all plants, will kill off dandelions. Should be applied with force, in form of fine spray. Three or four applications, at intervals of two or three weeks during summer, are needed. The solution will blacken the grass, but will not affect it permanently. This solution will stain stone or cement walks.

DON.—See who can hold most beans in one hand, or most peanuts; who can count longest without taking breath; who can pick up orange from floor upon common pin and make complete circuit of room holding it poised and using but one hand. Rice-eating contest with chop sticks is certain to make a laugh, as also the old feat of drawing a pig with eyes closed. Interesting and instructive is a pronunciation game, selecting words in common use and commonly mispronounced. Leader for this will have to prepare beforehand, getting latest authorities on pronunciation. Let all gather around large table or in circle and let leader give out words in turn by spelling them. Offer a prize for the one who stands up longest or makes fewest errors. Here is a list of 19 words: Address, adult, apparatus, acoustic, automobile, bicycle caffein, cicatrix, dermatis, cocaine, cornet, eczema, gladiolus, obligatory, orthoepist, parenis, programme, pyramidal, chauffeur, etc. If preferred, take geographical names in common use, such as Worcester, Syracuse, Schenectady, Athens, Coxsackie, Leicestershire, Gila, Los Angeles, or even some of the names of St. Louis streets.

The Camera Fiend

By Esther Bayard Churchill.

"I HAVE fully decided. I shall not alter my mind. You will give up your position here, and go back to college for a post-graduate course of two years."

Thus spoke stern, iron-willed Cyrus Merrill, owner of the oldest and biggest bank in Ridgeton. His nephew, Alton Merrill, looked glum and dazed.

"Uncle, you can't mean it!" he faltered. "Surely you cannot be so unjust as to allow an innocent frolic to alter all the cherished plans of my life?"

"A mere boyish freak, sir," insisted Alton. "Listen, if you please. Yesterday was my birthday. Some of the old crowd wanted to celebrate, and we went down to the beach for an old-time clambake."

"Not a drop!" declared Alton. "We are not that sort. We had a good time, and on the way home played a foolish trick or two, just as a reminder of our youthful days."

"H'm! You call burning down Farmer Rollins' haystack an innocent trick, I suppose?" snorted the uncle.

"No, sir, that was an accident. One of the crowd dropped his cigar and the stuff went ablaze. We've fixed that, uncle. Each man chipped in, and Mr Rollins will be indemnified for the loss we caused him before night."

"H'm! Well, this lark of yours, as you so lightly term it, convinces me that you lack the mature balance necessary with a young man of business. You are frivolous, unsettled. Why! that photograph fad of yours has cost you a small fortune. Your mind should be on the bank—first, last, and all the time. At the end of a month you will prepare to go back to college. That is my last word. Why, sir," and the old financier swelled up with a sense of his own vast importance, "I should think my success and, I may say, my infallibility as an expert banker, would set a model for you. It is only by strict attention to business that I have earned the reputation of making this institution a veritable stronghold. No borrower ever gets the best of me. No sleek swindler pulls the wool over my eyes."

Alton Tells Winifred.

MEEKLY, but at soul wretched and unhappy, Alton accepted the dictum of his self-centered relative and passed from the room. Two months previous he had graduated from college with full honors. His uncle had offered him a position at a good salary in the bank.

Forthwith Alton had considered himself a made man. The first thing he did was to fall in love with pretty Winifred Price, the belle of the village, his second was to become engaged to her and plan a speedy marriage.

Perhaps his uncle had learned of this, Alton reflected, and that was the real secret of his drastic action. At all events the ultimatum had been presented. It was open rebellion or submission. If the former, Alton well knew that his uncle would disown him, which meant the loss of the substantial backing of a helpful, influential friend.

Alton talked over the situation that evening with Winifred. She was sensible about it. Better to wait two years than to rush madly into matrimony with no fixed business establishment, she advised. At least, she decided, Alton had better keep in his uncle's good graces until he was sure he could shift for himself.

So, Alton mournfully accepted the situation. Winifred consoled him sweetly and his photographic fad helped him pass the time when it was unemployed and irksome. He photographed the bank building, outside and interior, in all its phases. He took secret snap shots of his uncle in various poses. Whenever a stranger came into the bank, he made a picture of him.

"My rogues' gallery!" he told the cashier whimsically. "Some day somebody will put it over us and I will be able to establish his identity."

The $200 Reward.

ONE day, indeed, the banker's hoarded gold was in peril, and Cyrus Merrill knew it not. A well-dressed, dignified stranger came into the bank, and after looking over some papers at the depositors' table approached the president of the institution.

"Mr. Merrill," he said courteously, "I am having some important dealings with the valley manufacturers. I have just come from your rival bank here. They wish to charge me 5 per cent for a trusteeship and some easy negotiations. Can I do business for you on a cheaper basis?"

"Yes, sir," answered the banker, eager to snap up an easy opportunity, "if the business is entirely local"—

"It will be."

"Our charge will be 2½ per cent."

"Thanks. You will hear from me in a day or two," said the stranger, who called himself Richard Wolfe, and he left the bank.

A few minutes later a neatly dressed young lady entered the bank. She approached Mr. Merrill.

"I came in to direct a letter," she explained, "and I found this on the desk where I was writing."

She handed a long pocketbook to the banker. In vast surprise he examined its contents. It contained $4000 in bank notes of large denominations. On its flap were the initials "R. W.," and Mr. Merrill at once decided that it belonged to his recent visitor.

"I am pleased at your honesty, young lady," he said heartily—for him. "I think you had better leave your name and address, for I am sure that the owner of the money will wish to recognize your helpfulness."

Within 10 minutes the man who called himself Richard Wolfe came hurrying back into the bank. Ah! his money had been found. Thanks, and the finder? At once send her this—and he liberally handed the banker two $100 bills. Then he stated that he had decided to do business with the bank. He counted out $8000. It was to be held in trust to purchase some bonds, which he named. He would at once write to the owner of the same and have him come from another town, where he lived. He authorized Mr. Merrill to pay as high as 90. If he got them for less, they would divide on the bargain.

Alton Had "Snapped" Him.

THE liberality of the stranger, the sight of the ready cash, the chance to make "an honest dollar"—all appealed to the banker in a strange way. What followed came quickly. Another stranger appeared at the bank within two days with the bonds in question and received the money for them, and next Richard Wolfe again appeared. In an excited, confidential way he informed the banker he had learned that the bonds would go up 20 points the following week. He knew where he could buy another block of them. They would divide on the profits, as before. Result: He borrowed $4000 on the securities, and within a week Cyrus Merrill knew he was a swindled man.

Only Alton knew of the transaction. He realized his uncle's humiliation and chagrin, when the latter recklessly announced that he would give half the $4000 to get the money back from "the first man who had ever put one over on him."

For two days Alton was absent. He returned to place in the hands of his astonished uncle $2000.

"The balance you promised as a reward, you know," he submitted.

"But how"—

"I took a picture of that Wolfe fellow the first day he came into the bank," explained Alton. "I found its duplicate in the rogues' gallery in the city. They rounded up your man—a notorious criminal."

"Yes," said Mr. Merrill, "you can keep that money, and you can stay in the bank, but if you ever hint publicly at the noodle I've been, I'll disown you on the spot."

"I shall tell only Winifred!" whispered the happy young man raptly to himself.

The Sandman Story for Tonight

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

MR. FOX had a fine farm, and one summer he said to his wife: "My dear, let us plant our corn and peas early; then we can go to the seashore and enjoy ourselves while they are growing."

So they planted the crop early, and they and the 17 little foxes went to the seashore and had a fine time. And when it was time to put the crop away for the winter they returned home.

But when they got there they saw only bare fields, where the crop should be growing, for someone had stolen it all. Then all the other animals came hurrying to tell them about it.

"It was that bad Wolf that stole your crop; I didn't do it," said the Bear.

"It was that thieving Bear that robbed you; I didn't do it," said the Coon.

"It was old man Coon that took your corn and peas; I didn't do it," said the 'Possum. And so they all spoke to him, each accusing the others.

"I'll go see for myself," said Mr. Fox to his wife after all the animals had left. So he and his family went down to the fields.

"And here's Billy 'Possum's tracks," said the 17 little foxes.

"They've all been robbing me," said Mr. Fox. "And they told me stories about it, too. I'm going to make them give me back what they stole, and more, too, and I'm not going to ask them for it, nor pay them a penny, nor tell any stories, either."

Then he wrote a letter about it all to his cousin, whose name was—but never mind about that now—and waited until one day when he saw the other animals hauling their ripe corn and peas to their barns. Then he rumpled up his hair and mussed himself so he looked as if something had scared him nearly to death, and he started down the road just as hard as he could run, and whenever he met one of the animals he would rush about and shout, all out of breath: 'The Wild Boobaloo is acoming tomorrow! It eats corn and peas when it's hungry, and when it gets hungry again it eats some more, and the hungrier it gets the more it eats! The Wild Boobaloo is acoming tomorrow!'"

OF course, this scared all the animals frightfully, for they thought this Boobaloo must be a very terrible creature, so they all ran off after Mr. Fox. When they got to Mr. Fox's house and called, Mr. Fox stuck his head out of the upstairs window.

"Oh! Mr. Fox!" they cried, "tell us how we can keep the wild Boobaloo from eating up all our corn and peas."

"I will keep the wild Boobaloo from eating your crops," replied Mr. Fox, "if you will give me half of them."

The animals begged him to take less, but Mr. Fox would not.

"Well," they said at last, "it's better to save half than have the wild Boobaloo eat it all." So that afternoon they all hauled half their crops over and put them in Mr. Fox's barn.

The next day most of the animals were afraid to stir for fear of the wild Boobaloo; but in the evening they got up courage and all went over to Mrs. Fox's to get the news. Mr. Fox was sitting on his front porch, talking to a handsome young fox.

"Good evening," said Mr. Fox, bowing politely. "Let me introduce my cousin, the wild Boobaloo. I wrote him to come over and pay me a visit today."

Of course the animals were furious, but they could do nothing, for Mr. Fox had told them nothing but the truth, and it was their own foolish fear that caused them to be so frightened over the wild Boobaloo. So they went home growling and snarling, and each blaming the others for stealing Mr. Fox's crop.

TOMORROW the formal opening of the summer season at Bellerive Club will be celebrated. Golf links and tennis courts will be filled with players in the afternoon and in the evening there will be a dinner dance. The first ladies' day of the season was last Tuesday, when scores of women of the fashionable set went out to the table d'hote luncheon. Among those present were: Mmes. Joseph Dickson, John A. Ockerson and James Van S. Barret; Mrs. Harry Scullin and her sister, Mrs. Harry Papin; Mrs. Charles Scullin, Mrs. George Marion Brown and her daughter, Mrs. Robert M. Nelson; Mmes. Richard Boyle and C. A. Howe; Mrs. David R. Calhoun and her guest, Mrs. Jack Geraghty of Minneapolis, who was formerly Miss Marie Walsh of St. Louis; Mmes. Salorgne Scullin, George D. Fisher, William H. Elliott, Herbert L. Parker, Thomas Meston, Lucas Turner, Charles McLure Clark, Edward V. Papin, Rufus Lackland Taylor and Misses Stella Schnaider, Katherine Peddle, Nellis Griswold and Ida Mellier.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Mather Bain have sent out invitations to a reception which they will give at their residence, 3801 Flora boulevard, in honor of their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Valle Bain, whose marriage took place Wednesday.

The bride was Miss Clara Louise Gregg, who formerly resided here and who was in St. Louis on a visit from Los Angeles. Mr. Bain persuaded her to be married while she was here, instead of waiting till June, so the wedding took place at the home of Mr. Bain's grandmother, Mrs. George Valle, 3811 Flora boulevard.

A ball will be given this evening to close formally the Century Boat Club's winter social season. About 400 persons are expected to be present. There will be dancing both indoors and on the new veranda. The waltz and the two-step will have a place on the program. The entertainment committee has arranged an exhibition of the newest ballroom dance, the aeroplane waltz, which was introduced in St. Louis less than a month ago by Joan Sawyer. It will be danced by Miss Clara G. Knaus and Karl H. Heckrich, members of the club. Several small dinner parties given by members of the ball committee will precede the ball. A supper for the entire party will be served at midnight. The club will be decorated with lilacs and fruit blossoms and garlands of wild smilax.

A pageant of the Pied Piper of Hamlin will be given tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Young Women's Christian Association on the grounds of the Christian Orphans' Home, 2951 North Euclid avenue. The proceeds will be divided between the two institutions.

Among the St. Louisans who are spending a few weeks at Restwood, a summer resort on the Gasconade, near Jerome, Mo., are Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hoblitzelle of 4380 McPherson avenue and their children, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hording, 5543 Minerva avenue, and Judge and Mrs. Franklin Ferriss of 5828 Cabanne avenue. Mr. and Mrs. William Wassman of the Hotel Jefferson returned Thursday, after spending two weeks at Restwood.

TWO HOMELESS MEN FOUND IN GAS-FILLED ROOM DIE

George Eckert and Peter Timlin Had Been Sleeping in Vacant Building.

Peter Timlin, 55 years old, who with George Eckert, 54 years old, was found unconscious in a gas-filled room at 508 Wash street yesterday afternoon, died this morning at the city hospital. Eckert died before the arrival of an ambulance.

The house, which has been vacant for three years, is the property of Washington University. Recently lead pipe thieves cut away a section of pipe, causing the gas to leak.

Timlin and Eckert were homeless and used the vacant house for sleeping quarters. Mrs. Christina Eckert of 2512 Thrush avenue told the police she would visit the morgue to ascertain if George Eckert was her son.

MRS. JANE E. PARSONS DIES

Mother-in-Law of Ben F. Blewett Operated on 2 Weeks Ago.

Mrs. Jane Elizabeth Parsons, mother-in-law of Ben F. Blewett, Superintendent of Public Schools, died at the Blewett home, 3405 Hawthorne boulevard, at 3 a. m. today.

Mrs. Parsons was thought to be recovering after an operation for stomach trouble performed two weeks ago. About 10 o'clock last night she became ill and sank rapidly. Blewett is on his way to the San Francisco Exposition. His wife died about a year ago and his father died three months ago.

OUT OF WORK, DRINKS ACID

Man Denies Wife's Statement He Tried to Get Her to Take Some.

August Dieckmeyer of 2519 South Broadway drank carbolic acid in the yard of his residence yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the city hospital where physicians today said he would recover.

His wife told the police that before drinking the poison Dieckmeyer had tried to persuade her to drink some also, and became angry when she refused. Dieckmeyer denied this. He said he had been discouraged because unemployed.

CUT THE PRICE—THAT'S THE WORD —TO— EVERY KROGER STORE FOR THIS BIG SALE

Hundreds of thousands of St. Louis housewives are saving substantial amounts on their household needs without stinting one particle on quality by resolving to investigate for themselves, Kroger Quality at Kroger Prices. Just stop in any Kroger Store Saturday and you will understand how ridiculous is the claim that in order to get really high-grade Food Products you must pay exhorbitant prices. How can Kroger sell so low? Quantity purchases for Cash—by buying in trainloads when the world's markets offer snaps—Buying for one house what would ordinarily supply 60 to 100 individual dealers—Buying in one hour more than the ordinary dealer buys in a lifetime. Think it over.

PRESIDENT ORDERS AN INQUIRY INTO SHRAPNEL SUIT

Directs Attorney-General to Determine Whether There Is a Conspiracy.

INJUNCTION IS SOUGHT

Wisconsin Statute Relied Upon to Check Shipments of Munitions to Allies.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Wilson today directed Attorney-General Gregory to make an investigation, so that the Government may be informed, of the complaint filed yesterday in Milwaukee to determine whether the Allis-Chalmers Co. has entered a conspiracy with the Bethlehem Steel Co. or others to ship shrapnel shells to Europe.

The action, brought under the "Discovery" statute of Wisconsin, is a State affair, but as it contends that certain Federal statutes are being violated, the Attorney-General was directed to investigate that phase especially. Officials know of no law to prevent shipments of ammunition as articles of commerce and they assume it is contended the neutrality laws are being violated in some other way.

State Department officials said they could see no way in which the Federal Government could be involved in the suit unless it concerned something more than the right of American manufacturers to sell munitions to the belligerents.

Suit Aims to Check Shipments of Munitions to Allies.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—A complaint was filed yesterday, under the so-called "discovery" statute of Wisconsin, to obtain information to determine whether the Allis-Chalmers Co., a corporation; Otto Falk, its president, and others have entered into a conspiracy with the Bethlehem Steel Co. and others not yet known, to manufacture and ship shrapnel shells to European belligerents, contrary to the Wisconsin law.

The action, service in which was obtained, calls for the appearance of Falk and the other defendants before the Circuit Court Commissioner in Milwaukee, May 5, for preliminary action before pleading, as provided by the discovery statute proceedings. Falk is cited to appear and bring with him all letters, contracts, correspondence and agreements between the Allis-Chalmers Co. and the Bethlehem Steel Co.

The complaint was filed by Samuel Pearson, who declares he is a citizen of the United States and that he has valuable property interests located within the boundaries of the German Empire; that he is owner of securities issued by the German Government, and that the German Government is, and for some time past has been, engaged in war with Great Britain, France, Serbia, Montenegro, Russia and Japan.

Examination of the defendants under the discovery statute is for the purpose of ascertaining, among other things, the names of each person or corporation with whom the defendants may have contracted for the manufacture of shrapnel shells, or similar munitions; the intent and nature of such contracts, and the names of any consignees to whom such munitions may have been shipped. Upon the information gained in the examination, it is said, an injunction suit will be based to prevent the defendants from continuing in any such conspiracy as is alleged.

CANAL DEFICIT OF $261,098

PANAMA, April 29.—The first eight months of operation of the Panama Canal have not yielded a profit to the Government, notwithstanding that traffic has been better than had been expected in view of the European War. From July 1, 1914, and ending March 1, 1915, the canal showed a loss of $261,098, the deficit being mainly chargeable to the high cost of operation and maintenance.

During the period mentioned the canal earned $2,334,515 in tols while the charge for operation and maintenance was $2,595,613, the Government thus losing approximately 10 per cent. Under operation and maintenance are included all the diversified expenditures necessary for keeping the canal open to traffic and a prorated part of the expenses on civil government, sanitation and general administration. More than a third of the total overhead expense of the canal is charged to operation and maintenance.

MAROONED MEN SAFE ON ISLAND

Eleven From Wrecked Schooner Found to Have Food.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Eleven men marooned on the Island of Guadelupe, 225 miles southwest of San Diego, are safe and in no danger of starvation, according to a radiogram received from the cruiser Cleveland sent by Admiral Howard to investigate.

The men are marooned as a result of the wreck of the power schooner Admiral, a vessel of about 150 tons, which went ashore there several weeks ago.

This is how the latest song hit, "The Bird of Paradise," happened to be written by Irving Berlin, author of "Watch Your Step." After writing "Watch Your Step," that made such a success in New York, Berlin took a trip to the Hawaiian Islands and there captured a bird of paradise for a friend at home. The customs officers confiscated the bird at San Francisco, so the song was written and presented instead.

TENER TELLS WARD KAUFF WILL NOT PLAY FOR GIANTS

YESTERDAY'S GAME STANDS

Secretary Heydler Says Score of 13-8 Will Go Into Official Records.

NEW YORK, April 30.—President John K. Tener of the National League officially notified Robert B. Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federal League club, shortly before noon today that Kauff would not be permitted to play in the National League at this time. This telegram to Mr. Ward was as follows:

"Answering your wire of yesterday relative to the Kauff incident, you are apprised that the player in question will not be permitted to play in the National League at this time.

"JOHN K. TENER,
"President, National League."

"President, National League."

Secretary John A. Heydler, speaking for President John K. Tener of the National League, said today that the executive of the senior baseball organization had ruled that yesterday's game between the New York and Boston clubs, won by Boston, 13 to 8, was a contest regularly scheduled and played and would be counted in the league records and standing as a victory for the Boston club.

May Turn Kauff Back.

Secretary John P. Foster of the New York club, in discussing this point said that when such a decision was officially received by the New York club the game would be protested and the matter brought to the attention of the Board of Directors of the National League.

Regarding the playing status of Kauff Mr. Foster said it was the contention of the New York club that Kauff was the property of the Giants as a result of the agreement entered into by the New York club and the Indianapolis club of the American Association last September.

"If it is proved, however, that the Brooklyn Federals have a prior or binding contract with Kauff," said Foster, "we will withdraw all claim to his services."

How It All Happened.

When Kauff, wearing the uniform of the New York club, dropped into the Polo Grounds his appearance was the cause of a near-riot, the game between the Giants and the Braves being first forfeited by Umpire Quigley and then played and won by the world's champions. All this precipitated a wordy war between Manager McGraw and President Jim Gaffney, owner of the Braves, who occupied a box seat next to the Boston bench.

When President Gaffney learned that Kauff was to play in the outfield for the Giants he refused to allow his team to play against the Giants, declaring the former Brookfed star an ineligible player. Following this the owner of the Braves got in touch with President Tener over the telephone and the executive of the National League informed him that Kauff was ineligible and not to play with the Giants under any condition.

McGraw, however, declared that he would play Kauff, and when Umpire Quigley called play the "Little Napoleon" sent Bennie out to center field, while the crowd, ignorant of what was going on, cheered wildly.

Manager Stallings, under instructions from owner Gaffney, refused to allow Moran to go to bat against Marquard. Umpire Quigley then pulled out his watch and, after held a short conference with Mal Eason, the assistant arbitrator. Eason wisely decided that it would be best to consult President Tener on the matter before forfeiting the game. As he left to telephone to the Governor, so he told Quigley, so it is alleged, not to do anything until he came back.

President Tener instructed Eason to forfeit the game in favor of the Boston team if McGraw insisted upon using Kauff in center field, as the latter was an ineligible player and could not take part in any game for the Giants until he is reinstated by the National Commission.

In the meantime, however, Quigley, after waiting the required minutes for Moran to come to the plate, declared the game forfeited to the Giants by the score of 9 to 0. This brought forth a wild protest from the 7000 fans, many of whom ran onto the field and surrounded the Giants' and Braves' benches.

President Hempstead rushed over to McGraw, and, grabbing him by the arm, said: "Play ball anyhow."

"But they won't play," was the manager's reply.

Then McGraw and Hempstead walked over to where President Gaffney was sitting right next to the Braves' bench.

"You are responsible for this," said McGraw, addressing the owner of the Braves.

"I know I am and we won't play against the Giants if Kauff is in the field," was Gaffney's rejoinder.

McGraw "Calls" Gaffney.

Then the "Little Napoleon," who by this time was wilting under the collar, called the owner of the Braves several short and ugly names, while Manager Stallings stood quietly by. McGraw was led away from in front of Gaffney's box by President Hempstead, the New York manager still announcing what he thought of the president of the Boston club. By this time Eason had returned, and Manager McGraw and President Hempstead went over to consult him. Umpire Eason told the pair just what President Tener had said to him, and it was then decided to take Kauff out and play what McGraw called "an exhibition game" with the Braves.

Feds Plan No Reprisals.

CHICAGO, April 30.—No reprisals will follow Bennie Kauff's attempting to jump to the New York Nationals, but the Federal League will ask the courts to protect its interests and those of the Brooklyn club, according to President Gilmore, who left today for New York, where he expects to meet magnates of his organization in a session called to talk over latest developments in the baseball war.

"We have never tampered with a player under valid contract with a club of organized baseball and we don't propose to do so now in spite of the action of the New York club," he said. "At least 10 players with National or American League clubs offered during the winter to jump their contracts and join us, but we declined after finding that they were legally bound, as Kauff was bound to Brooklyn. We turned Marquard back to the Giants, we turned Reed back to the Philadelphia Nationals and we refused to dicker with James, in spite of his willingness to join us, when we learned he was under valid contract with the Boston Braves.

"As for Kauff, he is under contract with the Wards. He signed a new and legal contract with them after being transferred from Indianapolis and even his old contract with Indianapolis might be binding.

"I believe the National League will decline to support the New York club. We will invoke the law to protect us if there is any further attempt to take Kauff away."

It is generally understood here that peace terms between organized baseball and the Federals are to be considered at the gathering of the latter's leaders in New York tomorrow. Originally the meeting was to have been in French Lick, Ind., it is understood, but the Kauff developments changed this, though a session later may be held in the Indiana resort.

Federal League magnates expressed wonder particularly over the Kauff matter in view of the suit pending in Judge Landis' court.

Johnson Offered to Wager $10,000 He'd Beat Willard

But He Failed to Put Up the Money

Lack of Confidence in Himself on Eve of Title Fight, Shown in His Unwillingness to Bet, Was Justified When White Hope Knocked Him Out.

NO. 11—WILLARD'S RISE TO THE CHAMPIONSHIP.
By Robert Edgren.

RIGHT up to April 5 Jess Willard continued to train. He was in great condition from his two months or more of hard work, but he had plenty of strength, weight and stamina. He wasn't in the slightest danger of going stale. He had youth and good spirits. I've often seen men hard trained for big contests grow cranky and short-tempered as their time drew near.

ROBT. EDGREN.

Willard was all smiling good nature on the day before the Johnson fight—just as he was when the fight was months away. When Willard could be induced to talk about the fight (which wasn't often) he'd say that he expected to be hammered for a while, but that he knew Johnson couldn't put him down, and in the end he'd knock Johnson out. He seemed to have that idea fixed in his mind.

"I never made a bet on any of my fights," he told me. "Jones wanted to bet about a thousand dollars we'd taken in at the training bouts. I wouldn't do it. I told him if I beat Johnson winning a bet wouldn't amount to anything and if I didn't beat Johnson that thousand would be big money for us—we might need it to get home on."

Willard's and Johnson's actions were quite different before the fight.

While Willard's trainers and handlers were frankly telling everyone they thought Johnson would never be able to hurt Jess, and that Jess would knock Johnson out, Willard was quietly attending to business and throwing no bluffs.

And Johnson was playing to the crowd. A day or so before the fight he appeared needlessly in the fight headquarters, where many Americans were, and loudly offered to bet $10,000 on himself. "It must be on the level," everybody thought. But Johnson wasn't carrying any $10,000 to bet or any other sum. He left the place before anyone could make him a betting proposition, and, so far as my information goes, he didn't have a nickel on himself on April 5. Also, although he told everybody who visited him in Havana that he expected to win easily, he failed to send that tip to friends of his own race in New York and Chicago—the ones who always bet to the limit on him.

Did Johnson See His Finish.

I'll always suspect that Jack Johnson knew the time had come for him to take that long 10 second count. Perhaps he was trying to bluff even himself.

It was a great day—that April 5. From early forenoon the population of the ancient city of Havana was in the streets. Except for difference in the people it might have been compared to the day of the Yale-Princeton game in New Haven. No flags, of course, but just people of every age and shade and color crowding the streets leading to the arena, waiting patiently on the bare chance of seeing the fighters going to battle, gathering everywhere because of the tense feeling in the air generated by the much talked of clash of white and black. There is a race question in Cuba, where the blacks outnumber the whites. There was a real fear that Johnson victory might start trouble all over the island. At least so the rumors ran.

April 5 was ushered in by several days of cold, rainy weather, really the "rainy season" had begun. But luck was with the fight. Monday morning was fair. Heavy cloud banks obscured the sun now and then, threatening, but bringing no rain. The arena was Curley Brown's racetrack, on the outskirts of Havana about five miles from town.

A great part of the spectators were to be seated in the stands. The ring platform was put up on the track, over the finish line. Very little was spent in building up a regular arena.

There was a small stand on the field side, near the ring, and railings divided off the boxes. Wagon loads of chairs came in almost up to ring time. On the earth terraces in front of the grand stand were rows of plank seats uncertainly supported on sticks driven into the soil. The arena was a joke when compared with the great bowls built for a single championship fight at Carson, Goldfields and Reno. But it served its purpose just as well.

Willard's Actual Weight in Ring at Havana Was 247, Johnson's 227

HOW the crowd poured out from Havana all forenoon, by trolley, by automobile and afoot has all been told. Long before noon the Government showed its hand. Hundreds of soldiers surrounded the ring and boxers—an unbroken line of men. There was to be no rioting whatever happened.

Near the ring the crowd was mostly American and still in the grand stand and stands, it was nearly a solid black mass.

The ring was finished only when the fighters were ready to climb into it. Willard and Johnson both came from their training quarters dressed in fighting costume, all rubbed down and ready. Their automobiles brought them. At last they were in the ring. A pair of scales, for some unknown reason, was put into the ring and Willard and Johnson were weighed, stepping on and off without waiting for a close adjustment of the weights. One set of figures were called to the attention of the press men and a different set announced to the crowd. The private figures were: Willard 247 pounds; Johnson, 227. Bandages and gloves were adjusted. Johnson delayed for 10 minutes or so after Willard was ready. But at last the bell rang, the moving picture machines all clicked and Referee Welsh began slowly circling the ropes, facing the fighters.

Willard Cool and Cautious.

Willard came right out to meet Johnson, and in a moment had shot across his first jab. He showed no fear or awe of the black champion. He was cautious, well-balanced, always in position to defend if he missed a blow—but he carried the fight to his man from the first. And it had not gone long before Johnson showed that the great height and long reach of his challenger troubled him. Willard's jab often flicked over against Johnson's nose or eyes, making him blink in the sunshine. It was hard to get away. Johnson, annoyed by the jab, leaned back and posed, waiting as he has for other fighters. And each time Willard forced Johnson to rush in and fight. In the mixups, where Johnson always has had his own way because of the strength of his thick arm, the black champion for the first time in his life, found himself baffled. Willard matched him in strength. When Johnson tried to pull Willard's arms down and "lie" on him, Willard let his arms go and jumping up a few inches, threw his whole weight on Johnson until the black man managed to wriggle away from beneath that 247 pounds. After that Johnson didn't try to use his weight.

And in the wrestling—his favorite stunt—the black champion had none the best of it. He tried to hold Willard close—too close to use the body punch. Willard punched anyway. Johnson held him and smiled at the crowd. Willard kept on punching. Johnson lost his smile and broke away. Another old stunt of his had gone wrong.

It came around that Johnson had to depend upon fighting and he surely did fight for fifteen rounds or so. A score of times he rushed Willard to the ropes and whaled away furiously, big Jess contenting himself with blocking through the flurries. Johnson smashed many a hard one into his body—many a blow that might have brought down any other man. Only once Willard showed a sign of distress. A fierce punch struck squarely in the pit of his stomach. His face twisted, but in a second he was tearing back at Johnson.

As the fight went on Willard took chances more and more. Johnson had hit him full force, body and jaw and had failed to knock him. And now Willard was letting Johnson rush, blocking until his attack slackened, and rushing furiously in turn when Johnson wanted to rest. Johnson was swept back before this lunging attack. He began to lose his smile. He had been talking all through the fight. Now he didn't have time to talk. Men were jumping up around the ring offering you money on Willard. At the end of the nineteenth round, in which Johnson wrestled a good deal, Willard returned to his corner

Willard Gains Confidence.

"Does he seem tired, Jess?" asked Jones.

"I could throw him over the ropes," said Willard. "I can beat him now any time."

After the twenty-third round Johnson did no more fighting. He blocked and stalled. He looked so far gone that it seemed impossible he could have changed so much in a few rounds. And Willard held back, refused to hurry.

But in the twenty-sixth he went tearing in. Jim Savage says Willard turned to him before leaving his corner and said:

"I don't believe he's stalling—I'm going after him."

Willard sunk a terrible right into Johnson's body. Johnson only partly pulled away with the punch. He nearly sat down. Then came the circling around to Willard's corner, when Johnson, his back to the ropes, dropped his guard as Willard feinted low and fell like a log when Willard's right crashed on his jaw.

Jim Savage had been motioning across the ring to me for three rounds to keep my eye on Willard's right. Afterward he said Jess was saving that one straight right for the knockout blow—only waiting for the time to come when he could surely land it. Throughout the fight he had used his right almost entirely for the body.

That was about the end of the big fight. Johnson lay flat on his back and was counted out. The soldiers rushed Willard from the ring, through the crowd into his auto. Surrounded by a cavalry escort with drawn swords, he rode back in triumph through the waiting city of Havana. And nowhere was there any sign of disorder—only a great curiosity to see him—the man who had knocked out the greatest black champion in all the days of the ring.

Since Willard returned to the states he has been challenged by many disappointed "white hopes." It's funny, their occupation is gone. There's no longer such a thing as a "white hope." Instead, there's a white champion. And until some new wonder comes along the title will rest secure in Willard's hands. There's not another white heavyweight in the world today who'd have even a chance to beat him.

GIANTS ARE DONE; STALLINGS' OUTFIT IS CLASS AA TEAM

—CHOKE-'EM HERZOG.

MAY NOT WIN PENNANT

But the Former "Trust" Is All Shot to Pieces and the League Seems Easy.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Charles Lincoln (Choke-'em) Herzog is this sort of a fellow: If he went as a delegate to The Hague conference and made an impassioned speech for universal peace, all the other delegates would get up and fight; because Herzog is first a fighter and after that a tactician of the Von Hindenberg class.

Herzog is the human magnet, that supplies the spark for the Cincinnati machine. He has that team, made up this season of a collection of unknowns, in second place and while the whole world believes it's a flash, Herzog doesn't.

"I'm going to finish this season in the first division," said Herzog last night. "Please remember that. Remember, that on the evening of April 29 I told you that the Reds would finish in first division, because it's a cinch bet and I want to get credit for knowing something in advance. I'll be back here in September and I'll be any place from first to fourth, but no lower, and I'm going to be the noisiest 'I-told-you-so' you ever met.

"It would be a big laugh-getter if I said I would win the pennant, so I won't say that. However, don't fool yourself that I won't take a few pot shots at the old rag. I have seen three N. L. ball clubs so far besides my own team and I feel serenely confident I can beat those three teams on the season's series.

Braves' Haven't the Class.

"And what else is there in the league? We won't figure Brooklyn at all. The Braves are a good International League club, and I think my team is a little faster than anything in the International League. The Giants are done—cracked like an empty egg.

"However, they'll come on and win a few games, but never a chance will they have for the flag. It's a way that pennant machines have when they crack. They can't come back. McGraw showed how desperate he was when he grabed Kauff. Perritt has failed him and Lobert isn't a championship player any longer. I'm just aching to get to the Polo Grounds. We'll run those misanthropes into the East River as sure as my name is Herzog.

"I have a team 50 per cent better than the one I inherited a year ago. I saw in the Post-Dispatch today where I had wrecked what looked like a good ball club. You said I let several good players get away and turned a pennant contender of June into a neat little tail-ender in October. Pish-tish!

How the "Break-Up" Came.

"Hoblitzell isn't my type of player. If he was he never would have gotten away. Marsans couldn't come back if he wanted to. Davenport was and is a good pitcher, but he was a misguided youth last spring and took a false step. Joe Tinney, Moran, a good player, for reasons best known to myself and I faced the owners of the Cincinnati club last June 26, when my club still was in second pace, and told them that I intended to run the team into last place for experimental reasons.

"I staked my job then and there. I demanded permission to run that team last, with the view of building up this season, or else I would quit. They gave me absolute fling. Well, I ran last, but never again.

"I have today the best third baseman in the league in Groh. He's going to hit and field like a championship player because he is one. I know what I can do at short. Olson is a seasoned reliable man at second while I wouldn't trade Mollwitz for two Hoblitzells this minute. Tommy Leach is running my outfield. Is there anybody better? He'll place those youngsters and he'll make a few hits like he did today. Of course he isn't as fast as Leach of 1909 but Tommy knows enough baseball to play a better defensive game than some youngsters who can give him 10 yards in a 100 and beat him.

Catchers Best in League.

"Show me a catching staff that can compare with Dooin, Wingo and Clarke. I can have a first string catcher in there every day unless all these men get injured. Dooin is a good man to handle the pitchers and I haven't the worst staff in the league although there may be one or two better. Benton, Ames, Schneider, Lear, Douglass, Dale, Brown and Toney, who still is under cover, will surprise a lot of wisenheimers. I'm going to carry eight and use five in each game if necessary.

"Why, this kid Gene Dale, a St. Louis boy by the way, has been in seven of our last nine games. He doesn't know what the word "quit" means, because he loves to win. During yesterday's game I saw five of my men warming up at once in the bull pen. I never suggested that to any of them. When they saw a chance to win they all rushed down there and got ready for action. That's some spirit isn't it?

"However, just remember what I said tonight: I'll be in first division next October. I want to get on record early with this stuff because I'm not afraid of what the future has in store."

SPORT SALAD BY L. C. DAVIS

The Passing Show.

MY FRIENDS, to pen this tale of woe
When, as the fans were filing out,
And to their homes were going,
Zinn Beck went up
And filled our cup

BILL PHELON had a little squirrel
They'd better bar it from the park
It proved a hoodoo to the Cards
And made the going rutty;
If we don't win,
As sure as sin

OUR dear beloved Brownie boys
Received their daily trimming;
While through the wilds of Michigan
To keep our Brownies off the rocks
He hurried to Ann Arbor
And signed a Rube
Named Ernest Koob,
To steer 'em into harbor.

THOSE Rickeyites are up against
A serious proposition;
They sit up nights devising plans
The hoodoo camping on their trail
They put in "Jan,"
The kid what am,
But couldn't land the bacon.

* * *

Charles "Buck" Herzog was spared the painful necessity of throwing down the Cards and choking them to death. The Cards beat him to it and committed suicide.

* * *

* * *

LEFT on bases—Cincinnati 13. Left in the soup—St. Louis, 11. Three base throws—Zinn Beck, 1. Stolen games—Cincinati 1. Fits thrown—St. Louis, 3500.

* * *

* * *

Tough Luck.

Wednesday's game was one inning too short. Yesterday's frolic lasted just one inning too long. You never can tell.

* * *

Just to show that they are human the Phillies lost a game yesterday, said loss being the second of the season.

* * *

Now that McGraw has Benny Kauff what's he gonna do with him? Not to mention "Pol" Perritt.

* * *

According to Benny Kauff there are only two men on the Brooklyn Feds who are on speaking terms with Manager Lee Magee. Wonder who they are.

* * *

McGraw may be slipping, but he hasn't lost any of his gall. All Johnny is claiming is a game he lost twice in one day, once by forfeit and once by playing.

* * *

In light of what happened at the Polo Grounds yesterday we are in doubt as to who is running the National League, John McGraw or John Tener.

* * *

Herzog and Bancroft to Testify in Marsans Case Here on Monday

Manager Herzog of the Reds and Business Manager Bancroft of the same club were served with subpenas yesterday to appear in the law offices of Montague Lyon and Dwight Currie and give depositions which will be used in the Marsans case.

The date for the Marsans trial hasn't yet been set in the United States Court, but an effort will be made to have it docketed soon. Herzog's deposition is sought before he goes East. Monday is an off day for the Reds.

Perdue vs. Schneider Today.

Manager Huggins intends to send Hub Perdue against the Reds in the second game of the series this afternoon. Schneider is Herzog's pitching nominee. The Reds have won five and lost none to the Cards so far this season.

Pitcher Traded for Dog a Life-Saver for Cards

By Swapping Him to Griffith for Outfielder Tommy Long, the Local N. L. Club's Best "Find," Huggins Put His Team in the First Division Running.

NO. 2—WHO'S WHO IN BASEBALL.

POSSIBLY you've heard of Vernon Castle? Yes? Well, suh, the man involved in this story is named Long—Thomas Augustus Long of Belden Springs, Ala., suh, and he's a dancer from the word go.

'Tis said of Tommy that he kicks the meanest foot in baldom. The trickiest tripper in three leagues! Can do a Brazilian maxixe, an Argentine tango or the fox trot better than the good muse Terpsichore herself. Every day he plays ball he's playing hooky from the cabaret. Some dancer, suh, some dancer.

But besides that he's an iconoclast, a wrecker of idols. Take a case near at home, for instance. Last season Cozy Dolan was the Robison Field idol. The two-bit bleacherites, who brave the sun to worship, paid homage to Dolan. But along came Long, and he knocked the pedestal from under Old Cozy's pins. He pushed Dolan from the dizzy heights of his pedestal to the seclusion of the bench in the brief span of one week.

A Life-Saver for Hug.

LONG is here to stay. He's hitting well over .300, possesses a good arm, fleet feet and the praiseworthy inclination to learn. Although serving his novitiate, he already backs up, throws to all sides of second base better than many of the "slaves" who have been getting big league money for years. Long is an apt student and he pays strict attention to his teacher, Attorney Huggins of Cincinnati.

Tommy is 24 years old and burns with ambition to remain in the big leagues. His baseball career has been short, but interesting. In 1911 he popped into print as a member of the Gadsden (Ala.) team, a club that is recognized nowhere but in Gadsden. However, Tommy impressed the ivory hunters from the start and he was bought by Washington in the fall of 1911.

He reported to Griffith in 1912 and remained until June, when he was sent to Mobile. He was recalled by Griffith in 1913, but promptly sent back to Dixieland, reappearing with the Atlanta club, where he stayed

And They Waived on Him!

HE wielded a wicked stick in the Southern League, but Griff, with his characteristic doubting, refused to take Tommy seriously. Griff last winter asked for waivers on Long. Huggins claimed him. Then Griff recalled the waivers, saying he would not lose Long for the waiver price. But Griff needed pitchers. Huggins had a claim on Booth Hopper, who figured in the dog-trade, and Hug handed Hopper to Griff, claiming Long. Lucky guy, this Huggins.

Tommy reported and the wisenheimers said he wouldn't hit. He didn't hit much—only .500 in the spring series and .300 in the N. L. race as far as it has gone. That's all he's doing. Just worrying along at .314.

If Long continues this pace the Cards may be a pennant factor, because Tom hits in the pinch. In his spare moments he trips the light fantastic. And my, oh my, how he can dance!

Herzog and Dooin Talk Doak Out of Victory; 5th Straight to Reds

Charles Lincoln Herzog and his red-headed lieutenant, Charles Dooin, vocalized the fifth straight victory of the year for Cincinnati over the Cardinals yesterday afternoon at Robison Field. The enemy won, 10—9, scoring five runs in the final frame. In the seventh inning opened Dooin went to third and Herzog to first to coach. Then the fans heard this sort of repartee pass between the lines:

Dooin: I don't think he can last much longer, do you Herzie?

Herzog: He's done, Charley. Turning pale now.

Herzog (after the third hit): There goes Griner to the bull pen. Well, he's through. Come on Ivey, bust one!

Herzog: Nervous. He's had the old buck fever all afternoon.

And so it went until Bill Doak, than whom no more courteous pitcher lives, withered under the fire and was withdrawn. And the Reds came on and won a game that cried to heaven for vengeance upon the spoilers, who work for Huggins.

That ninth inning was a mortal sin. Olson started inauspiciously by going out. Doak to Miller. Mollwitz singled. So did Wingo. Von Kolnitz, batted for Dale, and punched a scratch single through Beck, Mollwitz scoring, while Wingo stopped at second. Beck was batted, filling the bases.

Griner relieved Doak. Herzog hit with two balls and no strikes called, and Butler had a cinch double play, but he tossed wide after forcing Leach to Miller, who was unable to touch the bag. Wingo scored, and Von Kolnitz moved to third.

Then Herzog took a chance—a desperate chance. He bolted for second. Snyder had a week to make the throw so he threw it into the dirt. Hug muffed, and Vol Kolnitz scored, while Herzog made third. There were two out, and Herzog on third with the tieing run. Killifer walked. Griffith rolled tamely to Beck. Game.

Griner straightened up and threw the ball into the dirt. Miller muffed it ingloriously. Herzog and Killifer scored, and the Cards were beaten. They couldn't touch Benton in the last half of the ninth.

VETERANS FAVORED OVER YOUNGSTERS IN 26-MILE GRIND

ONE ENTRY IS AGED 44

That marathon running is one of the most strenuous sports in existence is the opinion of most people. They figure that only a young man, one who has a lot of stamina, can stand the strain of a 26-mile 385-yard grind and have enough left in reserve to come through with a sprint in the final 100 yards to flash him across the line a winner.

This may be true, but it is not proven by the lists of favorites in the coming Missouri Athletic Association run tomorrow. The runners who are favored to battle it out for leading honors are anything but young men. In fact if only the favorites are taken into consideration, it looks more like an "old mail's race."

Sidney Hatch, who has led the field home five times and is again the favorite is 33 years old.

W. J. Kennedy, another Chicago star, who won the 1913 event, is over 30. He is picked to fight it out with Hatch for the laurels.

Billy Matthews, the "hope of St. Louis" is 28.

Then there is a Monteverdo, the New York runner, who is the real "old man." He is reported to be 44.

Marathon Running Is Easy.

So it looks very much as though marathon running is not as tough on a man as many imagine. Joe Forshaw, the St. Louis boy, who for many years was one of the real shining lights in the long distance game was nearing the 30 mark, if not over that age, when he retired. And Forshaw, even in his later years, was able to give all of them a hard run for the money.

A more striking proof that "old men" are able to run a marathon in good style was shown clearly last year, when Sidney Hatch, at the age of 32, set the record for the M. A. A. run. He completed the 26 miles and 385 yards in 2h. 59m. 43s., cutting something like two minutes off the former mark.

Youngsters Who May Figure.

One of the youngsters, who is doing great work in practice and may prove a "dark horse" in tomorrow's grind, is Jake Kaysing of the Columbian A. C. Kaysing is 22 years old, and if he does anything in the real race as he is in the workouts he may surprise all of them and romp home the winner. Kaysing has been working out with Matthews and the other C. A. C. stars.

If it had not been for sore feet a comparative youngster might have had the leading honors in last year's run. Johnny Probst, who has been doing 11 and 15 miles a road while, led the field when he reached Channing avenue, when he was forced to quit on account of trouble with his feet. Probst is still a young man, being no more than 25.

From the present outlook, age will tackle youth in tomorrow's grind, and at present is a heavy favorite. If it were a boxing match instead of a marathon run, youth would have the call.

When the entry list closes tonight, the officials of the Missouri Athletic Association expects to have at least 20 entries. At least 20 of these are expected to face the starter's gun tomorrow. The race is booked to start at Gumbo, Mo., at 2 o'clock, with the finish coming at the site of the new Cherry Diamond clubhouse about 2 o'clock.

HAMILTON IS NOT YET FIT TO WORK IN REGULAR TURN

TODAY'S GAME OFF.

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Owing to cold weather today's game between the Indians and the St. Louis Browns was postponed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., April 30. — The Browns left Detroit by boat for Cleveland Thursday night, a rather disappointed group of athletes. Manager Rickey and his charges firmly expected to make it at least an even break with the Tigers.

Thursday's game was characterized by the attempted come-back staged by Earl Hamilton. It was Hamilton's first essay in the box since he fractured his ribs in a motor car accident during the St. Louis city series last October. He was inserted into the lineup earlier than Manager Rickey expected to pitch him, for the reason that he was the best available Thursday. To all appearances Hamilton did fairly well for his first effort after his bad injury. For a few innings he performed in his old, accustomed style, but appeared to tire in the fifth, showing that he was not fixed for the full route. He will have to build up his arm and shoulders to again resume his position in the box with his former wizardry.

Rickey went to Ann Arbor Wednesday noon and was a spectator at the Kalamazoo Normal-Michigan game. He signed Ernest Koof, a pitcher who held Michigan to two hits.

Rickey is after pitchers, little else. He figures his team is a pretty strong one in about every spot excepting the pitching staff. Wellman is about the only hurler in shape, and even this left-hander has been complaining about the weakness of his arm.

Yesterday's Fight Results.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

Jim Thorpe, the Indian, who for the past two years, has had the easiest job in the major leagues, has been sent to the Jersey City team of the International League under an optional agreement by the Giants. Fred Merkle, the Giants' first sacker, dislocated his arm going after a wild throw in yesterday's clash, and will be out of the lineup for a few days.

Of the 13 pinch hitters used by the managers in the National and American yesterday, six came through with hits. Charley Herzog had the most success with his pinch batters, both Wagner and Von Kolnitz coming through with bingles. Rickey's extra hitter, Ernie Walker, came through with a double. The others who hit safely were Ruth and Rehg of the Red Sox and Paskert of the Phillies.

Roy Hartzell won for the Yankees from the Red Sox yesterday, 6—4, when he poled a triple in the fourth round with the bases packed. Tris Speaker pulled a peculiar play in the second. McHale hit a fly to Tris with Nunamaker on first. Speaker purposely dropped the ball, tossed to Wagner, forcing Nunamaker, while the latter threw to first, doubling the pitcher.

After winning seven straight the White Sox were stopped. The Indians put on a three-run rally in the ninth frame, and grabbed the game, 5—4.

Herb Pennock held the Nationals to four blows, and the Mackmen trimmed the Nationals, with Ayers up, 3—1.

Eddie Ainsmith, the Nationals' catcher, will not have to serve his 30 days in the workhouse. Judge Pugh of the Police Court yesterday reconsidered the original sentence and placed him on probation and fined him $50.

While Tom Seaton was holding the Baltimore club to six hits, his mates were grabbing 16, and he was an easy winner, 11—1.

YEATMAN PLAYS PRINCIPIA

The Yeatman High School nine is scheduled to meet Principia at Fairground Park this afternoon. Shanley and Bearman will form the battery for the North Siders, while Schaberg and Hargis will labor for Principia.

TERRIERS START EASTERN SERIES AT NEWARK TODAY

NEWARK, N. J., April 30.—The St. Louis Federals, 20 strong, arrived here this morning, to open their Eastern campaign against Bill Phillips' leaders here this afternoon. Manager Fielder Jones of the Terriers probably will send the veteran Eddie Plank against the locals. He most likely will be opposed by Cy Falkenberg.

In Pittsburg yesterday, the Terriers regained their hitting stride and broke even in a double bill losing the first contest, 8—2, and winning the second, 9—7. The even break gave the Terriers the series, the first they had won from any club this year.

Jones' aggregation came through with a great hitting streak in the second clash. They mauled the offerings of four Pittsfed hurlers for 15 safeties, the greatest number they have made in a single clash this year. Del Drake, the center fielder, was the chief swatter, getting four out of five. In the opening contest they made seven blows off Dickson.

Charley Deal, the Terrier's third sacker, will be out of the game for a few days with a split finger. Vaughn will cover the position with the 1914 world's series hero on the shelf.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO USE NEW CAMPUS, SATURDAY

The new high-school campus, formerly St. Louis U. Park, will be opened tomorrow afternoon with a game between Central and McKinley. This clash was originally scheduled for tomorrow morning, but owing to the opening ceremonies was transferred to the afternoon. The diamond is in first-class shape and Central now claims the best high-school campus in the city.

ELLIS WINS CUE TITLE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—Charles Ellis, the Cleveland player, last night defeated August Kleckhefer of this city, 50—35 and captured the title and the $600 for first prize in the Interstate Billiard League. Ellis had a high run of nine, while Kleckhefer's best was seven.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Free Baseball: Is It on Its Way?

EXPANDING the idea put into practice this year in Decatur, Ill., according to which fans of that city have baseball supplied them free, may it not some day come to pass that our big league baseball teams will be municipally owned and admission to pennant games be dispensed free, or for a nominal percentage of the cost of maintenance?

According to Old Man Dope it may NOT; and furthermore he recommends a trip to a well-known city ward—not one of our political 28—for the person who even suggests the same. It is possible, he explains, that the poor thing's intellect may even yet be saved.

"Can't you conceive of a league all the teams of which are maintained by municipal ownership in the cities represented?" Dope was asked, as he opened a crack in the bomb-proof to give the interviewer the once-over.

"I could," replied the veteran slowly, "if they hadn't taken my needle away, March 1. But being in my right mind now, I don't see the same queer things I used to.

"Say, Old Top, a 'dream' ain't all. It would be a nightmare—to the manager of a city-owned club. Think of handling a team in which a population of 800,000 had a taxpaying interest!

"Policeman! Remove that squirrel before he wounds the gentleman fatally!"

So saying, he stepped on the toe with which the interviewer had propped open the door and cut off the enemy's line of communication for the evening.

And it was some "line," eh, Dope!

It Might Happen.

A. RUMOR.—Autos seem to help ball players. I understand since Koney got his new machine he finds no trouole in hitting.

HALL ROOMER.—What, pedestrians?"

• • •

Watch Your Step, Ban.

BAN JOHNSON'S statement that six American League clubs have a chance to win the pennant leaves some room for speculation as to the two teams outside the charmed circle.

In fact, we'd like to have Ban B. look at the standing of the clubs today and dope out the pair that will have leases on the first two floors of Pennant Flats. Old Man Dope sent a man to the observation ward for asking him to do it.

• • •

An Unfeeling World.

NOBODY has thought since the publication of the mishap in which Jim Lavender injured himself by falling against a bathtub to inquire how the tub was getting along. Presumably it is doing nicely; but it's a pretty lucky tub at that. Supposing Heinie Zim had fallen against it with his head!

• • •

A Dark-Looking Finish.

JUST after noting the announcement made a few days ago by Jess Willard that he would draw the color line in his fights, it sounds somewhat strange to read, in the report of the Penn relay games, that the final of the hundred yards dash, was decided between two negroes and two white men, with a dark person, Howard Drew, winning. Hoe of Colby University as the other negro.

Only in the South is there still any serious feeling against the meeting of the races in athletic competition.

WILLIE HOPPE plays 60,000 points of billiards annually and walks 300 miles in doing it. In the 10 years that he has been playing big league billiards he has walked 3000 miles. This is equivalent to a trip across the United States, and dates from June 15, 1906, the day he won the title.

Cutting Down the Luxuries.

WHEN Tommy Sullivan cut down the price of his Future City Athletic Club boxing show tickets, it was in recognition of a fact that sporting promoters this year seem slow to appreciate. It is: That the Dear Old Public either has less cash than formerly or has grown too wise to be Jimmy Valentined out of his coin by deft hands and tongues.

Nor can you blame the old guy. Grand opera at $10 the chirp, was easy compared to contributing to some of the smelly sport spectacled. Fancy paying big money to see:

The public is gradually becoming educated. It is time. For higher education in sport the D. O. P. has paid out enough to finance the European war for another year.

LAYOLA WINS TWO GAMES

Layola Academy won two baseball games in the past week, defeating the St. Louis U. undergrads, 12—2, at Triple A yesterday. Hogan and Doyle were in the points for the winners. The undergrads got only three hits off Hogan. Sullivan pitched for the undergrads. On Tuesday the Layola team defeated Kirkwood High School, 4—3.

Kaad Is a Professional.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Harry Kaad of Chicago, ice-skating champion of Illinois, who has competed in championships throughout the country, was declared a professional by the Board of Control of the Western Skating Association, it was announced today. He was ordered to return to the association all cups and prizes won in amateur races in the last few years.

Sylvester Meets Harding.

"One-Round" Sylvester is scheduled to meet "Buzz" Harding of East St. Louis in the feature bout of the negro show at the Future City tonight, in the semi-windup Kid Frenchy battles Kid Hamilton. The usual preliminaries also will be staged.

Kern Beats Harrington.

ALLEN TRIMS LAYTON.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 30.—Benny Allen of this city yesterday defeated Johnny Layton of St. Louis, 125-105, in the Western pocket billiard tournament.

PENN COXSWAIN STRICKEN

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—A. D. Wyer, coxswain of the University of Pennsylvania varsity eight-oared shell crew, was stricken with appendicitis here yesterday.

Four Golf Clubs to Hold Opening Events, Saturday

Fine Weather and Early Dates for Championships Have Advanced the Season.

Saturday afternoon has been officially set by the majority of local country clubs as the curtain raiser to the 1915 golfing season.

Local authorities look forward to this year as being productive of the earliest golfing season in years. This is due to the fact that the state tournaments, for both men and women, are but a month distant. Consequently a great deal of early practice will be needed.

The Midland Valley Country Club will tomorrow hold its spring club championship tournament, an annual handicap affair, that is considered one of the big Midland events of the season. Quite a large entry is expected in these matches. The lady golfers of the club will also stage a tournament. Midland Valley Club is acknowledged to be the most popular ladies' club in the city.

The Golf Committee of the Normandy Club announces an opening day tournament for the men and a putting contest for the ladies as the inaugural program.

The Country Club "Golf Trust," which received quite a sudden shock, at the hands of several of the newer local phenoms, last year, has scheduled an opening day tourney. This season will determine if the Stickneys, Potter, and Edmunds are to monopolize local honors again, or if they have really gone back.

The Triple A and Glen Echo clubs have not arranged any tournament matches for tomorrow, but have decided to stay their formal opening in a week or two. However, the links will probably be busy with ambitious clubbers. The Glen Echo links are now in the stage of a complete renovation in preparation for the State tournament, starting May 30.

The Triple A links has also gone through a bit of manicuring and rebunkering. All bunkers have been removed from the straight away courses and a number put on the sides. This has been done in order to relieve the congestion.

Non-club members who patronize the Municipal links will also probably take down the shelved "sticks" tomorrow and hike out to Forest Park, where they will once again make brave attempts to keep the "gutta percha" out of that peaky River des Peres. All in all, it should be some opening.

Open Saturday Till 9

MURAD

THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

Will you put aside your PRICE PREJUDICE?

Will you forget you've always thought a good cigarette must cost 25 cents?

Then we promise it will be a case of "love at first sight" when you light your first Murad—and when the box is finished you will buy Murads an engagement ring.

We promise you a much better cigarette than many of the 25 cent brands you have been smoking.

THAT LOST ARTICLE MAY NOT BE FOUND TODAY

Or tomorrow or next week. In fact, a month or more may elapse before it turns up. A little persistency may be necessary. Often the article may be unfound; often fear of prosecution or hope of more satisfactory reward may delay the restoration. Then the belated awakening of the finder's conscience explains many delays. But persistency and Post-Dispatch wants will usually recover a lost article if an honest person finds it. The services of the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau is also enlisted in behalf of advertisers. (93)

Burian and Von Hoetzendorf Meet Falker and Von Bethmann-Hollweg—Banker Get Disquieting News.

Although much delayed in transmission, having been sent by courier from Berlin to Copenhagen, the following dispatch which the Post-Dispatch has received from Karl H. von Wiegand, its staff correspondent in Berlin, throws an interesting light upon the German and Austrian side of the Austro-Italian crisis.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND,
(Copyright, 1915, by Press Publishing Co.)

BERLIN, April 24.—All indications tonight point to the fact that the decisive hour in the Austro-Italian situation is nearing rapidly, if it is not already reached.

The arrival today of Baron Stephan Burian, Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, accompanied by Herr Hoyes, his right-hand man in the Austrian Foreign Office, together with Gen. Conrad von Hoetzendorf, chief of the Austrian general staff, marks what is probably the most acute crisis yet reached in the negotiations and may be an important stage in the development of the world war.

I learned from Vienna yesterday that Baron Burian and Gen. Hoetzendorf were coming to Berlin for a conference, but I was told here that it was absolutely untrue.

German Chiefs See Them.

Even today, after their arrival, I was told there was another false rumor that they were in town, and I might have been misled had I not run into the two themselves, in Hotel Adlon, neither of them making any secret of their presence here.

The Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Holweg, who was to have departed last night to be present with Admiral von Tirpitz in headquarters today, has postponed his departure until tonight in order to confer with Baron Burian. After the conference this afternoon the Austrian Foreign Minister leaves again for Vienna tonight on the same train I expect to take.

Gen. von Falkenhayn, chief of the general staff, arrived from the Kaiser's headquarters this morning, presumably to meet Gen. von Hoetzendorf here, and returns again to headquarters on tonight's train.

Despite any denials, there is reason to believe that this conference was both hurried and important, and that it has to do with the most critical moment of the Austro-Italian situation. Even the quarters which have hitherto been most optimistically inclined are somewhat pessimistic tonight, and no longer quite so positive that the question will be amicably settled.

It is emphatically denied that negotiations have been broken off. "We are still in friendly negotiations," I was told in unofficial quarters in touch with the situation but even in banking circles, with which I could get in touch at late hours, there was less confidence that Italy would be kept out of the war.

Disquieting Information Comes.

There is disquieting information, apparently, in private dispatches, of the movements of troops and ships.

In other quarters an attempt is made to account for the presence of Bar... Burian and Gen. von Hoetzendorf by talk of peace with Russia. While there is considerable news coming out of Rome daily, Germany and Austria are following the same policy as in the Morocco crisis of 1911 as to the Austrian side of the question, so far as giving out any information is concerned. Neither the German nor the Austrian papers are printing a word, which only gives rise to a crop of exaggerated rumors.

Italy Must Be Helpful Influence to Balka Writes Poet d'Ann

BORDEAUX, France, Apr... "ITALY, by her geogr... situation, is called u... exercise towards the ... states an historic function ... to that exercised by Franc... England towards the developn... of modern Italy," writes Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet in Petite Gironde. "By unchanging laws of history Italy must become again as in the past a source of helpful influence for the Balkan states across the Adriatic.

"Those disturbed and anxious countries will be born again only in the great light of civilization, through Italy revealing and stimulating a people powerful and intellectual. The child of Rome, the Rumanian, is living evidence that this destiny is about to be accomplished. The Roman way is the best way; Roman cement is as ever the strongest."

BOY ON WAY HOME FROM SCHOOL KILLED BY AN AUTO

Several Pupils Witness Accident at Bethalto—Alton Man Was Driving Car.

Just after the public school at Bethalto, eight miles east of Alton, had been dismissed yesterday, Earl Albers, 9-year-old son of George Albers, was run down and fatally injured by an automobile driven by W. H. Bauer of Alton. The accident was witnessed by many of the boy's schoolmates.

The boy lived only a few minutes after being taken to the office of a physician at Moro.

Bauer said he was running his machine at moderate speed and that a number of the school children ran out into the road and attempted to cross in front of the automobile. The Albers boy was the only one in the group who was struck by the machine.

SUIT AGAINST 70 SALOONS FOR $40,000 IS DIRECTED

Attorney-General Holds That Joplin Saloon Men Must Pay License Fees to State.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 30.—Attorney-General Barker today gave an opinion in which he directed the Prosecuting Attorney of Jasper County to bring suit against about 70 saloons in Joplin for approximately $40,000 license fees due the State. The Forty-Seventh General Assembly passed a law giving the City of Joplin power, under a special charter, to tax, regulate and suppress the liquor traffic. The saloon men of Joplin declared the law exempted them from payment of the $300 a year tax to the State and have refused to pay the tax for the past two years.

Attorney-General Barker holds that the act of the General Assembly exempted them from paying a license fee to the county court but did not release them from payment of the State license.

STORM SWEEPS PACIFIC COAST

Wind Reaches Velocity of Nearly 100 Miles an Hour: 2 Known Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Two persons were known to be dead and it is feared other lives were lost in a windstorm which, at is height last night, reached a velocity of nearly 100 miles an hour. Operators of the wireless station on the Farallone Islands, 25 miles west of here, reported seeing a launch with five men to the leeward of the group. The boat disappeared, and a few hours later wreckage was washed ashore. The property damage in this vicinity is estimated at $200,000 and the damage at other points along the coast is heavy.

On Monterey Bay south of here 54 small boats were piled up on the beach. In San Francisco much wire trouble was caused by the storm and telephone and telegraph wires were reported down in many directions outside of the city. The two persons who were dead in this city were killed by fallen electric light wires.

"BOBBY" CARROLL SURPRISE WITNESS IN DORRANCE CASE

"Bobby" Carroll, politician and former Justice of the Peace, appeared this morning as a surprise witness in the trial of the $200,000 Dorrance estate contest, involving the title to coal land in Pennsylvania and farm land near Keytesville, Mo. His testimony was regarded as favorable to Charles F. Dorrance of Kansas City, whose right to the estate has been attacked by collateral claimants, on the allegation that Charles was not the son of the late John Dorrance, but was a foundling taken from St. Ann's Asylum here.

Carroll, who is now in the automobile tire business, said he was formerly considered "a pretty good attorney, though not a licensed lawyer." He said his father, James Carroll, had been a Justice of the Peace before him and that he used to attend to legal business which came up in connection with his father's court.

Infant in St. Ann's Asylum.

Early in 1891, he testified, his father turned over to him the case of a woman who called at the court, saying she had placed her infant in St. Ann's, declaring that John Dorrance of Keytesville was the child's father. "Bobby" Carroll wrote to Dorrance, he said, and Dorrance came to St. Louis and though not directly admitting the woman's charge, he agreed to provide for the infant.

Carroll said Dorrance and the woman went to St. Ann's and got the child, and that Dorrance arranged for a negro couple, living in Keytesville, to come here and take the child, which they did. Carroll said he told Dorrance he ought to marry the mother and give the child a home, and that Dorrance replied:

Object of the Testimony.

Mrs. Emma Dorrance, widow of John Dorrance, has testified that Charles F. Dorrance was born to her in a St. Louis hotel in February, 1891. Carroll's testimony was intended as corroborating this statement, and as showing, also, that Dorrance was familiar with the method of maintaining infants in St. Ann's, and that this familiarity may have suggested to him his later alleged action, in altering the records of the institution so as to indicate that Charles was taken from there.

Carroll said he could not remember the name of the woman who figured in his story. He said that, in 1897, she called on him and said she wanted the child and that he communicated with Dorrance. The latter caused the negroes with whom the child had been living to bring it to St. Louis, and the mother recovered possession of it.

Checks Signed by John Dorrance.

The lawyers for Charles F. Dorrance are said to have obtained checks signed by John Dorrance in 1897 and the two years following, which were given to the negroes for the care of this child.

Carroll's appearance as a witness came about, it was learned, through a remark which he made to one of the lawyers in the case. Carroll had read accounts of the Dorrance case in the Post-Dispatch and, meeting one of the lawyers, he told him of his dealings with John Dorrance. A subpena for his appearance followed.

PRICE RANGE IS UNCERTAIN ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review, today says:

"The violent and conflicting movements on the Stock Exchange today resulted again from the exploiting of stocks affected by the "war orders" conjectures, offset by heavy realizing sales in the standard shares. The outcome was a market of the greatest irregularity, driven backward and forward by the alternate rush of speculative buying and selling, and with entirely opposite movements prevailing at the same moment in different groups of stocks.

"Industrial shares to which a 'war order' rumor could be plausibly attached made such advances as 9 to 15 points; professional Wall Street ...ising excitedly on another Bethlehem. Whether the heavy selling, which occurred simultaneously in the other stocks, was attributable to dislike of these hysterical performances, or merely to judgment that profits might be taken advantageously while speculative sentiment was thus excited, remained for individual conjecture to determine.

Speculation Is Dangerous.

"Whatever may be said regarding the general situation, the movement of economic forces in favor of this country, and the encouraging prospects for industrial revival, there is not the slightest doubt that this fury of speculation, on the basis of so exotic a trade as that in war munitions, is mischievous in the extreme. The public mind, excited by what it has seen in the news and in the market, has clearly lost all sense of proportion. It has been speculating, in the stocks concerned (or imagined to be concerned) as if it were guaranteed that this war will last 10 years, and that orders for shells and bullets will in the meantime be crowded on our manufacturers at a continually increasing rate.

"People who let their imagination run away with them in such a way would have been capable of doing the same with tulips in the historic speculative craze in Holland. Some of them will in due course repeat the eventual experience of that outside public. As to the influence of this episode on the financial situation generally, that depends on many things—on the question of how far the present infatuation can be carried, for example. We still have a very remarkable home economic situation back of us, and there remains the course of events in the European war.

Exchange Market Active.

"In the day's foreign exchange market, the movement of paramount interest was the very sharp movement of the rate on Rome in favor of the Italian market. From yesterday's quotation of 5.88 Italian lire to the American dollar, the rate went today to 5.80½, a figure which has not been touched since Thursday of last week. The rapid movement of exchange against Italy, during the interval, was clearly due to expectation of the immediate participation of that country in the war, and today's reverse movement as a plainly attributal to the cables intimating that the Italian Government will not join the fighting until the last moment. Thus the market for exchange, which has been highly speculative, has been attempting to reflect, as the stock market did not trouble itself to do, the probable outcome of the peculiar negotiations of the authorities at Rome.

"Exchange is still so abnormally adverse to Italy—the par or exchange is around 5.18, and the usual point at which gold would be sent to New York is something like 5.21—that it may be said, even with today's turn of the rate in favor of Rome, to reflect the market's absolute conviction that Italy will go to war.

"At one time, a month or more ago, the rate touched 5.95; it has fluctuated since that time as erratically as the political predictions regarding Italy's course have varied. It cannot be said that Wall street, any more than the rest of the critically observant world, has found much to admire in the Sonnino Cabinet's actions. If the cabled reports are true, as to the nature of the alternate negotiations with the German plenipotentiary and with the allies, then the attitude of Rumania during the Balkan war appears disinterested in comparison."

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 30.

Speculation in the so-called war shares was resumed at higher prices, Westinghouse crossing par with a gain of over two points, while General Electric, Pressed Steel Car and New York Airbrake rose as much or more. American Can, whose earnings are being benefited by the foreign conflict, was again active. New York Central was the only standard railway issue to record material improvement, gaining 1⅝, but Missouri Pacific and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas shares reflected probable adjustment of impending obligations. Rock Island, local tractions and the Copper group manifested a tendency to yield.

Standard stocks fell sharply soon after 11 o'clock; foreign advices, particularly the bombardment of Dunkirk by the German naval forces being viewed with concern. At any rate, it furnished the short interest with an excuse for making fresh commitments. Declines from maximum figures of the first hour ran from 1 to 2 points, the reversal embracing the war specialties except Westinghouse, which steadily increased its lead on enormous trading, and by noon showed a gain of over 5 points. Industrials, as a whole, were weaker than railway shares, except Canadian Pacific, which fell 3 points, presumably on London selling. Bonds were irregular.

Westinghouse continued the dominant feature, advancing to 108, an overnight gain of 10 points, on dealings that exceeded the combined operations in the usual leaders. The movement otherwise was irregular.

WET WEATHER CAUSES BUYING IN COTTON

NEW YORK, April 30.—Reports of renewed rain in the Southwest imparted a firmer tone to the cotton market this afternoon and, after opening at an advance of 1 to 3 points, active months sold about 7 to 10 points net higher on Liverpool buying, a moderate demand from Wall street sources and local covering. New Orleans also bought some cotton here, but private predictions that the dry spell in the Eastern belt would be broken within the next few days led to some realizing at the advance, and later fluctuations were somewhat irregular.

Liverpool Cotton.

LIVERPOOL, April 30.—Closing cotton: Spot in moderate demand; prices easier; good middling, 6.02d; middling, 5.66d; low middling, 5.22d. Sales, 10,000 bales.

LIVESTOCK.

| | Today | Week ago | Yr. ago |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cattle | 350 | 600 | 250 |
| Hogs | 6,500 | 6,800 | 4,500 |
| Sheep | 650 | 900 | 2,500 |
| Horses and mules | 500 | 500 | 300 |

CATTLE—Receipts today were light at about 350 head, most of which came to the native division. Market was steady, with medium fed steers bringing $8 and feeders reaching the same figure. The feeder market has advanced $1 per cwt. during the past two weeks, so much for the advent of grass. Southern division receipts consisted mainly of Texas bulls that sold at $6.20, the season's high notch for that class of cattle.

Perfect weather for the growing crop made wheat bulls cautious on the Merchants' Exchange today, and prices averaged sharply lower. Trading was entirely professional, however. In the late market quotations dropped 1c to 1¾c under yesterday's final figures. Last prices were at the low level of the day.

Crop Expert B. W. Snow's report, wired to A. C. Petri, said: "I have reports from my agents in fully two-thirds of the important wheat-growing counties, and the data justifies the statement that the wheat condition of 88.5 which I reported on April 1 has at least been fully maintained and probably has improved a little during the past month. Almost perfect weather conditions west of the Mississippi have resulted in marked improvement in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, and these states, with Nebraska, now show a condition little, if any, below the promise of a year ago at this date.

"In the Ohio Valley and lake region, where the spring shortage of moisture is marked, the condition shows improvement in spite of lack of April rain in Tennessee, Kentucky and Michigan, while Ohio, Indiana and Illinois about held their own. The lack of moisture has done no serious damage up to date, but the position of the crop is becoming critical over a widening area and without generous and general rainfall in the near future the crop prospect will begin to decline.

"The amount of winter killing is very small, probably the smallest in recent years, and the acrage standing for harvest will exceed 40,000,000 acres.

Liverpool spot wheat was unchanged to 2d lower; spot corn ¼d to 1½d down. Wheat on passage 1½d lower per quarter; corn, 3d down; flour, 6d lower.

Minneapolis wheat receipts totaled 210 cars, against 100 last week and 139 last year. Duluth 58, against 56 and 12. Winnipeg 166, against 174 and 205. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 840,000 bu for the week.

Local wheat receipts were 47,000 bu, against 60,000 bu last year. Shipments 102,000 bu, against 55,000 bu.

Total primary wheat receipts were 847,000 bu, against 347,000 bu last year. Shipments 960,000 bu, against 520,000 bu.

Corn futures were quiet and barely steady. Primary receipts were 706,000 bu, against 338,000 bu, last year. Shipments, 627,000 bu, against 430,000 bu. Argentine shipments totaled 655,000 bu, against 519,000 bu last week and 2,049,000 bu last year.

The weather forecast said: "A slight disturbance has been causing some precipitation in portions of the Great Lake region and Northeastern states, but the principal disturbance is centered this morning over the Rockies and adjoining sections, precipitation falling in connection with this from the eastern slope westward to the Pacific coast."

Broomhall cabled: "Argentina had rains in parts. Weather is warmer and generally unsettled. Buenos Aires wheat opened firm and corn strong. Rosa Rio corn was strong and 2c higher."

The Modern Miller said: "Excessive rains in Texas have given rise to rust apprehension. Rust is reported in the vicinity of Waco. The wheat prospect in the Panhandle is good. In Oklahoma there has been abundant rainfall and the crop is in fine condition on a large acreage. Some reports indicate rank growth. The rainfall in Oklahoma and Texas is the heaviest in many years. Southern Illinois has had only 20 per cent of a normal rainfall since Jan. 1. Late-sown wheat shows the effect of drouth and a light crop will result on 40 per cent of the acreage. Early sown wheat will make a fair crop with rains. Central Illinois has a good prospect. In Indiana and Ohio the stand is good, but rain is needed. Late-sown wheat in Southern Indiana shows the effects of drouth. Chinch bugs are reported from many points, but experimental station experts say they menace corn more than wheat."

Russell's News, New York, said: "Export business in old wheat yesterday was very heavy, amounting to 1,500,000 bu, of which about two-thirds was done after the close. There is a demand for wheat today and some of the bids from English points are reported 2c a bushel higher than yesterday. In regard to the export possibilities of wheat for the remainder of the crop year from North America, a prominent exporter estimates the May shipments at about 30,000,000 bu and the June shipments at possibly 20,000,000 bu."

Bradstreet's weekly clearances of wheat were 7,898,000 bu; corn, 824,000 bu.

Chicago reported over 50,000 bu more wheat and 50,000 bu corn sold to go to store today. Since April 19 to date, inclusive, sales to store aggregate 1,000,000 bu wheat, 250,000 bu corn and 1,500,000 bu oats.

A cable from Athens said Gallipoli has been captured.

Local wheat receipts were 47,367 bu, against 60,000 bu last year. Corn 102,000 bu, against 62,400 bu. Oats, 47,600 bu, against 69,700 bu.

Clearances: Wheat 439,000 bu., flour 6000 bu, wheat and flour 466,000 bu. Corn 175,000 bu, oats 433,000 bu.

BEARS HAVE A SLIGHT ADVANTAGE IN WHEAT

CHICAGO, April 30.—Prospective beneficial showers for a large part of the domestic crop region had a bearish effect today on the price of wheat. Besides, Liverpool quotations were easier, influenced by the outlook for more liberal supplies from India. Offerings here, however, were quickly absorbed. The opening, which varied from ⅛c to 1⅛c lower, was followed by a reaction to a range that averaged slightly under last night's level.

Corn, although at first weak, with wheat, made a sharp rally. The reason for the upturn was free buying on the part of one of the largest houses in the trade. After opening ⅜@½c to ⅝@¾c down, the market sagged a little further, and then more than overcame all the loss.

Predictions of rain eased oats. Later, though, prices recovered, owing to the bulge in corn.

Comprehensive reports indicating that the wheat crop condition percentage of a month ago had been fully maintained, and that acreage losses in the United States were the smallest for many years, led subsequently to a new dip in prices. A number of holders were liquidating to be prepared for deliveries on May contracts. The market closed heavy, 1c to 1¾c under last night.

Afterward the corn market again relaxed with wheat. The close was unsettled, ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c under last night.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch

Mrs. Jarr Feels the Power of Spring; It Makes Her Yearn for Moving Vans.

THE moist spring feel was in the air. The windows in the front flat of the Jarrs were wide open. From the street below came the shouts of playing children. The town, or at least this part of it, was quickened with the cries that herald the new birth of nature.

"Gee, it's like a day in June," said Mr. Jarr, as he lolled by the window, smoking.

"That's just the worst of it," said Mrs. Jarr peevishly, "and I'm so nervous can't keep still. This house is in a fitful state and we can't get that awful landlord to do a thing. I do declare, we shouldn't stay here if he doesn't paper the flat throughout and paint all the woodwork."

"He wouldn't do it for us," said Mr. Jarr.

"But if we move he'll do it for new tenants, because he knows he'll have to," said Mrs. Jarr. "Mrs. Knittingly is going to move for the very same reason. There were people in yesterday looking at her flat, and the agent showed them a book of pasterns for new wall paper. And yet he wouldn't do a thing for Mrs. Knittingly any more than he'll do for me," said Mrs. Jarr.

"To Gus' saloon," interrupted Mrs. Jarr, in a grim aside.

"I like it because it's convenient," repeated Mr. Jarr, as if he had not heard. "Now, what's to prevent us from moving into Mrs. Knittingly's flat and her from moving into ours?"—

"Do you could help her carry bric-a-brac?" suggested Mrs. Jarr. "I notice you never want to give me a hand when we move. You pretend you have extra work at the office and have to hurry down early and stay late, and I have to hang pictures and have no one to give me a hand putting down carpets. Oh, I saw you carrying a valise upstairs for that blonde person!"

"Didn't we meet her coming in together and didn't you say, 'Why don't you take Mrs. Kittingly's suit case? she's been traveling and is tired out?'"

"Suppose I did," snapped Mrs. Jarr, "I didn't mean for you to do it as if it were a pleasure to you. You're not so quick helping me."

"Oh, cuss Mrs. Kittingly!" said Mr. Jarr. "I just suggested we trade flats; as she's going to move, you say, and you have the migratory bug yourself. Women always do get it in the spring. I suppose it's a feeling that survives from the old pastoral days when women did the moving and the pitching of the tents and the men drove the flocks."

"And do you think in the pastoral age the patriarchs could never speak of anyone but a grass widow?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"They are pastoral. Grass may have appealed to them," suggested Mr. Jarr. "Grass widows or sod widows in their weeds."

"Well, we'll keep away from Mrs. Kittingly's flat, either before or after she moves from it," said Mrs. Jarr.

"The Rangles, then?" said Mr. Jarr. "I'll bet Mrs. Rangle is feeling the stir of spring and wants to be in an atmosphere of furniture vans, broken china and the smell of yellow soap and hot water."

"A splendid plan, I don't think!" said Mrs. Jarr. "The landlord is the same and he wouldn't do a thing for an old tenant in a new flat half as quickly as he'd do it for a new tenant in an old flat."

"Well," said Mr. Jarr, "couldn't the Rangles and we both move at the same time in airships and keep up at an altitude of, say, 500 feet in the air, waiting for the landlord to fix our flat for them and their flat for us?"

"Oh, I guess you think you're funny!" snapped Mrs. Jarr. "If I move I am going to move to better apartments. I wish I could do that. We can't afford it, though. And besides, they do not allow children in many of the fine new apartments."

"We could take them in, hid in the piano," suggested Mr. Jarr.

"Willie hid in it the other day. That reminds me," said Mrs. Jarr, "and I think he's ruined it."

"Good!" said Mr. Jarr. "And yet to think I always frowned upon his playing on the piano."

"He not only played on it; he played in it," said Mrs. Jarr. "Oh, well, the people we got it from have to keep it in repair while we are paying the instalments."

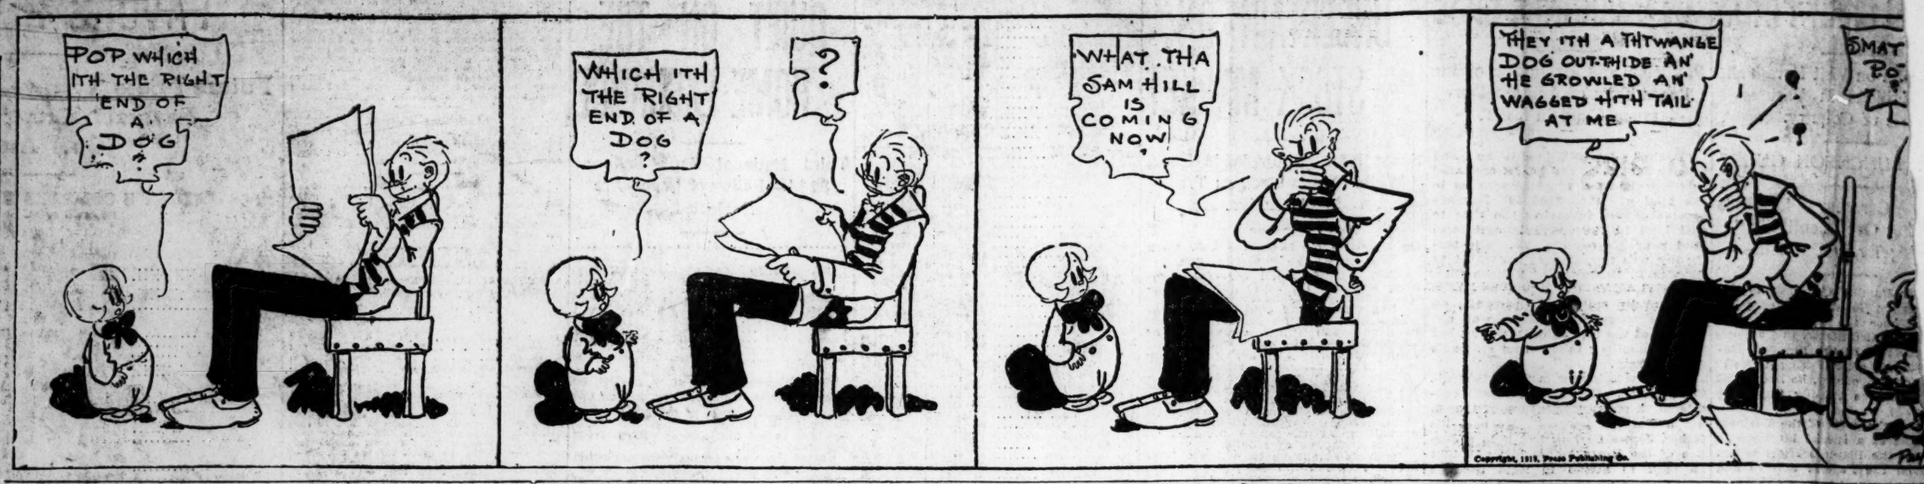

"Isn't it paid for yet?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Are we bound to turn over $2 a week on that piano for the rest of our natural lives?"

But Mrs. Jarr didn't answer. She was glancing out of the window after a moving van creaking down the street.

It Always Happens Thus.

Hopper, with several other Lambs, took part in the gambling scene of the club play the other night—just for the fun of the thing.

At one point Hopper placed a stack of blue chips on No. 17 on the roulette wheel. He was supposed to lose, but the number won. Nevertheless the croupier sang out, "You lose," and raked in the chips. Hopper shook his head dejectedly and left the stage.

"And it had to be in a play," he growled.

If he who hesitates is lost, so are they who rush ahead too rapidly.

Which One Was It?

TWO men were about to step into an elevator. One passenger only was in the car—a young woman.

The other man entered the car, noticed the young woman, did not remove his hat, turned somewhat away from the young woman and faced the exit.

Now, the young woman was of a somewhat analytical turn of mind, and found herself asking herself the question: "Which of these two men would I prefer to have near me in a storm?"

Just then something gave way and the car fell to the basement.

The other man, though injured, picked up the girl, who was unconscious, carried her to the main floor, where her friends were awaiting her, placed her in their care and disappeared.

Which?—Life.

Cross Purposes.

A WELL-DRESSED, portly man stood for several moments watching a brawny porter, who was laboriously tugging at a large, heavy box, which seemed almost as wide as the doorway through which he was trying to move it. Presently the kindly disposed onlooker approached the perspiring porter and said, with a patronizing air:

"Like to have a lift?"

"Bet yer life," the other replied, and for the next two minutes the two men on opposite sides of the box lifted, puffed and wheezed, but it did not move an inch. Finally the well-dressed one straightened up and said between puffs:

"I don't believe we can get it in there."

Not Intimate.

AT one of the New England universities there was a rather conceited undergraduate who was silly enough on one occasion to attempt to chaff a member of the faculty who, in the youth's opinion, evinced too marked a devotion to the words of Herbert Spencer.

"Do you know, sir," the youth said to his preceptor, "I hold rather a contempt for Spencer."

"I greatly fear, young man," was the response, "that your contempt has not been bred by familiarity."
